MILLION FOR STATE

Schedule Proposed to Oil Men Calls for Payment of Seven to 20 Percent

BULLETIN

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The state of California has a right to enter into contracts with oil companies involving oil wells which "begin on private lands and end under state-owned tidelands," Superior Judge Malcolm C. Glenn ruled here today.

The ruling was made in connection with a friendly suit brought by Assemblyman Jas. B. Utt, Tustin, against the state department of finance, to determine whether the state could contract for oil royalties under terms of an assembly bill passed by the 1933 legislature.

BULLETIN

Huntington Beach oil men at a meeting in Los Angeles this morning voted to accept the state's schedule of royalty on oil produced from tidelands at Huntington Beach, according to a statement this afternoon by Thomas W. Simmons, chairman of the Oil Protective association.

A special meeting of operators was called for the Huntington Beach city hall this afternoon, with H. R. Hamilton, a leading operator scheduled to give a report on the conferences held with state officials in Sacramento.

WITH THE STATE demanding from seven to 20 per cent of the production from "whip-stocked" oil wells producing from the tidelands at Huntington Beach, based on present prices and allotments, members of the executive board of the Oil Property Protective association held a conference in Los Angeles this morning to decide on acceptance or rejection of the proposition.

The state's offer was made by Rolland Vandegrift, state finance director, following a two-day conference in Sacramento attended by U. S. Webb, attorney general; Assemblymen James Utt and Ted Craig of Orange county, H. R. Hamilton and Cecil Rood, representing the oil operators, and others.

In the event the offer is accepted, more than $1,000,000 will flow

ESTIMATED COTTON CROP SHOWS SLUMP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The agricultural department today estimated 1933 cotton production at 13,177,000 bales, compared with 13,002,000 bales last year. At the same time the census bureau reported that 12,108,292 running bales of cotton had been ginned from the 1933 crop prior to December 1, compared with 11,635,089 for 1932, and 15,018,403 for 1931.

REMEDIES FOR BANISHMENT OF POVERTY IN CALIFORNIA ARE DIVULGED BY SINCLAIR

THERE IS NO security at present for either rich or poor, according to Upton Sinclair, announced candidate for governor, in an address here last night. Speaking under auspices of the People's Forum at the Temple Theater he addressed the largest crowd that has ever been in the theater. All seats were filled and people packed the stage. Chairs were placed in the orchestra pit and more than a hundred people were standing in the lobby of the theater and on the sidewalk around the side exit. Many left who were unable to get within hearing distance.

Sinclair said that the poor are being turned from their homes and the wealthy people are constantly in fear that through a turn of the market they will lose their all. It is to give everyone a sense of security in California that he is running for governor on an "End Poverty" platform. He explained this platform during his talk.

The speaker said that he has spent 30 years urging the people to realize the condition that was being created. This realization came during the experiences of the past four years.

To those people who have claimed that prosperity is just around the corner and that all depressions end within a few years Sinclair replied by citing the case of England and declared that country has been in a state of depression for the past 14 years and finally adopted the dole system.

"California now has the dole system with thousands of people on the charity rolls obtaining relief. At present there are 500,000 people in Los Angeles county on this dole system and it cannot last for much longer. The county today is on the verge of bankruptcy as many people cannot pay their taxes," he declared.

Forecasts Revolt

Sinclair told of a recent interview he had with a Los Angeles politician who, according to the speaker, declared that there would be a revolution in Los Angeles in February. The date for the revolution was set for February by the politician, who gave this date, he said, because so many of the people could not pay their taxes and by February this fact will be known along with the fact that Los Angeles is bankrupt. Sinclair did not indicate he believed the prophecy.

The speaker explained his departure from the Socialist party and enrollment under the banner of the Democrats by saying "I believe in Democracy. I was born of a family of Democrats then I

BODY OF NEGRO IS BURNED BY IRATE TEXANS

Heart of Man Who Attacked White Woman is Torn Out; Body Mutilated

KOUNTZE, Texas., Dec. 8.—(UP) — The body of David Gregory, Negro ex-convict accused of attacking and murdering a white woman, was burned in the Negro section here today after a blood-thirsty mob tore out the heart and wrangled for hours before tossing the mutilated form on a huge pyre.

Gregory, hunted for the slaying of Mrs. Mellie Williams Brockman near Kountze last Saturday, was shot from a church steeple at Voth by officers late yesterday. He died en route to Kountze and a mob blocking the highway demanded the body.

For hours the mob of 400 toyed with the body, slashing and kicking it through the streets.

The form was rolled before the door of Gregory's mother and she was forced to view it.

"You done right, white folks," she said calmly.

Hours of argument ensued over disposition of the body. Some wanted to hang it in the Negro section and leave it as grim warning. Another group shouted for a burning.

Finally boxes and debris were piled high in the center of the Negro district and the body tossed on top

After Gregory's body had been disposed of the mob turned toward the jail and threatened to take two other Negroes who were accused of aiding the hunted man in evading officers for five days. The idea was dropped, however, and the mob gradually disbanded.

Sheriff Miles D. Jordan first refused to surrender the body when stopped by the mob between Silsbee and Kountze. However, believing escape with the body was impossible and that serious trouble was impending, he acquiesed.

SEVEN BURNED TO DEATH IN BLAZE

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Two mothers and their five children were burned to death when a fire destroyed the home of Ernest Hiblen today.

The dead: Mrs. Erline Orr, 19; her daughter, Constantine, 18 months; Mrs. Genevieve Hiblin, 31; Genevieve Hiblin, 8; Katherine Hiblin, 6; Jerome Hiblin, 5; Ernest jr., 2.

Overheated stovepipes were believed to have caused the fire.

The body of Kathrine Hiblin was found in her bed on the second floor. Her brother's body was found on the floor next to the bed. Other bodies were found on the first floor.

L. A. ATTORNEYS VOTE ON ROLPH IMPEACHMENT

Governors and Directors in Favor But Rank, File to Express Wish

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(UP) —The storm stirred up by Governor Rolph when he condoned the recent San Jose lynchings swept the ranks of the Los Angeles Lawyers club today in a genera' vote on a resolution, calling for the governor's impeachment.

The vote of the general membership was ordered after a turbulent meeting at which the resolution finally was passed, 19 to 12, only to be reconsidered for a general vote. Previously it had been adopted by the club's board of governors.

The resolution, condemning Rolph for "approving, aiding and abetting lynchings" by his genial attitude toward the lynchers, asks that the legislature institute proceedings to oust him from office at a special session.

Two hundred club members were mailed copies of the resolution.

Resignation of the governor was demanded in a resolution passed by 125 Negro members of the Inter-Denominational Alliance of Los Angeles city and county. The resolution notified Rolph "you can no longer be trusted nor respected and should resign and head the lawless element of our land."

At the same time, plans went forward for a mass meeting tomorrow night at which speakers will denounce the governor. Speakers will include a number of ministers and Upton Sinclair, Democratic candidate who hopes to succeed Rolph.

Rolph himself stuck by his guns, refusing to budge in the face of open hostilities. In defense of his stand, he said triumphantly he has

CREW OF RUM BOAT IS SENT TO JAIL

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Dec. 8.—(UP)—The captain and crew of the alleged rum runner Kromhout, were jailed today by officials of St. Pierre et Miquelon, after they landed four coast guard officers whom they "kidnaped" yesterday.

The four coast guardsmen returned to the Kromhout after tehir former captors had been arrested, and took command of the vessel, holding possession of it until the arrival of a Canadian cutter.

The captain of the Kromhout said he was 35 miles off the Cape Breton coast when his vessel was boarded and seized by the revenue men. He will claim he was up in his rights in overpowering the guardsmen and fleeing to sea with them.

SANTA ANA MERCHANTS OPEN CHRISTMAS SEASON TONIGHT

Program Of Music Will Be Feature

Streets Decorated and All Store Windows Will Be Lighted for Event

AS FINE a musical program as could be arranged in Santa Ana for a concert will be presented to those on the streets of Santa Ana when merchants of the city combine to start the holiday season here with a "bang" tonight.

Seldom heard except on special occasions, the famous Santa Ana Elks Double quartet will be featured on the program, which will be broadcast through sound amplifying apparatus installed on top of the First National bank building from 7:30 until 9 o'clock tonight.

Business streets of Santa Ana will be converted into a fairyland of sparkling lights twinkling in the boughs of fresh green Christmas trees on lamp posts when the lights are turned on tonight for the first time.

In addition to the musical program, several one and two-minute talks will be given by prominent merchants. Jerry Hall, Santa Ana's "singing merchant," will be master of ceremonies and also will sing several selections.

The well known Musical Arts Octette comprised of Sally Lee Scales, Holly Lash Visel, Irma Huffman May, Marie Bishop, Edith Cornell, Cecile Fross Willits, June Burns and Bess Nalle, accompanied by Ruth Armstrong, who also will accompany the Elks quartet, will sing a special group of Christmas selections. These include "O, Come All Ye Faithful," "Lo, Low a Rose," "The Star", "Cradle Song", "Noel", "Here a Torch" and "Silent Night."

Another attractive addition to the program includes the Mustol Trio, composed of violin, cello and piano, which will play special numbers and also accompany Jerry Hall in his vocal numbers.

CHAUFFEUR HANGED AT STATE PRISON

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Claude Forbes, 25-year-old chauffeur, convicted of slaying Harry Nelson, deputy Alameda county assessor, in a plot with Mrs. Bess Nelson, the assessor's wife, was hanged on the prison gallows here today.

The trap was sprung at 10:02 a. m. and Forbes was pronounced dead at 10:15 a. m.

Mrs. Nelson is serving a life sentence in Tehachapi women's prison for her share in the death plot.

GOLD PRICE UNCHANGED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The government today set its price for newly mined American gold at $34.01 an ounce, continuing the price in effect since last week.

The London price today was 126 shillings 9 pence, up 9 pence from yesterday. On the basis of the opening exchange rate for the pound sterling (4 11-2) this was equivalent to $32.42 an ounce.

The dollar remained at 60.78 cents.

1934 AUTOS TO SHOW RADICAL BODY CHANGES

American Motorists Will Have to Learn Entirely New Vocabulary

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(UP)—An entirely new automobile vocabulary will confront American tourists when they see the radically changed motor car models at the annual automobile show the first week in January.

The new phrases and catchwords, like the lines of the new models, grow out of a decision by designers to say a definite goodbye to the old horse-in-front-of-the-carriage idea in automotive transportation.

"Tear drop" and "air flow" are examples of the terminology which surrounds the latest designs. But in addition, the experts contend that the changes will make the family automobile about 15 to 20 per cent cheaper to operate because of less wind resistance and more miles per gallon.

Probably the most radical change will be the external appearance of the new models. Developments in streamlining have been spectacular since the last show. Engineers have dropped the idea of the "gasoline buggy" and built a new automobile engineering job from the bottom up.

Auto engineers taking a leaf out of the book of aviation have done everything possible to offer a smooth rounded surface to the onrushing air. Even the mudguards

TAX ON LIQUOR IS URGED ON CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's interdepartmental committee on alcohol control today recommended that congress lexy the tax of $2.60 a gallon on distilled spirits.

The recommendation was made in a report to the house ways and means committee in which the administration group estimated that liquor revenue under their proposed tax plan would bring in more than $500,000,000 annually.

CLOSED BANK WILL PAY BIG DIVIDEND

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Nearly 20,000 checks, totaling approximately $3,600,000, were to be distributed to Sacramento people today as the first 25 per cent dividend on the California Trust and Savings bank, which closed last January 21.

Of the total amount, $3,339,463 will go to savings depositors; $197,970 to commercial depositors; $1321 to five valley post offices which had deposited postal savings money in the bank, and $275 to 11 laborers who were unpaid for work done on bank properties.

The dividend payment was made possible by a $3,000,000 RFC loan.

TONIGHT --HOW TO VOTE

Do you want to know about the bonds on which you will be voting on the 19th?

How should you vote on the San Joaquin water proposition?

How should you vote on the Newport Harbor bonds?

How should you vote on the Santa Ana City Hall project?

Hear the issues discussed "pro" and "con" tonight!

Ask the questions that are on your mind!

Make the statements of opposition if you are against them!

Tonight at the Temple Theater, Third and Bush streets, whether you are for them, or against them, or desire light.

The place to get the information first-hand is from the speakers tonight at 7:30 at the Temple Theater.

This is a service that is being rendered the community.

Breakfast For Huey Long Calls for Food

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The breakfast menu of a United States senator went into the record of the senate stock market investigation today.

Charles S. McCain, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank, told of breakfasting with Senator Long, Dem., La., in a New York hotel.

"We called a waiter and I said 'What'll you have?'" McCain told the committee.

"The senator said: 'Well, I'll have a dozen and a half oysters, a sirloin steak, French fried potatoes and a plate of vanilla ice cream.'"

C. OF C. BACKS MOVE FOR PARK IN SANTA ANA

Twenty Acre Project to Be Supported Under CWA Park Program

A DEFINITE movement to obtain for Santa Ana a 20-acre public park was launched today when the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce board of directors voted to sponsor the project and start immediate action to underwrite it, which would be done under the Civil Works administration program.

The matter of acquisition of land for park purposes was brought before the board by Mayor Paul Witmer, J. S. Smart and John Estes, who explained the plans for procedure.

The plan is to purchase about 20 acres of land, which would be developed into a park, using materials and about 600 men furnished by the government in the project. It is necessary for a group of about 100 men in the city to underwrite the purchase of the land, it was pointed out, as the city has no money for such purposes at the present time. The city would repay the money advanced by the men later.

Speedy Action

Following approval of the plan by the directors, it was voted to sponsor the project by the chamber of commerce. Speedy action was asked, as the project must be submitted by December 15.

An organization committee and committees representing other groups were appointed at the meeting this morning, and were scheduled to meet again this afternoon to start the movement. Following is a list of the committees appointed after J. S. Smart had been elected chairman of the entire committees, and George A. Raymer secretary:

TARIFFS REPLACED BY DEBTS AT MEET

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Tariffs replaced debts today as the chief worry of the United States delegation to the Pan-American conference. The problem of the policy of armed intervention loomed in the background.

Before a subcommittee was a proposal by Uruguay for a customs truce until next June, to be followed within five years by arbitrary lowering of tariff rates to the level of January 1, 1928.

Mateo Marquez, of the Uruguayan delegation, denounced economic nationalism as the basic modern evil and urged Pan-American coordination of production, consumption and savings.

BUSINESS OVER NATION SHOWS KEEN ACTIVITY

Railroad Lines and Hotels Report Conditions Better Than Year Ago

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(UP)—There has been a distinct increase of general business activity, a checkup of large cities of the nation indicated today.

Hotels and railroad lines in various parts of the country, agencies that are quick to reflect an upturn, reported more business. In the hotels the increase was more spectacular, but it was not due to repeal alone. The railroad lines reported a definite improvement over last year in the passenger traffic.

In New York the Waldorf Astoria was filled to capacity for the first time since it was built. Previously it was filled during conventions, but now commercial travelers and others are the guests. The hotel's four dining rooms reported a 20 per cent increase in patronage.

In addition the amount of the meal checks was far above those of prohibition meals.

The Ritz Carlton was another to report a "full house." The Savoy Plaza said it had rented one-third more rooms than it did at the same time last year. The Sherry-Netherland said business was better than at any time since 1931. The Biltmore and Commodore dining rooms trebled their business.

Increased Travel

Manhattan's two great railroad terminals, the Grand Central and the Pennsylvania, saw definite encouragement in the amount of passenger travel. The Grand Central reported traffic "holding up very well" and the Pennsylvania said business has been better ever since spring, and had not dropped after the Century of Progress closed in Chicago.

Three of the largest and most representative hotels in Philadelphia said last month's business was up ten per cent. A definite upturn was noticed two months ago, they said, and there were indications of "solid bookings" in the near future.

DISORDERS FEARED IN HAVANA TODAY

HAVANA, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Extraordinary military and police precautions were taken to guard against disorders today as the government put into effect a new law forbidding employers to have more than 50 per cent of foreign born workers on their payrolls.

Spanish employers, particularly, who play an important role in the island's commercial life, have threatened to close their establishments. Authorities feared riots.

Secretary of Interior Guiteras held all soldiers in barracks except those who, heavily armed, were detailed to patrol streets.

JAPAN STATESMAN REIGNS AS SOLON

TOKIO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Resignation of Yosuke Matsuoka, American-educated statesman, from parliament and the Seiyukai party was reported today by the Nippon Dempo News Agency.

Matsuoka reportedly issued a statement opposing "party bickering" and announcing plans for reviving the national spirit of Japan along progressive lines.

The statesman headed the Japanese delegation which left a League of Nations council meeting in a protest over its attitude toward Japan's Manchuokuan and Shanghai activities.

HOPKINS IS ADVOCATE OF SUCH ACTION

Sees Effort as Possible Substitute for Unemployment Insurance

CONGRESS WILL ACT

Experiment Scheduled to End February 15; Solons However Will Extend It

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Launched as a stop-gap emergency effort to put 4,000,000 men to work, the Civil Works administration is regarded by some in the administration as a possible permanent substitute for unemployment insurance and old age pensions.

Among those holding this view is Harry M. Hopkins, director of CWA.

Officially the experiment runs until February 15. Actually the administration refuses to think of turning 4,000,000 men back on charity in mid-winter. It expects to ask congress for money to carry on for an extended time.

More than this, Hopkins told the United Press today he believed that CWA had possibilities of becoming a permanent institution.

"It might easily lead to a scheme of using civil works as a device for permanently providing work on important public projects for the unemployed," he said. "The country is not going to be kindly disposed to unemployment insurance in terms of men going up to a window to get a dole."

Leading Agency

"Men could be put to work on things not naturally in the competitive scheme," Hopkins said. "For instance work like the CCC is doing. I am convinced that agency is here to stay. It is doing work in the forests that never would be done by private enterprise. There are many other things of similar nature that I can't conceive of being done within the profits system—such as drainage of swamps, public health projects, development of public recreation centers.

"Even in the best times we have 2,000,000 or more men out of work and a portion of these could be thus absorbed and saved from charity. Then there is a percentage of old people, unable to work. They have no purchasing power for they are dependent upon charity. Unemployed who are able to work could be utilized to produce goods for those who cannot work. Such goods would to people who cannot buy anyway and private industry would lose nothing."

Christmas Customs from FOREIGN LANDS

In Greece, the "Blessing of the Waters" climaxes the Christmas season on Jan. 6, the Orthodox Christmas Day. In maritime towns, the priest from the church nearest the waterfront, carries a wooden cross to the water's edge, followed by the clergy, troops and whole populace. As he hurls the sacred emblem into the water, youths plunge in from boats to recover it and receive the priest's blessing.

Streets Decorated and All Store Windows Will Be Lighted for Event

AS FINE a musical program as could be arranged in Santa Ana for a concert will be presented to those on the streets of Santa Ana when merchants of the city combine to start the holiday season here with a "bang" tonight.

Seldom heard except on special occasions, the famous Santa Ana Elks Double quartet will be featured on the program, which will be broadcast through sound amplifying apparatus installed on top of the First National bank building from 7:30 until 9 o'clock tonight.

Business streets of Santa Ana will be converted into a fairyland of sparkling lights twinkling in the boughs of fresh green Christmas trees on lamp posts when the lights are turned on tonight for the first time.

In addition to the musical program, several one and two-minute talks will be given by prominent merchants. Jerry Hall, Santa Ana's "singing merchant," will be master of ceremonies and also will sing several selections.

The well known Musical Arts Octette comprised of Sally Lee Scales, Holly Lash Visel, Irma Huffman May, Marie Bishop, Edith Cornell, Cecile Fross Willits, June Burns and Bess Nalle, accompanied by Ruth Armstrong, who also will accompany the Elks quartet, will sing a special group of Christmas selections. These include "O, Come All Ye Faithful," "Lo, Low a Rose," "The Star", "Cradle Song", "Noel", "Here a Torch" and "Silent Night."

Another attractive addition to the program includes the Mustol Trio, composed of violin, cello and piano, which will play special numbers and also accompany Jerry Hall in his vocal numbers.

CHAUFFEUR HANGED AT STATE PRISON

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP) — Claude Forbes, 25-year-old chauffeur, convicted of slaying Harry Nelson, deputy Alameda county assessor, in a plot with Mrs. Bess Nelson, the assessor's wife, was hanged on the prison gallows here today.

The trap was sprung at 10:02 a. m. and Forbes was pronounced dead at 10:15 a. m.

Mrs. Nelson is serving a life sentence in Tehachapi women's prison for her share in the death plot.

GOLD PRICE UNCHANGED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The government today set its price for newly mined American gold at $34.01 an ounce, continuing the price in effect since last week.

The London price today was 126 shillings 9 pence, up 9 pence from yesterday. On the basis of the opening exchange rate for the pound sterling (at 3 11-2) this was equivalent to $32.42 an ounce.

The dollar remained at 60.78 cents.

1934 AUTOS TO SHOW RADICAL BODY CHANGES

American Motorists Will Have to Learn Entirely New Vocabulary

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(UP)—An entirely new automobile vocabulary will confront American tourists when they see the radically changed motor car models at the annual automobile show the first week in January.

The new phrases and catchwords, like the lines of the new models, grow out of a decision by designers to say a definite goodbye to the old horse-in-front-of-the-carriage idea in automotive transportation.

"Tear drop" and "air flow" are examples of the terminology which surrounds the latest designs. But in addition, the experts contend that the changes will make the family automobile about 15 to 20 per cent cheaper to operate because of less wind resistance and more miles per gallon.

Probably the most radical change will be the external appearance of the new models. Developments in streamlining have been spectacular since the last show. Engineers have dropped the idea of the "gasoline buggy" and built a new automobile engineering job from the bottom up.

Auto engineers taking a leaf out of the book of aviation have done everything possible to offer a smooth rounded surface to the onrushing air. Even the mudguards

TAX ON LIQUOR IS URGED ON CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP) —President Roosevelt's interdepartmental committee on alcohol control today recommended that congress lexy the tax of $2.60 a gallon on distilled spirits.

The recommendation was made in a report to the house ways and means committee in which the administration group estimated that liquor revenue under their proposed tax plan would bring in more than $500,000,000 annually.

CLOSED BANK WILL PAY BIG DIVIDEND

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Nearly 20,000 checks, totaling approximately $3,600,000, were to be distributed to Sacramento people today as the first 25 per cent dividend on the California Trust and Savings bank, which closed last January 21.

Of the total amount, $3,339,463 will go to savings depositors; $197,970 to commercial depositors; $1321 to five valley post offices which had deposited postal savings money in the bank, and $275 to 11 laborers who were unpaid for work done on bank properties.

The dividend payment was made possible by a $3,000,000 RFC loan.

Breakfast For Huey Long Calls for Food

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The breakfast menu of a United States senator went into the record of the senate stock market investigation today.

Charles S. McCain, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank, told of breakfasting with Senator Long, Dem., La., in a New York hotel.

"We called a waiter and I said 'What'll you have?'" McCain told the committee.

"The senator said: 'Well, I'll have a dozen and a half oysters, a sirloin steak, French fried potatoes and a plate of vanilla ice cream.'"

C. OF C. BACKS MOVE FOR PARK IN SANTA ANA

Twenty Acre Project to Be Supported Under CWA Park Program

A DEFINITE movement to obtain for Santa Ana a 20-acre public park was launched today when the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce board of directors voted to sponsor the project and start immediate action to underwrite it, which would be done under the Civil Works administration program.

The matter of acquisition of land for park purposes was brought before the board by Mayor Paul Witmer, J. S. Smart and John Estes, who explained the plans for procedure.

The plan is to purchase about 20 acres of land, which would be developed into a park, using materials and about 600 men furnished by the government in the project. It is necessary for a group of about 100 men in the city to underwrite the purchase of the land, it was pointed out, as the city has no money for such purposes at the present time. The city would repay the money advanced by the men later.

Speedy Action

Following approval of the plan by the directors, it was voted to sponsor the project by the chamber of commerce. Speedy action was asked, as the project must be submitted by December 15.

An organization committee and committees representing other groups were appointed at the meeting this morning, and were scheduled to meet again this afternoon to start the movement. Following is a list of the committees appointed after J. S. Smart had been elected chairman of the entire committees, and George A. Raymer secretary:

TARIFFS REPLACED BY DEBTS AT MEET

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Tariffs replaced debts today as the chief worry of the United States delegation to the Pan-American conference. The problem of the policy of armed intervention loomed in the background.

Before a subcommittee was a proposal by Uruguay for a customs truce until next June, to be followed within five years by arbitrary lowering of tariff rates to the level of January 1, 1928.

Mateo Marquez, of the Uruguayan delegation, denounced economic nationalism as the basic modern evil and urged Pan-American coordination of production, consumption and savings.

BUSINESS OVER NATION SHOWS KEEN ACTIVITY

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(UP)—There has been a distinct increase of general business activity, a checkup of large cities of the nation indicated today.

Hotels and railroad lines in various parts of the country, agencies that are quick to reflect an upturn, reported more business. In the hotels the increase was more spectacular, but it was not due to repeal alone. The railroad lines reported a definite improvement over last year in the passenger traffic.

In New York the Waldorf Astoria was filled to capacity for the first time since it was built. Previously it was filled during conventions, but now commercial travelers and others are the guests. The hotel's four dining rooms reported a 20 per cent increase in patronage.

In addition the amount of the meal checks was far above those of prohibition meals.

The Ritz Carlton was another to report a "full house." The Savoy Plaza said it had rented one-third more rooms than it did at the same time last year. The Sherry-Netherland said business was better than at any time since 1931. The Biltmore and Commodore dining rooms trebled their business.

Increased Travel

Manhattan's two great railroad terminals, the Grand Central and the Pennsylvania, saw definite encouragement in the amount of passenger travel. The Grand Central reported traffic "holding up very well" and the Pennsylvania said business has been better ever since spring, and had not dropped after the Century of Progress closed in Chicago.

Three of the largest and most representative hotels in Philadelphia said last month's business was up ten per cent. A definite upturn was noticed two months ago, they said, and there were indications of "solid bookings" in the near future.

DISORDERS FEARED IN HAVANA TODAY

HAVANA, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Extraordinary military and police precautions were taken to guard against disorders today as the government put into effect a new law forbidding employers to have more than 50 per cent of foreign born workers on their payrolls.

Spanish employers, particularly, who play an important role in the island's commercial life, have threatened to close their establishments. Authorities feared riots.

Secretary of Interior Guiteras held all soldiers in barracks except those who, heavily armed, were detailed to patrol streets.

JAPAN STATESMAN REIGNS AS SOLON

TOKIO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Resignation of Yosuke Matsuoka, American-educated statesman, from parliament and the Seiyukai party was reported today by the Nippon Dempo News Agency.

Matsuoka reportedly issued a statement opposing "party bickering" and announcing plans for reviving the national spirit of Japan along progressive lines.

The statesman headed the Japanese delegation which left a League of Nations council meeting in a protest over its attitude toward Japan's Manchuokuan and Shanghai activities.

HOPKINS IS ADVOCATE OF SUCH ACTION

Experiment Scheduled to End February 15; Solons However Will Extend It

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP) —Launched as a stop-gap emergency effort to put 4,000,000 men to work, the Civil Works administration is regarded by some in the administration as a possible permanent substitute for unemployment insurance and old age pensions.

Officially the experiment runs until February 15. Actually the administration refuses to think of turning 4,000,000 men back on charity in mid-winter. It expects to ask congress for money to carry on for an extended time.

More than this, Hopkins told the United Press today he believed that CWA had possibilities of becoming a permanent institution.

"It might easily lead to a scheme of using civil works as a device for permanently providing work on important public projects for the unemployed," he said. "The country is not going to be kindly disposed to unemployment insurance in terms of men going up to a window to get a dole."

Leading Agency

"Men could be put to work on things not naturally in the competitive scheme," Hopkins said. "For instance work like the CCC is doing. I am convinced that agency is here to stay. It is doing work in the forests that never would be done by private enterprise. There are many other things of similar nature that I can't conceive of being done within the profits system—such as drainage of swamps, public health projects, development of public recreation centers.

"Even in the best times we have 2,000,000 or more men out of work and a portion of these could be thus absorbed and saved from charity. Then there is a percentage of old people, unable to work. They have no purchasing power for they are dependent upon charity. Unemployed who are able to work could be utilized to produce goods for those who cannot work. Such goods would to people who cannot buy anyway and private industry would lose nothing."

Christmas Customs from FOREIGN LANDS

In Greece, the "Blessing of the Waters" climaxes the Christmas season on Jan. 6, the Orthodox Christmas Day. In maritime towns, the priest from the church nearest the waterfront, carries a wooden cross to the water's edge, followed by the clergy, troops and whole populace. As he hurls the sacred emblem into the water, youths plunge in from boats to recover it and receive the priest's blessing.

MAY PROSECUTE

SAN JOSE, Cal., Dec. 8.—Mob leaders who lynched two kidnap-slayers will be prosecuted if they are properly identified, Santa Clara county officials said today.

District Attorney Fred Thomas said representatives of the American Civil Liberties union had promised to present witnessess to make identifications next Tuesday.

His announcement followed a conference with A. L. Wirin and Ellis O. Jones, Los Angeles, officials of the organization which had demanded prosecution of the leaders who directed the hanging of Thomas Thurmond and John Holmes in St. James park here several weeks ago.

Previously Thomas and other county officials, while expressing willingness to prosecute, had maintained that no one had come forward to identify ringleaders or to swear out complaints.

Sheriff William Emig, injured in therioting, at one time intimated that he knew who led the mob but later he insisted he was not certain enough to obtain warrants.

Wirin and Jones reportedly said that they had witnesses who were ready to testify that they and that they also had newspaper statements which alleged leaders admitted their participation.

Thomas said that if they fulfilled their promise he would issue formal complaints.

The American Civil Liberties union, meantime, announced plans for a campaign to obtain a national anti-lynching law. Representatives said the campaign would be started in California with mass meetings at Santa Barbara tonight; Los Angeles Saturday; and San Jose, San Francisco and other cities later.

Then the President can come to the microphone with that convincing manner of his and the rest of 'em just as well wash up their little speeches and go home.

Say I guess there must be another conference on somewhere. I see where the U. S. is accused of connivery, by noon, and the conference only opened at 11 a. m. What would a conference be without the "goat."

Predicting better conditions for the orange industry next year and urging effective sign-up of the marketing agreement, C. C. Hillis, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange, today released a report showing shipments of the exchange the past season.

In adition to 310 cars of loose fruit, most of which moved through the citrus distributing plant in Los Angeles, the exchange shipped a total of 6219 cars of fruit, consisting of 85 cars of navels, 769 cars of lemons, 10 cars of grapefruit and 5355 cars of valencias. The report stated that while the season ends with the month of October, 700 cars of valencias had rolled since that time.

A statement by Hillis follows:

'Production surpluses of tree crops cannot quickly be effected by acreage reductions and become a particularly difficult problem in times when demand cannot be increased on account of general uncertainty, unemployment and low buying power. Without some concerted movement by the citrus industry toward a generally acceptable program of eliminating the least desirable and low value portion of their output and thus effectively reducing market supplies, it is not at all unlikely that commodities such as this which are generally admitted to be relatively expensive in per acre production costs, will suffer considerably when returns are measured against cultural outgoes.

"Better business conditions throughout the country, of which the present trends are indicative, will undoubtedly offer some relief of the conditions which have prevailed during the season just closed but active interests should be manifest by the citrus grower, supplemental to these hoped for improved conditions, toward securing effective sign-ups of the Industry Marketing agreement, which is being afforded through the United States department of Agriculture under the terms of the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

"No better demonstration could be made on the possibilities of favorable price reactions to a regulation of supplies, than that afforded by the operations of the stabilization group this summer, with only a part of the industry participating. If all had joined in this effort and in addition an elimination program had been agreed to, there is little doubt but that the returns for the season would have been a different story. Much too much fruit was offered to the buying public that would not met with consumer approval and brought back very little money, but which took the place of that much good fruit and eventually reduced further desires to buy.

"The outward appearance of our valencias this year was certainly not in their favor, so that finally, when the new crop of Floridas and navels from Central California were available, our price structures collapsed completely and the returns for many cars of low grades were disastrous.

"Average prices for the season were disappointing and are somewhat lower than obtained last year for a crop that was somewhat heavier in per acre production, but the present outlook encourages us to predict a much better performance on the new crop of valencias now upon the trees."

moved to New York where I got a smell of Tammany Hall. Then for 30 years I was a Socialist and ran for many offices. In one election I polled 50,000 votes. The next time I was a candidate I polled 50,200 votes and believed I was making progress.

"Then came Hitler in Germany and I saw what happened to the Socialist party and realized that we did not have another 30 years to wait so I decided to become a Democrat and try and take possession of the Democratic party. As I want to apply the principles of industry to politics I call myself an Industrial Democrat.

Becomes Candidate

"The idea of running for governor appealed to me first as a fiction writer. I decided to write a story around that theme and then I got to believing my own story and decided to run for governor. "He was referring to his book "I, Governor of California."

"I wrote an imaginary history of California covering the next five years and to end it I said to the reader 'It's up to you.' People are becoming interested in my campaign and are coming to my support. Some of this support is coming from those who never supported me before because I was making my campaigns under the wrong name. Republicans are registering as Democrats and some of the Socialists are doing the same thing and I believe that it is going to happen.

"I believe in Democracy which is the right and power of the people to govern themselves politically and industrially. Industry is as important as law and order. My campaign is based upon the decision to end poverty in California and if we can do that in one state we can do it in the world.

"I can tell you how to do it and it is up to you."

Land Colonies

A legislative enactment for the establishment of state land colonies, whereby the unemployed may become self-sustaining and cease to be a burden upon the taxpayers. A public body, the California Authority for Land will take the idle land, and land sold for taxes and at foreclosure sales, and erect dormitories, kitchens, cafeterias, and rooms for social purposes, and cultivate the land using modern machinery under the guidance of experts:

A public body entitled the California Authority for Production, will be authorized to acquire factories and production plants whereby the unemployed may produce the basic necessities required for themselves and for the land colonies,, and to operate these factories and house and feed and care for the workers. The state agencies will maintain a distribution system for the exchange of each other's products. The industries will include laundries, bakeries, canneries, clothing and shoe factories, cement plants, brick-yards, lumberyards, thus constituting a complete industrial system, a new and self-sustaining world for those whom our present system can no longer employ:

Issue Scrip

A public body for the handling of financing in the state. This body to issue scrip to be paid the workers and used in the exchange of products within the system and issue bonds to cover the purchase of land and factories, the erection of buildings and purchase of machinery.

Sinclair also explained that his plan would repeal the sales tax adopt the income tax and sharply increase the inheritance tax. It would also increase taxes on public utilities according to the value of the franchice.

His plan also would exempt from taxation all homes and ranches of less than $3000 assessed valuation, where they are occupied by the owners. Upon properties assessed at more than 0 there would be a tax increase of one-half of one per cent for each $5000 of additional assessed valuation.

Sinclair's plan would impose a 10 per cent tax on all unimproved land and would provide pensions for the aged, the blind and for widowed mothers with dependent children.

Before Sinclair started his address Walter Thomas Mills spoke briefly and introduced the speaker. He was preceded by A. B. Rousselle who spoke of the proposed Harbor Bond issue and told what success of the proposal would mean to Orange county and the people living here.

Palmer House hotels in Chicago, the three leading commercial hostelries, also reported a 10 per cent increase in the room rentals, and a big increase in the rental of sample rooms, indicating a big influx of commercial buyers. Repeal brought them additional revenue, and helped the unemployment situation. The Palmer House hired 225 extra employes to handle the bar and dining room rush.

Hotels Active

Boston's Statler hotel said its business was up 10 per cent last month and attributed this to "a resumption of confidence." The Copley Plaza also reported a "noticeable" increase.

Washington hotels have been jammed almost constantly since spring, doing their best business in years. The influx of business men on code matters and visits of delegations seeking Public Works appropriations or on banking problems has been responsible.

Hotels of San Francisco reported heavy business, in general, during the last several months.

The management of the Sir Francis Drake, one of the leading downtown hotels, reported that commercial travel showed a distinct upclimb for several weeks preceding the Thanksgiving holidays.

Commercial travel is quiet at present due to the holidays, according to the hotel management, but an increase was expected after New Year's.

HOPKINS HOPES CWA EFFORT TO BE PERMANENT

Hopkins, hard driven to put over one of the most rapid employment programs in history, is not entirely satisfied with some of the kinds of work men are being used for on CWA. But in the necessity for speed, he is not inclined to be so exacting as he would be later on. In one month he is trying to put to work as many people as live in Chicago and upwards of half a million more.

"In the long run we must do work that will be generally approved by the public as useful," Hopkins said. "One of our biggest fields is in recreation.

"We will soon have to prepare for the increased leisure. The shorter work week is here to stay."

One of the advantages of a flexible setup like CWA, Hopkins believes, is that if heavy industries were lagging CWA work could stimulate them. Or emphasis could be shifted on a geographical basis to help a section which was depressed. Housing development, Hopkins believes, may prove one of the most useful avenues of emergency work programs.

STATE DEMAND FOR ROYALTIES IS DISCUSSED

into the state coffers yearly, according to estimates made today.

Under the schedule released by Vandegrift, a well producing 100 barrels of oil daily would pay 7 per cent providing the price of oil of less than 30 degrees gravity runs between 51 and 75 cents per barrel. This would increase to 8 per cent in the event the price is between 76 cents and $1.00. Oil is now selling for around $1. The schedule provides for an increase in percentages up to 14 per cent if the price advances above $1.75 per barrel.

From a well flowing 200 barrels daily, the state would secure a 8 per cent royalty if the price were between 51 to 75 cents, while if the price ran from 76 cents to $1, the state would get a 9 per cent royalty. The rate would increase to 16 per cent at $1.75.

From a well producing 300 barrels, the state would secure a 9 per cent royalty if the price of oil was between 76 cents and $1, while at present prices the royalty would be 10 per cent. A well with an output of 400 barrels would pay 10 per cent at the 51 to 75 cent rate and 12 per cent at the present price, increasing to 20 per cent.

A 2 per cent increase is provided for each 100 barrels from 400 to 1000 barrels. If a well produced 3000 barrels of oil, the state would collect a royalty of 50 per cent on the basis of present prices, while if the price went over $1.75, the state would get 66 per cent of the royalty.

His announcement followed a conference with A. L. Wirin and Ellis O. Jones, Los Angeles, officials of the organization which had demanded prosecution of the leaders who directed the hanging of Thomas Thurmond and John Holmes in St. James park here several weeks ago.

Previously Thomas and other county officials, while expressing willingness to prosecute, had maintained that no one had come forward to identify ringleaders or to swear out complaints.

Sheriff William Emig, injured in therioting, at one time intimated that he knew who led the mob but later he insisted he was not certain enough to obtain warrants.

Wirin and Jones reportedly said that they had witnesses who were ready to testify that they and that they also had newspaper statements which alleged leaders admitted their participation.

Thomas said that if they fulfilled their promise he would issue formal complaints.

The American Civil Liberties union, meantime, announced plans for a campaign to obtain a national anti-lynching law. Representatives said the campaign would be started in California with mass meetings at Santa Barbara tonight; Los Angeles Saturday; and San Jose, San Francisco and other cities later.

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 8. (To the Editor of The Register:) Guess you all heard Mr. Roosevelt on the radio Wednesday night. These old big boys can all get up before their little audiences and yell for stabilization, amortization, gold standard, or platinum finish. Then the President can come to the microphone with that convincing manner of his and the rest of 'em just as well wash up their little speeches and go home.

Say I guess there must be another conference on somewhere. I see where the U. S. is accused of connivery, by noon, and the conference only opened at 11 a. m. What would a conference be without the "goat."

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Predicting better conditions for the orange industry next year and urging effective sign-up of the marketing agreement, C. C. Hillis, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange, today released a report showing shipments of the exchange the past season.

In adition to 310 cars of loose fruit, most of which moved through the citrus distributing plant in Los Angeles, the exchange shipped a total of 6219 cars of fruit, consisting of 85 cars of navels, 769 cars of lemons, 10 cars of grapefruit and 5355 cars of valencias. The report stated that while the season ends with the month of October, 700 cars of valencias had rolled since that time.

A statement by Hillis follows:

'Production surpluses of tree crops cannot quickly be effected by acreage reductions and become a particularly difficult problem in times when demand cannot be increased on account of general uncertainty, unemployment and low buying power. Without some concerted movement by the citrus industry toward a generally acceptable program of eliminating the least desirable and low value portion of their output and thus effectively reducing market supplies, it is not at all unlikely that commodities such as this which are generally admitted to be relatively expensive in per acre production costs, will suffer considerably when returns are measured against cultural outgoes.

"Better business conditions throughout the country, of which the present trends are indicative, will undoubtedly offer some relief of the conditions which have prevailed during the season just closed but active interests should be manifest by the citrus grower, supplemental to these hoped for improved conditions, toward securing effective sign-ups of the Industry Marketing agreement, which is being afforded through the United States department of Agriculture under the terms of the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

"No better demonstration could be made on the possibilities of favorable price reactions to a regulation of supplies, than that afforded by the operations of the stabilization group this summer, with only a part of the industry participating. If all had joined in this effort and in addition an elimination program had been agreed to, there is little doubt but that the returns for the season would have been a different story Much too much fruit was offered to the buying public that would not met with consumer approval and brought back very little money, but which took the place of that much good fruit and eventually reduced further desires to buy.

"The outward appearance of our valencias this year was certainly not in their favor, so that finally, when the new crop of Floridas and navels from Central California were available, our price structures collapsed completely and the returns for many cars of low grades were disastrous.

"Average prices for the season were disappointing and are somewhat lower than obtained last year for a crop that was somewhat heavier in per acre production, but the present outlook encourages us to predict a much better performance on the new crop of valencias now upon the trees."

moved to New York where I got a smell of Tammany Hall. Then for 30 years I was a Socialist and ran for many offices. In one election I polled 50,000 votes. The next time I was a candidate I polled 50,200 votes and believed I was making progress.

"Then came Hitler in Germany and I saw what happened to the Socialist party and realized that we did not have another 30 years to wait so I decided to become a Democrat and try and take possession of the Democratic party. As I want to apply the principles of industry to politics I call myself an Industrial Democrat.

Becomes Candidate

"The idea of running for governor appealed to me first as a fiction writer. I decided to write a story around that theme and then I got to believing my own story and decided to run for governor. "He was referring to his book "I, Governor of California."

"I wrote an imaginary history of California covering the next five years and to end it I said to the reader 'It's up to you.' People are becoming interested in my campaign and are coming to my support. Some of this support is coming from those who never supported me before because I was making my campaigns under the wrong name. Republicans are registering as Democrats and some of the Socialists are doing the same thing and I believe that it is going to happen.

"I believe in Democracy which is the right and power of the people to govern themselves politically and industrially. Industry is as important as law and order. My campaign is based upon the decision to end poverty in California and if we can do that in one state we can do it in the world.

"I can tell you how to do it and it is up to you."

Land Colonies

A legislative enactment for the establishment of state land colonies, whereby the unemployed may become self-sustaining and cease to be a burden upon the taxpayers. A public body, the California Authority for Land will take the idle land, and land sold for taxes and at foreclosure sales, and erect dormitories, kitchens, cafeterias, and rooms for social purposes, and cultivate the land using modern machinery under the guidance of experts:

A public body entitled the California Authority for Production, will be authorized to acquire factories and production plants whereby the unemployed may produce the basic necessities required for themselves and for the land colonies,, and to operate these factories and house and feed and care for the workers. The state agencies will maintain a distribution system for the exchange of each other's products. The industries will include laundries, bakeries, canneries, clothing and shoe factories, cement plants, brick-yards, lumberyards, thus constituting a complete industrial system, a new and self-sustaining world for those whom our present system can no longer employ:

Issue Scrip

A public body for the handling of financing in the state. This body to issue scrip to be paid the workers and used in the exchange of products within the system and issue bonds to cover the purchase of land and factories, the erection of buildings and purchase of machinery.

Sinclair also explained that his plan would repeal the sales tax adopt the income tax and sharply increase the inheritance tax. It would also increase taxes on public utilities according to the value of the franchise.

His plan also would exempt from taxation all homes and ranches of less than $3000 assessed valuation, where they are occupied by the owners. Upon properties assessed at more than $0 there would be a tax increase of one-half of one per cent for each $5000 of additional assessed valuation.

Sinclair's plan would impose a 10 per cent tax on all unimproved land and would provide pensions for the aged, the blind and for widowed mothers with dependent children.

Before Sinclair started his address Walter Thomas Mills spoke briefly and introduced the speaker. He was preceded by A. B. Rousselle who spoke of the proposed Harbor Bond issue and told what success of the proposal would mean to Orange county and the people living here.

Palmer House hotels in Chicago, the three leading commercial hostelries, also reported a 10 per cent increase in the room rentals, and a big increase in the rental of sample rooms, indicating a big influx of commercial buyers. Repeal brought them additional revenue, and helped the unemployment situation. The Palmer House hired 225 extra employes to handle the bar and dining room rush.

Hotels Active

The Chicago railroad lines reported an increase in traffic for November over last year, although the closing of the Century of Progress caused some decline from summer figures.

Boston's Statler hotel said its business was up 10 per cent last month and attributed this to "a resumption of confidence." The Copley Plaza also reported a "noticeable" increase.

Washington hotels have been jammed almost constantly since spring, doing their best business in years. The influx of business men on code matters and visits of delegations seeking Public Works appropriations or on banking problems has been responsible.

Hotels of San Francisco reported heavy business, in general, during the last several months.

The management of the Sir Francis Drake, one of the leading downtown hotels, reported that commercial travel showed a distinct upclimb for several weeks preceding the Thanksgiving holidays.

Commercial travel is quiet at present due to the holidays, according to the hotel management, but an increase was expected after New Year's.

Hopkins, hard driven to put over one of the most rapid employment programs in history, is not entirely satisfied with some of the kinds of work men are being used for on CWA. But in the necessity for speed, he is not inclined to be so exacting as he would be later on. In one month he is trying to put to work many people as live in Chicago and upwards of half a million more.

"In the long run we must do work that will be generally approved by the public as useful," Hopkins said. "One of our biggest fields is in recreation.

"We will soon have to prepare for the increased leisure. The shorter work week is here to stay."

One of the advantages of a flexible setup like CWA, Hopkins believes, is that if heavy industries were lagging CWA work could stimulate them. Or emphasis could be shifted on a geographical basis to help any section which was depressed. Housing development, Hopkins believes, may prove one of the most useful avenues of emergency work programs.

STATE DEMAND FOR ROYALTIES IS DISCUSSED

into the state coffers yearly, according to estimates made today.

Under the schedule released by Vandegrift, a well producing 100 barrels of oil daily would pay 7 per cent providing the price of oil of less than 30 degrees gravity runs between 51 and 75 cents per barrel. This would increase to 8 per cent in the event the price is between 76 cents and $1.00. Oil is now selling for around $1. The schedule provides for an increase in percentages up to 14 per cent if the price advances above $1.75 per barrel.

From a well flowing 200 barrels daily, the state would secure a 8 per cent royalty if the price were between 51 to 75 cents, while if the price ran from 76 cents to $1, the state would get a 9 per cent royalty. The rate would increase to 16 per cent at $1.75.

From a well producing 300 barrels, the state would secure a 9 per cent royalty if the price of oil was between 76 cents and $1, while at present prices the royalty would be 10 per cent. A well with an output of 400 barrels would pay 10 per cent at the 51 to 75 cent rate and 12 per cent at the present price, increasing to 20 per cent.

A 2 per cent increase is provided for each 100 barrels from 400 to 1000 barrels. If a well produced 3000 barrels of oil, the state would collect a royalty of 50 per cent on the basis of present prices, while if the price went over $1.75, the state would get 66 per cent of the royalty.

FAMOUS STORE CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Following a year of successful business operations in Santa Ana, the Famous store, located at Fourth and Bush streets, will celebrate its first birthday sale tomorrow with a special and attractive sales event, it was announced today by Manager P. F. Colanchick.

Colanchick announced that the sale will prove especially timely for shoppers in the Santa Ana trade area, because of the huge stock of new and unique Christmas toys and gifts which has been received and which is on display at the store.

Fifty employes who are being given steady employment at the Famous store will care for the wants of those who visit the store during the Christmas buying season, all of them local persons.

Colanchick, who owns his own home here and who has been in the retail store business here for the past 10 years, pointed out that the same stocks and prices which prevail in Los Angeles can be found at the Famous store. Real bargains will be offered during the sale day, he said.

U. S. Hirsch, president of Famous stores, A. I. Spilker, general merchandise manager, and Vaughn Bell, personnel manager, are expected to come to Santa Ana for the sales event at the store, one of five operated as local concerns by the company.

Business is improving, according to Colanchick.

Heads of departments who will greet patrons during the Christmas season and the sale tomorrow are: Marie Knight, women's ready-to-wear; Vivian Van Norman, women's furnishings; Lucille McAdoo, hosiery and gloves; Jess Smith, men's furnishings; John Ortez, men's clothing; Herman Jobst, boys' department; C. V. Oldfield, dry goods; Lottie Bacon, draperies; Leo Heiser, house furnishings; Walter McVickers, shoes; A. A. Douglas, sporting goods and toys; Charlotte Hepp, office, and S. B. Holmes, window decorator.

DISCUSSION ON BONDS SET FOR FORUM TONIGHT

Three bond issues which will come before voters of Santa Ana and Orange county in the December 19 election will be discussed at a special meeting of the People's Forum, Third and Bush streets, tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

State Senator Frank M. Mixter of Tulare county, a strong supporter of the Cental Valley Water project, will present arguments in favor of the proposal which will be voted on at the election.

The meeting has been called to discuss the various issues which will come before voters of the state at the election. Senator Mixter is one of the committee which prepared the official argument for the Central Valley Water project which was printed in the voter's pamphlet issued by the state.

W. B. Martin will be the first speaker on the program and will present the opportunity which is offered to the citizens of Santa Ana to secure a new city hall financed by the government with 30 per cent of the cost promised by the government as a gift. Speakers from the floor will then present opposing views or ask questions of Martin.

Senator Mixter will be next on the program and will also respond to questions and answers to opposing arguments.

The second hour of the meeting will then oe devoted exclusively to the Orange County harbor project which has been attracting so much favorable attention from all interests within the county.

James L. Davis, assistant district attorney, Engineer R. L. Patterson, and J. F. Burke will present the various angles of the entire harbor issue and will respond to questions and opponents on the floor.

The entire meeting according to Harry S. Gerhart, director of the People"s Forum, is to present both or all sides of these matters to the voting public through the medium of the open forum which is unique in offering the public to present its various views on matters of extreme interest.

SANTA CLAUS BUSY GREETING FRIENDS

Today found Santa Claus at his headquarters at the Montgomery-Ward and Company store at Fourth and Main streets greeting hundreds of his little friends who called to see him, seeking to speak with him regarding matters which at this time of the year are of superlative importance to youngsters.

Smiling Santa listened to all their requests and desires, spreading good cheer and assuring his intent listeners that he will do his best this year to see that no one is forgotten.

From now until Christmas Eve Santa Claus is spending his time explaining to his small friends how all the different toys are made and operated. A great interest is being displayed by both younger and older folks in newest model toys, Santa reports.

FEDERAL BANK LOANS MORE PER ACRE OUTSIDE

Alleging that the move is just another delay in securing loans, county ranching interests were aroused today by the announcement that a new ruling relative to loans by the Federal Land Bank has gone into effect. This new ruling, according to C. A. Palmer, requires formation of a Loan Association in Orange county.

Farmers in Orange county also are agitated over alleged discrimination in amounts to be loaned in this county. It has been learned that in Riverside county loans are being made for as much as $600 an acre and in the Whittier district they art as high as $750 an acre. So far the few loans granted in Orange county have not been in excess of $500 an acre.

Palmer, in a notice sent to all applicants for loans from the Federal Land Bank, said that permission to form such an association had been granted by the Farm Credit Administration. He said that it will be necessary for those persons who have made application for a loan from the Federal Land Bank in Orange county to get together and select their own board of directors consisting of five members. These members must be selected from among those who have applied for loans.

This association will be formed tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at a meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Frances Willard Junior High school. The closing paragraph of the notice for the meeting declares:

"The more people that sign the blanks for forming an association will add just that much more influence in obtaining our charter for a National Farm Loan Association at an early date."

Palmer said this morning that he believed that the proposed association, when finally organized, will speed up activity in securing money for Orange county ranchers. Palmer has had his office here since last August and while many applications have been received no money has been dispensed through the office. A loan of $50,000 on the Marcy ranch near Fullerton, which Palmer said today was completed through the Los Angeles office, was recorded yesterday.

There has been considerable agitation on the part of farmers and others at the delay experienced through the local office of the Federal Land Bank.

Several weks ago a meeting was called to discuss delays in administration of the bank and the Orange County Farm Bureau was represented by its executive secretary, R. D. Flaherty. At that time Flaherty said that the ranching interests were satisfied with the administration of land bank affairs here and were not growing impatient.

It also was announced that if the Federal Land Bank loans were still slow in coming through by December 1, the Farm Bureau would join the movement agitating greater speed on the lending of money by the federal bank. Early this week Flaherty announced his resignation as secretary of the Farm Bureau to accept a position as secretary-manager of the Orange County Production Credit Association, recently organized by farmers as a part of the Farm Credit Administration program.

Ranchers and business men are agitated at this alleged discrimination and declare that there is something wrong with the attitude of the Federal Land Bank owards Orange county, as this county has always been the high spot in the valencia industry.

ALBERT HILL NEW LEADER R. A. M. HERE

Albert Hill, King of Santa Ana Chapter 73 Royal Arch Masons, for the past year, was chosen high priest of the organization to succeed Herman Zabel at a meeting last night in the Masonic temple

Installation of the new officers will be held Thursday, December 21 at an impressive ceremony. Other new heads named were Frank Harwood, king, Orson Hunter, scribe, Roscoe Hewett, treasurer, and Roy Roepke, secretary. Hill will announce his appointive aides in the near future

BOOK SALESMAN ON GRAND THEFT COUNT

Arrested on a grand theft charge under the corporate securities act, Timothy V. Shafer, 34, Long Beach beer salesman, was booked at the county jail last night and is awaiting arraignment before Judge Kenneth Morrison in the justice court.

Shafer and Robert G. Gruwell were cited before the local court in 1931 on a charge of defrauding John Phillips, 920 North Olive street, of $900. Phillips charged that he was induced to buy alleged worthless shares of stock in the Copper Conda Mines company in February, 1931. In the ensuing trial both Shafer and Gruwell were released.

Shafer is now being charged with grand theft of the same $900 on a new warrant issued by Morrison. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriffs Merle Dean and G. F. McKelvey.

A WORD OF COMFORT

A developing being can never res content unless he is storming some fresh difficulty more trying than those already conquered.

Frankly recognize that tomorrow will be harder for you than today. Realize that you will have the added strength and experience of today's triumph with which to face the battle.

When you have attained the mountain-top you will revel in having fought your way through hardships which now seem almost unendurable. Final victory is just ahead of you; keep bravely on!

FAMOUS STORE CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Following a year of successful business operations in Santa Ana, the Famous store, located at Fourth and Bush streets, will celebrate its first birthday sale tomorrow with a special and attractive sales event, it was announced today by Manager P. F. Colanchick.

Colanchick announced that the sale will prove especially timely for shoppers in the Santa Ana trade area, because of the huge stock of new and unique Christmas toys and gifts which has been received and which is on display at the store.

Fifty employes who are being given steady employment at the Famous store will care for the wants of those who visit the store during the Christmas buying season, all of them local persons.

Colanchick, who owns his own home here and who has been in the retail store business here for the past 10 years, pointed out that the same stocks and prices which prevail in Los Angeles can be found at the Famous store. Real bargains will be offered during the sale day, he said.

U. S. Hirsch, president of Famous stores, A. I. Spilker, general merchandise manager, and Vaughn Bell, personnel manager, are expected to come to Santa Ana for the sales event at the store, one of five operated as local concerns by the company.

Business is improving, according to Colanchick.

Heads of departments who will greet patrons during the Christmas season and the sale tomorrow are: Marie Knight, women's ready-to-wear; Vivian Van Norman, women's furnishings; Lucille McAdoo, hosiery and gloves; Jess Smith, men's furnishings; John Ortez, men's clothing; Herman Jobst, boys' department; C. V. Oldfield, dry goods; Lottie Bacon, draperies; Leo Heiser, house furnishings; Walter McVickers, shoes; A. A. Douglas, sporting goods and toys; Charlotte Hepp, office, and S. B. Holmes, window decorator.

DISCUSSION ON BONDS SET FOR FORUM TONIGHT

Three bond issues which will come before voters of Santa Ana and Orange county in the December 19 election will be discussed at a special meeting of the People's Forum, Third and Bush streets, tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

State Senator Frank M. Mixter of Tulare county, a strong supporter of the Cental Valley Water project, will present arguments in favor of the proposal which will be voted on at the election.

The meeting has been called to discuse the various issues which will come before voters of the state at the election. Senator Mixter is one of the committee which prepared the official argument for the Central Valley Water project which was printed in the voter's pamphlet issued by the state.

W. B. Martin will be the first speaker on the program and will present the opportunity which is offered to the citizens of Santa Ana to secure a new city hall financed by the government with 30 per cent of the cost promised by the government as a gift. Speakers from the floor will then present opposing views or ask questions of Martin.

Senator Mixter will be next on the program and will also respond to questions and answers to opposing arguments.

The second hour of the meeting will then oe devoted exclusively to the Orange County harbor project which has been attracting so much favorable attention from all interests within the county.

James L. Davis, assistant district attorney, Engineer R. L. Patterson, and J. F. Burke will present the various angles of the entire harbor issue and will respond to questions and opponents on the floor.

The entire meeting according to Harry S. Gerhart, director of the People"s Forum, is to present both or all sides of these matters to the voting public through the medium of the open forum which is unique in offering the public to present its various views on matters of extreme interest.

SANTA CLAUS BUSY GREETING FRIENDS

Today found Santa Claus at his headquarters at the Montgomery-Ward and Company store at Fourth and Main streets greeting hundreds of his little friends who called to see him, seeking to speak with him regarding matters which at this time of the year are of superlative importance to youngsters.

Smiling Santa listened to all their requests and desires, spreading good cheer and assuring his intent listeners that he will do his best this year to see that no one is forgotten.

From now until Christmas Eve Santa Claus is spending his time explaining to his small friends how all the different toys are made and operated. A great interest is being displayed by both younger and older folks in the newest model toys, Santa reports.

FEDERAL BANK LOANS MORE PER ACRE OUTSIDE

Alleging that the move is just another delay in securing loans, county ranching interests were aroused today by the announcement that a new ruling relative to loans by the Federal Land Bank has gone into effect. This new ruling, according to C. A. Palmer, requires formation of a Loan Association in Orange county.

Farmers in Orange county also are agitated over alleged discrimination in amounts to be loaned in this county. It has been learned that in Riverside county loans are being made for as much as $600 an acre and in the Whittier district they art as high as $750 an acre. So far the few loans granted in Orange county have not been in excess of $500 an acre.

Palmer, in a notice sent to all applicants for loans from the Federal Land Bank, said that permission to form such an association had been granted by the Farm Credit Administration. He said that it will be necessary for those persons who have made application for a loan from the Federal Land Bank in Orange county to get together and select their own board of directors consisting of five members. These members must be selected from among those who have applied for loans.

This association will be formed tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at a meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Frances Willard Junior High school. The closing paragraph of the notice for the meeting declares:

"The more people that sign the blanks for forming an association will add just that much more influence in obtaining our charter for a National Farm Loan Association at an early date."

Palmer said this morning that he believed that the proposed association, when finally organized, will speed up activity in securing money for Orange county ranchers. Palmer has had his office here since last August and while many applications have been received no money has been dispensed through the office. A loan of $50,000 on the Marcy ranch near Fullerton, which Palmer said today was completed through the Los Angeles office, was recorded yesterday.

There has been considerable agitation on the part of farmers and others at the delay experienced through the local office of the Federal Land Bank.

Several weks ago a meeting was called to discuss delays in administration of the bank and the Orange County Farm Bureau was represented by its executive secretary, R. D. Flaherty. At that time Flaherty said that the ranching interests were satisfied with the administration of land bank affairs here and were not growing impatient.

It also was announced that if the Federal Land Bank loans were still slow in coming through by December 1, the Farm Bureau would join the movement agitating greater speed on the lending of money by the federal bank. Early this week Flaherty announced his resignation as secretary of the Farm Bureau to accept a position as secretary-manager of the Orange County Production Credit Association, recently organized by farmers as a part of the Farm Credit Administration program.

Ranchers and business men are agitated at this alleged discrimination and declare that there is something wrong with the attitude of the Federal Land Bank owards Orange county, as this county has always been the high spot in the valencia industry.

ALBERT HILL NEW LEADER R. A. M. HERE

Albert Hill, King of Santa Ana Chapter 73 Royal Arch Masons, for the past year, was chosen high priest of the organization to succeed Herman Zabel at a meeting last night in the Masonic temple

Installation of the new officers will be held Thursday, December 21 at an impressive ceremony. Other new heads named were Frank Harwood, king, Orson Hunter, scribe, Roscoe Hewett, treasurer, and Roy Roepke, secretary. Hill will announce his appointive aides in the near future

BOOK SALESMAN ON GRAND THEFT COUNT

Arrested on a grand theft charge under the corporate securities act, Timothy V. Shafer, 34, Long Beach beer salesman, was booked at the county jail last night and is awaiting arraignment before Judge Kenneth Morrison in the justice court.

Shafer and Robert G. Gruwell were cited before the local court in 1931 on a charge of defrauding John Phillips, 920 North Olive street, of $900. Phillips charged that he was induced to buy alleged worthless shares of stock in the Copper Conda Mines company in February, 1931. In the ensuing trial both Shafer and Gruwell were released.

Shafer is now being charged with grand theft of the same $900 on a new warrant issued by Morrison. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriffs Merle Dean and G. F. McKelvey.

IMPROVEMENT AT WHITTIER SCHOOL TOLD

Citing instances to show the improvement in conditions at the Whittier reform school and the lowering of costs since the change of administration, the following statement was made today by Elmer P. Murphy, member of the board of managers and one of those instrumental in effecting the change:

"During the month of November four boys who had been released from Whittier voluntarily returned and asked to be taken care of until a job could be found for them.

"It was not long ago that a Mexican boy from Sacramento, sentenced by the court to the Whittier state school, endeavored to commit suicide by slashing his wrists. He said some of his friends who had been in Whittier told him what a terrible place it was.

"This is a most eloquent demonstration of the new regime under the new board of managers with Judge Milne as superintendent, who took office in May. Not only has the school been made so effective and attractive for the boys that they voluntarily return, but they bring their parents out to visit after their release.

"And in spite of this reform in operation, the cost for supervision per boy has been reduced from $64 to $52 per month.

"All engagements are through civil service and no political appointments are being sent by the administration."

NINE GET BIDS TO J. C. HONOR GROUP

Membership in the organization is based on merits of scholarship, school leadership and activities. Those elected are John Wells, Joe Wilson, Orville Plumlee, Barbara Copeland, Dorothy Ensign, Kay Bement, Dorothy Tedford, Marian Brownridge and Jack Havens.

PACKAGES FOR EAST SHOULD BE MAILED NOW

Mail early. Mail now if you want your packages to reach eastern points in time for delivery on Christmas.

This was the advice which Postmaster Terry E. Stephenson gave to Santa Anans today as postoffice work was speeded up to care for the increasing business during the holiday season.

Already a decided increase in business has been evident at the postoffice and considerably more business is being done now than at the same time last year, Postmaster Stephenson said. Many packages of walnuts are being mailed this year, more than usual, it was said.

December 12, 13 and 14 are expected to be the heaviest days at the local postoffice, being about the last days packages can be sent to eastern points in time for delivery on Christmas.

All packages which arrive in the Santa Ana postoffice will be delivered in a special clean-up delivery here on December 23, as there will be no deliveries on Sunday, December 24, or on Monday, Christmas Day, except those which might be done by substitute carriers, or special delivery packages, he said.

LEGION WOMEN HEAR TALK ON PORT PROJECT

Addressing nearly one hundred members of the American Legion Auxiliary of Santa Ana at Getty's hall last night, Thomas E. Pickerill, local attorney, brought out the advantages to labor, industry and sea-going vessels, as well as relief to taxpayers of Orange county by voting favorably on the harbor bond issue December 19.

Attorney Pickerill said, in part: "While I do not say we should stress unemployment relief alone as a reason why the people of Orange county should vote the bonds, it so happens that the harbor project itself has sufficient merit to justify our support outside of all other considerations.

"And when a public improvement can 'stand on its own feet' as this one does, to fail to bring about a development of our harbor at Newport Beach by aid of the federal government, and to fail to provide this relief for hundreds of our unemployed laborers would be overlooking a great opportunity.

"For a number of years the people of this county have been developing a consciousness of boosting our harbor. Heretofore we may have been called upon to provide all of the money for the improvements. But now Uncle Sam steps in and offers to hand over to us twice the amount we are asked to provide ourselves. It is, therefore, with deep conviction that I urge the voters to welcome this opportunity to bring additional wealth and more high type citizens into our county through the voting of the bonds and the development of Orange county's harbor."

HICKS HEARING CONTINUED ONE WEEK IN COURT

Appearing this morning in department three, superior court, for pronouncement of judgment after his conviction by a jury on a complaint alleging a statutory offense against a school girl, W. L. Hicks, Santa Ana grocer, applied for probation through his attorney, Tom McFadden, and had the hearing continued until next Friday. Setting of the trial date for another court in the five count complaint against him also was continued one week.

Hicks was originally scheduled to appear in department one for sentencing but his hearing was transferred to the court of Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel because of the absence of Superior Judge Edward Hendersen of Ventura, who heard the case.

Hicks was tried on five counts charging statutory offenses against school girls ranging in age from 7 to 14 years. The jury found him guilty on one count, not guilty on two and disagreed on another. The district attorney dismissed the fifth count. The grocer originally had pleaded guilty to one count against him and had applied for probation later withdrawing the guilty plea and pleading not guilty to an amended complaint alleging five separate offenses.

A large delegation of P-T. A. members who have been active in the case against the grocer was present in court this morning for the proceedings, but was not notified of the transfer to another department, it is reported. Some criticism was voiced for the delay of another week after the matter previously had been before the probation department at the time of his previous guilty plea, and an investigation made at that time.

GROUP TO ATTEND IMPERIAL HIGHWAY ANNUAL PILGRIMAGE

Plans are being completed for a large delegation of Orange county people to attend the fourth annual pilgrimage to El Centro by the Imperial Highway association. The pilgrimage is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. The high point of this year's pilgrimage will be dedication of a monument commemorating the work of the Boyce Aten post of the American Legion on behalf of the association.

The monument, erected at the junction of San Diego and Imperial counties, 10 miles northwest of Coyote Wells, is to be dedicated Sunday afternoon, at 2 p. m. On Saturday night the meeting of the association will be held at El Centro, in the Barbara Worth hotel. During the evening meeting Guy L. Fleming, superintendent of the California division of the state division of parks, will speak on "Two Roads to Yesterday."

George Kellogg of Yorba Linda, secretary of the Imperial Highway association, will speak at the monument dedicatory service on Sunday. His subject will be "The Imperial Highway."

Pneumatic Rail Tire Meets New Test For Safety

AKRON, O., Dec. 8.—Startling proof of the safety of the Goodyear pneumatic rail tire was demonstrated before railway executives in Chicago last week when one of the tires was purposely blown out at a speed of 70 miles per hour.

The demonstration was a part of the first public showing of the Fairbanks-Morse "Railmobile"—a rail car unit developed through co-operation of engineers of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the Fairbanks-Morse Co. and the Chrysler Corp.

A standard Chrysler sedan and a Dodge truck chassis with bus body and trailer were on exhibit. One of the tires of the sedan was blown out by a shotgun mounted on the running board while traveling at high speed with no appreciable effect on operation of the unit other than a slight bump as an aluminum safety ring inside the casing took up the load as the tire was deflated.

The rail tire, expected to play an important part on railway rolling stock of the future, is constructed in much the same manner as an automobile tire. In addition to the aluminum tire ring bolted to the rim inside the tire, allowing the wheel to drop but five-eighths of an inch in event of deflation, a steel guiding flange to keep the tire on the rail is provided. An especially designed tread allows front tires to squeegee water off the rails in wet weather so that the driving and braking wheels have a dry surface to work on.

IMPROVEMENT AT WHITTIER SCHOOL TOLD

Citing instances to show the improvement in conditions at the Whittier reform school and the lowering of costs since the change of administration, the following statement was made today by Elmer P. Murphy, member of the board of managers and one of those instrumental in effecting the change:

"During the month of November four boys who had been released from Whittier voluntarily returned and asked to be taken care of until a job could be found for them.

"It was not long ago that a Mexican boy from Sacramento, sentenced by the court to the Whittier state school, endeavored to commit suicide by slashing his wrists. He said some of his friends who had been in Whittier told him what a terrible place it was.

"This is a most eloquent demonstration of the new regime under the new board of managers with Judge Milne as superintendent, who took office in May. Not only has the school been made so effective and attractive for the boys that they voluntarily return, but they bring their parents out to visit after their release.

"And in spite of this reform in operation, the cost for supervision per boy has been reduced from $64 to $52 per month.

"All engagements are through civil service and no political appointments are being sent by the administration."

NINE GET BIDS TO J. C. HONOR GROUP

Membership in the organization is based on merits of scholarship, school leadership and activities. Those elected are John Wells, Joe Wilson, Orville Plumlee, Barbara Copeland, Dorothy Ensign, Kay Bement, Dorothy Tedford, Marian Brownridge and Jack Havens.

PACKAGES FOR EAST SHOULD BE MAILED NOW

Mail early. Mail now if you want your packages to reach eastern points in time for delivery on Christmas.

This was the advice which Postmaster Terry E. Stephenson gave to Santa Anans today as postoffice work was speeded up to care for the increasing business during the holiday season.

Already a decided increase in business has been evident at the postoffice and considerably more business is being done now than at the same time last year, Postmaster Stephenson said. Many packages of walnuts are being mailed this year, more than usual, it was said.

December 12, 13 and 14 are expected to be the heaviest days at the local postoffice, being about the last days packages can be sent to eastern points in time for delivery on Christmas.

All packages which arrive in the Santa Ana postoffice will be delivered in a special clean-up delivery here on December 23, as there will be no deliveries on Sunday, December 24, or on Monday, Christmas Day, except those which might be done by substitute carriers, or special delivery packages, he said.

LEGION WOMEN HEAR TALK ON PORT PROJECT

Addressing nearly one hundred members of the American Legion Auxiliary of Santa Ana at Getty's hall last night, Thomas E. Pickerill, local attorney, brought out the advantages to labor, industry and sea-going vessels, as well as relief to taxpayers of Orange county by voting favorably on the harbor bond issue December 19.

Attorney Pickerill said, in part: "While I do not say we should stress unemployment relief alone as a reason why the people of Orange county should vote the bonds, it so happens that the harbor project itself has sufficient merit to justify our support outside of all other considerations.

"And when a public improvement can 'stand on its own feet' as this one does, to fail to bring about a development of our harbor at Newport Beach by aid of the federal government, and to fail to provide this relief for hundreds of our unemployed laborers would be overlooking a great opportunity.

"For a number of years the people of this county have been developing a consciousness of boosting our harbor. Heretofore we may have been called upon to provide all of the money for the improvements. But now Uncle Sam steps in and offers to hand over to us twice the amount we are asked to provide ourselves. It is, therefore, with deep conviction that I urge the voters to welcome this opportunity to bring additional wealth and more high type citizens into our county through the voting of the bonds and the development of Orange county's harbor."

HICKS HEARING CONTINUED ONE WEEK IN COURT

Appearing this morning in department three, superior court, for pronouncement of judgment after his conviction by a jury on a complaint alleging a statutory offense against a school girl, W. L. Hicks, Santa Ana grocer, applied for probation through his attorney, Tom McFadden, and had the hearing continued until next Friday. Setting of the trial date for another court in the five count complaint against him also was continued one week.

Hicks was originally scheduled to appear in department one for sentencing but his hearing was transferred to the court of Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel because of the absence of Superior Judge Edward Hendersen of Ventura, who heard the case.

Hicks was tried on five counts charging statutory offenses against school girls ranging in age from 7 to 14 years. The jury found him guilty on one count, not guilty on two and disagreed on another. The district attorney dismissed the fifth count. The grocer originally had pleaded guilty to one count against him and had applied for probation later withdrawing the guilty plea and pleading not guilty to an amended complaint alleging five separate offenses.

A large delegation of P-T. A. members who have been active in the case against the grocer was present in court this morning for the proceedings, but was not notified of the transfer to another department, it is reported. Some criticism was voiced for the delay of another week after the matter previously had been before the probation department at the time of his previous guilty plea, and an investigation made at that time.

GROUP TO ATTEND IMPERIAL HIGHWAY ANNUAL PILGRIMAGE

Plans are being completed for a large delegation of Orange county people to attend the fourth annual pilgrimage to El Centro by the Imperial Highway association. The pilgrimage is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. The high point of this year's pilgrimage will be dedication of a monument commemorating the work of the Boyce Aten post of the American Legion on behalf of the association.

The monument, erected at the junction of San Diego and Imperial counties, 10 miles northwest of Coyote Wells, is to be dedicated Sunday afternoon, at 2 p. m. On Saturday night the meeting of the association will be held at El Centro, in the Barbara Worth hotel. During the evening meeting Guy L. Fleming, superintendent of the California division of the state division of parks, will speak on "Two Roads to Yesterday."

George Kellogg of Yorba Linda, secretary of the Imperial Highway association, will speak at the monument dedicatory service on Sunday. His subject will be "The Imperial Highway."

Pneumatic Rail Tire Meets New Test For Safety

AKRON, O., Dec. 8.—Startling proof of the safety of the Goodyear pneumatic rail tire was demonstrated before railway executives in Chicago last week when one of the tires was purposely blown out at a speed of 70 miles per hour.

The demonstration was a part of the first public showing of the Fairbanks-Morse "Railmobile"—a rail car unit developed through co-operation of engineers of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the Fairbanks-Morse Co. and the Chrysler Corp.

A standard Chrysler sedan and a Dodge truck chassis with bus body and trailer were on exhibit. One of the tires of the sedan was blown out by a shotgun mounted on the running board while traveling at high speed with no appreciable effect on operation of the unit other than a slight bump as an aluminum safety ring inside the casing took up the load as the tire was deflated.

The rail tire, expected to play an important part on railway rolling stock of the future, is constructed in much the same manner as an automobile tire. In addition to the aluminum tire ring bolted to the rim inside the tire, allowing the wheel to drop but five-eighths of an inch in event of deflation, a steel guiding flange to keep the tire on the rail is provided. An especially designed tread allows front tires to squeegee water off the rails in wet weather so that the driving and braking wheels have a dry surface to work on.

INQUESTS HELD FOR VICTIMS OF 2 CRASHES

A coroner's jury at the Harrel and Brown funeral home gave two verdicts yesterday afternoon, one of accidental death for William Wieman, 38, killed in a truck wreck near the C. C. C. camp in Silverado canyon Monday, and one of hit and run driving by an unknown motorist for Jose Avilla, Westminster youth killed Monday night.

When the body of Wieman was taken to Riverside by government authorities, Coroner Abbey combined the inquests in Santa Ana. Funeral services have not been completed for the two victims.

Lieut. Robert Hazlitt of Camp Silverado was the principal witness to testify and identified Wieman. He said there were 35 men on the truck returning to the camp and that three, including Wieman, were hurt and taken to the hospital. He said the dirt road was buylit in June and was soft in places. He blamed the accident on the swaying of the truck body as it rounded the curve on uneven ground.

Bruce Britt, driver of the truck, said that the road caved away under the wheels and Allen Bond, riding on the back of the truck, said that Wieman and several others were standing when the vehicle rolled down the 12-foot bank. Edward L. Seymour also gave his version of the accident. California Highway Patrolman Dan Adams described the road and said the wreck occurred one mile from the Silverado road between Silverado canyon and Santiago canyon.

Wieman, a native of Idaho, died nearly 24 hours after being hurt. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital and died of internal injuries. Don Hart, 40, and Harry Chamberlain, 20, were also hurt. George Wallace, state forest patrolman, and Officer A. H. Westermann of Orange were among the first to give aid to the injured.

There was little evidence to present in the inquest over the body of Jose Avilla, who was struck by a car in Westminster near the railroad tracks on Seventeenth street. Delores Pacheco, walking with the youth just prior to the impact, said he heard his friend scream and got a glimpse of a small black car speeding away. It was too dark to get a good description of the car, he said. It was brought out that the boy was walking about nine feet from the curbing but well out of the main-traveled lane of traffic.

Jose Salazar, uncle of the boy, was the identification witness and aCliforna Highway Patrolman Vernon Barnhill gave details of the scene of the accident.

LATEST ADDITION TO S. AND F. FLEET

Above is the picture of one of the new GMG truck tractors and semi-trailer with closed body which has been added to the delivery fleet of the Smart & Final company of Santa Ana. The new equipment was purchased from the L. P. Mohler Company, GMC dealers for Orange county. Two truck-tractors and four semi-trailers were added to the fleet during the past week.

Determined to maintain its policy of efficient and speedy operation the Smart & Final company of Santa Ana has just made addition to its delivery fleet.

Two GMC truck tractors and four GMC semi-trailers with closed van bodies will augment the already large fleet of trucks and trailers.

These combinations of truck tractor and semi-trailers are used to expedite delivery service. As one trailer is being used on the route the other is being loaded at the warehouse. As soon as the first trailer is unloaded the truck picks up the second and is on its way.

The entire equipment is of GMC manufacture and was sold by L. P. Mohler company, GMC dealers for Orange county.

NEW FORD CARS TO ARRIVE IN S. A. SATURDAY

The new Ford V-8 for 1934 is to be put on display Saturday in more than 7000 Ford dealer showrooms throughout the United States, Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company announced today. George Dunton, Santa Ana dealer, will show the cars here.

As revealed in Detroit by Henry Ford and his son to several score newspaper correspondents, special writers and photographers, the new Ford has greater power, more speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon, especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather, plus refined body lines and a new built-in system of clear-vision body ventilation.

The improvements in engine performance are the result of the use of a new dual down-draft carburetor and dual intake manifold which increase the engine's power approximately 12 per cent and provide a remarkable improvement in pickup, Dunton said.

"The new Ford ventilation system, which is built into the body, permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides the desired amount of fresh air in any weather, while individual control is provided for both front and rear side windows," the announcement says. "This simple ventilation system maintains a draft-free circulation of air and prevents fogging windshields and windows in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air for warm weather driving.

"The distinctive lines of the Ford V-8 have been refined in the 1934 car by a newly-designed radiator shell, grille and other features. Interiors reveal new tufted upholstery and garnish mouldings, a cove-type head lining, new instrument panel, arm rests, door pulls and hardware. Sunvisors are provided in all closed cars, those in the de luxe cars being of swivel type to prevent glare both from the front and sides.

"Fenders on de luxe cars now are in color to harmonize with the body colors. Wheel colors are optional. Bodies are of steel, electrically welded one-piece construction.

"Eleven body types are available. Included are both standard and de luxe types of the Tudor, Fordor, 5-window coupe; the de luxe roadster, phaeton and 3-window coupe, as well as the cabriolet and victoria. The victoria body has been newly-designed, to afford additional passenger room. A large luggage compartment is provided in the rear.

"All body types are equipped with safety glass windshields, while the de luxe body types are fitted with safety glass throughout. The Ford spring design tends to prevent the body from tilting on uneven roads. Corners can be taken safely at relatively high speeds. Both front and rear springs are placed crosswise. This transverse design permits free and easy action of all four wheels because the springs are attached to the axles at their outer flexible tips."

AUTO INDUSTRY GROUP TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

All members of the automotive industry in Orange county have been invited to an open meeting to be held Monday at 8 p. m. in the Southern Counties Gas company offices, 218 West Second street, to hear a talk on "How to Handle Flat Rate Service Sales and the Customer" to be given by A. B. Morris of Los Angeles, counsellor on automotive merchandising.

Harry D Riley, secretary of the Automotive Trades Association of Orange county said that there would be no obligation or collection and non-members of the organization were welcome to attend.

Riley announced that the proposed state code for the automotive industry had been withdrawn and that every effort was being made to hasten the signing of the national code. Final reading on the new document will be given tomorrow in Washington, D. C., and will become effective the first Monday after President Roosevelt signs it. Riley said that because of the magnitude of the industry and the importance of a national code, the president is expected to make little delay in signing.

The Allied Automotive Trades of Southern California, of which Riley is executive secretary and manager, has endorsed the national code and also the stand of the Emergency National Committee on the submission of a nationwide standard. The committee has membership in 35 states with more than 200 associations, representing 70 per cent of the maintenance business in the United States.

AVOCADO MEN TO CONSIDER MARKET PLAN

Climaxing efforts of avocado growers outside the Calavo association toward preparation of a marketing agreement which will be satisfactory both to the Calavo group and the other growers, plans for holding a meeting of the various avocado grower units in Orange, Riverside and Los Angeles and San Diego counties for a round table discussion were announced today by A. R. Marshburn, president of the Orange County Avocado association.

Definite date for the conference is as yet undetermined, but it is known that Chairman Taylor, national head of the Equalization Adjustment b ard, will lead the discussion. Professor F. R. Wilcox, of the agricultural extension service, also will attend the meeting planned.

A movement has been on foot for the past several months to organize growers outside the Calavo into a unit which had as its primary end the preparation of a marketing agreement.

To this end a meeting was held at Oceanside on November 23 at which a marketing agreement was drawn up. The document was not presented to federal authorities, however, upon the advice of Professor Wilcox who asked the five groups of "outside" growers to wait until arangements could be made with Calavo for a round table discussion. Through the offices of H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, this meeting has been arranged and will be timed to coincide with Taylor's visit to California.

Announcement of the meeting comes on the heels of a meeting of the Orange county unit at which Marshburn had assured the directors of his group that no agreement would be accepted by Washington which did not give all growers full representation on a tonnage basis.

The Orange county grower's unit is called the Orange County Avocado Growers Cooperative association. Its president is A. R. Marshburn; vice president, H. H. Gardner; and secretary-treasure, Paul Todd.

The board of directors is made up of: Harry Sharpless, Tustin; D. L. Marshburn, El Modena; H. H. Gardner, Villa Park; Earl Gage, Fullerton; S. James Tuffree, Placentia; A. R. Marshburn, Yorba Linda; and Paul Todd, also of Yorba Linda.

At a meeting of the directors, Marshburn named a committee composed of S. James Tuffree, D. L. Marshburn, and himself as "ex-officio" member, to take definite steps looking toward a centralization of the five Southern California grower groups which met last week at Oceanside.

Court Notes

Clinton Johnson, San Diego, and Donald B. Frank each paid an $8 speeding fine in police court yesterday.

F. Carlson pleaded not guilty in police court yesterday and will have a trial before Judge J. G. Mitchell Tuesday for violation of the city plumbing ordinance.

Mrs. Margaret M. Erwin has filed suit in superior court asking for an interlocutory decree of divorce from Harry Erwin, alleging desertion. In her complaint Mrs. Erwin alleges that they were married in Salt Lake City, Utah, May 14, 1902, and that on February 1, 1929, Erwin deserted her.

Sugar Manufacture Engineer's Topic

Captain James Pettit, chemical engineer, addressed members of the Santa Ana Junior college American Association of Engineers at their meeting Wednesday night held in the college science building. He spoke briefly on his career and then discussed the manufacture of raw cane sugar as well as beet sugar. In his talk he outlined five points in the manufacture of cane sugar, the extraction of juice, clarification of juice, evaporation, crystallization and separation of the juice.

Harold Christensen was appointed to represent the chapter at college executive board meetings and Sam Tucker gave a detailed report on the Boulder dam trip.

INQUESTS HELD FOR VICTIMS OF 2 CRASHES

A coroner's jury at the Harrel and Brown funeral home gave two verdicts yesterday afternoon, one of accidental death for William Wieman, 38, killed in a truck wreck near the C. C. C. camp in Silverado canyon Monday, and one of hit and run driving by an unknown motorist for Jose Avilla, Westminster youth killed Monday night.

When the body of Wieman was taken to Riverside by government authorities, Coroner Abbey combined the inquests in Santa Ana. Funeral services have not been completed for the two victims.

Lieut. Robert Hazlitt of Camp Silverado was the principal witness to testify and identified Wieman. He said there were 35 men on the truck returning to the camp and that three, including Wieman, were hurt and taken to the hospital. He said the dirt road was buyilt in June and was soft in places. He blamed the accident on the swaying of the truck body as it rounded the curve on uneven ground.

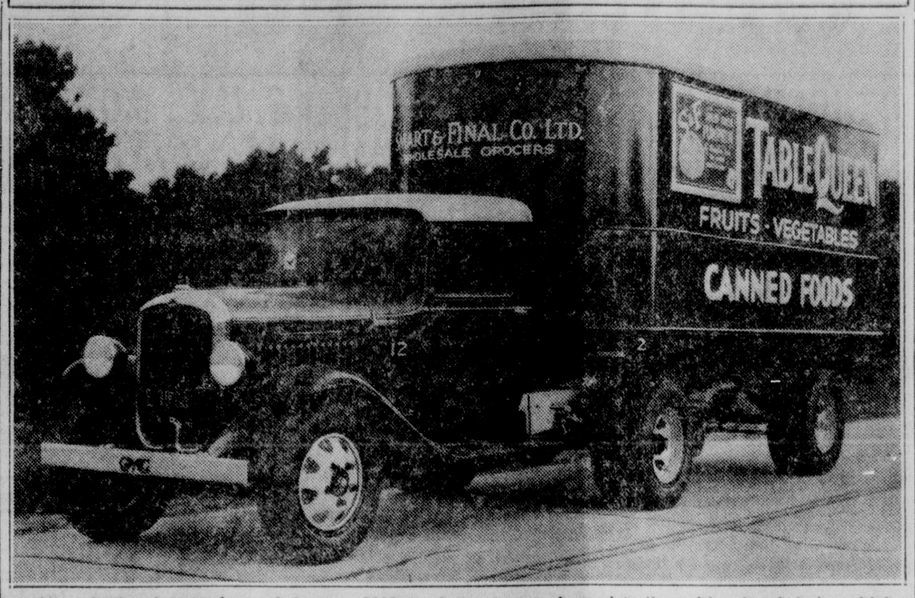

Bruce Britt, driver of the truck, said that the road caved away under the wheels and Allen Bond, riding on the back of the truck, said that Wieman and several others were standing when the vehicle rolled down the 12-foot bank. Edward L. Seymour also gave his version of the accident. California Highway Patrolman Dan Adams described the road and said the wreck occurred one mile from the Silverado road between Silverado canyon and Santiago canyon.

Wieman, a native of Idaho, died nearly 24 hours after being hurt. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital and died of internal injuries. Don Hart, 40, and Harry Chamberlain, 20, were also hurt. George Wallace, state forest patrolman, and Officer A. H. Westermann of Orange were among the first to give aid to the injured.

There was little evidence to present in the inquest over the body of Jose Avilla, who was struck by a car in Westminster near the railroad tracks on Seventeenth street. Delores Pacheco, walking with the youth just prior to the impact, said he heard his friend scream and got a glimpse of a small black car speeding away. It was too dark to get a good description of the car, he said. It was brought out that the boy was walking about nine feet from the curbing but well out of the main-traveled lane of traffic.

Jose Salazar, uncle of the boy, was the identification witness and aCliforniа Highway Patrolman Vernon Barnhill gave details of the scene of the accident.

LATEST ADDITION TO S. AND F. FLEET

Above is the picture of one of the new GMG truck tractors and semi-trailer with closed body which has been added to the delivery fleet of the Smart & Final company of Santa Ana. The new equipment was purchased from the L. P. Mohler Company, GMC dealers for Orange county. Two truck-tractors and four semi-trailers were added to the fleet during the past week.

Determined to maintain its policy of efficient and speedy operation the Smart & Final company of Santa Ana has just made addition to its delivery fleet.

Two GMC truck tractors and four GMC semi-trailers with closed van bodies will augment the already large fleet of trucks and trailers.

These combinations of truck tractor and semi-trailers are used to expedite delivery service. As one trailer is being used on the route the other is being loaded at the warehouse. As soon as the first trailer is unloaded the truck picks up the second and is on its way.

The entire equipment is of GMC manufacture and was sold by L. P. Mohler company, GMC dealers for Orange county.

NEW FORD CARS TO ARRIVE IN S. A. SATURDAY

The new Ford V-8 for 1934 is to be put on display Saturday in more than 7000 Ford dealer showrooms throughout the United States, Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company announced today. George Dunton, Santa Ana dealer, will show the cars here.

As revealed in Detroit by Henry Ford and his son to several score newspaper correspondents, special writers and photographers, the new Ford has greater power, more speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon, especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather, plus refined body lines and a new built-in system of clear-vision body ventilation.

The improvements in engine performance are the result of the use of a new dual down-draft carburetor and dual intake manifold which increase the engine's power approximately 12 per cent and provide a remarkable improvement in pickup, Dunton said.

"The new Ford ventilation system, which is built into the body, permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides the desired amount of fresh air in any weather, while individual control is provided for both front and rear side windows," the announcement says. "This simple ventilation system maintains a draft-free circulation of air and prevents fogging windshields and windows in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air for warm weather driving.

"The distinctive lines of the Ford V-8 have been refined in the 1934 car by a newly-designed radiator shell, grille and other features. Interiors reveal new tufted upholstery and garnish mouldings, a cove-type head lining, new instrument panel, arm rests, door pulls and hardware. Sunvisors are provided in all closed cars, those in the de luxe cars being of swivel type to prevent glare both from the front and sides.

"Fenders on de luxe cars now are in color to harmonize with the body colors. Wheel colors are optional. Bodies are of steel, electrically welded one-piece construction.

"Eleven body types are available. Included are both standard and de luxe types of the Tudor, Fordor, 5-window coupe; the de luxe roadster, phaeton and 3-window coupe, as well as the cabriolet and victoria. The victoria body has been newly-designed, to afford additional passenger room. A large luggage compartment is provided in the rear.

"All body types are equipped with safety glass windshields, while the de luxe body types are fitted with safety glass throughout. The Ford spring design tends to prevent the body from tilting on uneven roads. Corners can be taken safely at relatively high speeds. Both front and rear springs are placed crosswise. This transverse design permits free and easy action of all four wheels because the springs are attached to the axles at their outer flexible tips."

AUTO INDUSTRY GROUP TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

All members of the automotive industry in Orange county have been invited to an open meeting to be held Monday at 8 p. m. in the Southern Counties Gas company offices, 218 West Second street, to hear a talk on "How to Handle Flat Rate Service Sales and the Customer" to be given by A. B. Morris of Los Angeles, counsellor on automotive merchandising.

Harry D Riley, secretary of the Automotive Trades Association of Orange county said that there would be no obligation or collection and non-members of the organization were welcome to attend.

Riley announced that the proposed state code for the automotive industry had been withdrawn and that every effort was being made to hasten the signing of the national code. Final reading on the new document will be given tomorrow in Washington, D. C., and will become effective the first Monday after President Roosevelt signs it. Riley said that because of the magnitude of the industry and the importance of a national code, the president is expected to make little delay in signing.

The Allied Automotive Trades of Southern California, of which Riley is executive secretary and manager, has endorsed the national code and also the stand of the Emergency National Committee on the submission of a nationwide standard. The committee has membership in 35 states with more than 200 associations, representing 70 per cent of the maintenance business in the United States.

AVOCADO MEN TO CONSIDER MARKET PLAN

Climaxing efforts of avocado growers outside the Calavo association toward preparation of a marketing agreement which will be satisfactory both to the Calavo group and the other growers, plans for holding a meeting of the various avocado grower units in Orange, Riverside and Los Angeles and San Diego counties for a round table discussion were announced today by A. R. Marshburn, president of the Orange County Avocado association.

Definite date for the conference is as yet undetermined, but it is known that Chairman Taylor, national head of the Equalization Adjustment b ard, will lead the discussion. Professor F. R. Wilcox, of the agricultural extension service, also will attend the meeting planned.

A movement has been on foot for the past several months to organize growers outside the Calavo into a unit which had as its primary end the preparation of a marketing agreement.

To this end a meeting was held at Oceanside on November 23 at which a marketing agreement was drawn up. The document was not presented to federal authorities, however, upon the advice of Professor Wilcox who asked the five groups of "outside" growers to wait until arangements could be made with Calavo for a round table discussion. Through the offices of H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, this meeting has been arranged and will be timed to coincide with Taylor's visit to California.

Announcement of the meeting comes on the heels of a meeting of the Orange county unit at which Marshburn had assured the directors of his group that no agreement would be accepted by Washington which did not give all growers full representation on a tonnage basis.

The Orange county grower's unit is called the Orange County Avocado Growers Cooperative association. Its president is A. R. Marshburn; vice president, H. H. Gardner; and secretary-treasure, Paul Todd.

The board of directors is made up of: Harry Sharpless, Tustin; D. L. Marshburn, El Modena; H. H. Gardner, Villa Park; Earl Gage, Fullerton; S. James Tuffree, Placentia; A. R. Marshburn, Yorba Linda; and Paul Todd, also of Yorba Linda.

At a meeting of the directors, Marshburn named a committee composed of S. James Tuffree, D. L. Marshburn, and himself as "ex-officio" member, to take definite steps looking toward a centralization of the five Southern California grower groups which met last week at Oceanside.

Court Notes

Clinton Johnson, San Diego, and Donald B. Frank each paid an $8 speeding fine in police court yesterday.

F. Carlson pleaded not guilty in police court yesterday and will have a trial before Judge J. G. Mitchell Tuesday for violation of the city plumbing ordinance.

Mrs. Margaret M. Erwin has filed suit in superior court asking for an interlocutory decree of divorce from Harry Erwin, alleging desertion. In her complaint Mrs. Erwin alleges that they were married in Salt Lake City, Utah, May 14, 1902, and that on February 1, 1929, Erwin deserted her.

Sugar Manufacture Engineer's Topic

Captain James Pettit, chemical engineer, addressed members of the Santa Ana Junior college American Association of Engineers at their meeting Wednesday night held in the college science building. He spoke briefly on his career and then discussed the manufacture of raw cane sugar as well as beet sugar. In his talk he outlined five points in the manufacture of cane sugar, the extraction of juice, clarification of juice, evaporation, crystallization and separation of the juice.

Harold Christensen was appointed to represent the chapter at college executive board meetings and Sam Tucker gave a detailed report on the Boulder dam trip.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Thousands of pile sufferers have not yet learned that quick, safe and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are filled with stagnant blood, weak and flabby. To get rid of Pile misery an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and strengthen the weakened parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt after years of study found a real internal pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and after prescribing it for his patients with a most remarkable record of success, decided every Pile sufferer might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when McCoy's Drug Store and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID tablets and guarantee money refunded if they do not end your Pile misery.

STUDENTS PLAN YULE PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Making plans to decorate Orange Union High school for the Christmas season, combined committees of the Girls' league and of the Boys' forum met this week in the school. It was decided to place a decorated Christmas tree in the main hall and to brighten the hall and auditorium with wreaths and festoons.

Cathryn Brewer, service chairman of the league, and Art Craft, president of the forum, have appointed committees to work on decorations. They include Henrietta Rurup, Betty Ross, Art Pargee, Bill Hart and Cyril Nichols, to obtain and trim the tree; Doris Asher, Edythe Kuester, Bob Bowyer, William Kehlenbrink and Billy Tritt, to place other decorations in the auditorium and in the main hall; Henry Iley, Ray Wagner, Billy Beck and a group of Girl Reserves to take charge of removing decorations and of delivering the gifts which students place under the tree, to the Welfare board.

In accordance with an established custom ,members of the Boys' forum will appoint someone to act as Santa Claus. The clothing class will make his costume.

The program for the Christmas assembly is being worked out by the orchestra and glee clubs under the direction of Percy J. Green. A play, 'A Night at the Inn," is to be presented. The stage crew, composed of Dick Stanley, Miles White and David Wettlin is working on the scenery for the play.

CONCERT GIVEN AT HIGH SCHOOL DECEMBER 17

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Announcement was made Wednesday at a meeting of the city council of the P.-T. A. of a concert to be given December 17 at 4 p. m. at the Orange Union High School, with Miss Rachel Williams directing the young singers. Miss Williams is head of the music department in the Intermediate school. The meeting was an all day affair held in the home of Mrs. H. E. Sisson on Lester drive.

Another announcement of interest was that of the Fourth District president's council to be held all day in Anaheim Friday. Mrs. C. E. Rae of Washington, D. C., national field secretary of the P.-T. A., will be speaker. George Sherwood, city superintendent of grammar schools, told of trips made by classes in nature study work, these trips having included San Juan Capistrano mission, cactus gardens and Laguna Beach, where marine life was studied.

Mrs. Alvin Clifford, welfare chairman, asked that names of needy families to whom Christmas boxes are to be sent, be given to her before December 18. It was decided that associations of the city will aid in selling Christmas seals on the streets from December 9 to December 20, Mrs. L. L. Williams is the chairman.

Mrs. K. A. King, Maple street P.-T. A. president, announced a father's night meeting which is to be held by that association on December 12 at the Episcopal church parish hall. Dr. Graham Hunter of Fullerton will be the speaker.

C. C. C. WORKERS GIVE PROGRAM AT JOINT LEGION MEETING

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—A program of music and tap dances was presented by members of the C.C.C. camp at San Juan Capistrano, at a point meeting of the Orange and Garden Grove American Legion posts at Johnnie's place at Silverado last night when John Richardson opened his building for the event. Dave Clough arranged the program. George Franzen was in charge of arrangements for the event and George Bickford, commander of the Orange post, presided.

Residents of Silverado who were eligible for membership in the Legion were guests. Talks on the Newport harbor bonds were given by Irving George Gordon, city councilman of Newport Beach and Harry C. Grant of Garden Grove.

The Orange Legion members accepted an invitation to attend a Christmas party and dinner sponsored by the auxiliary of the organization on December 18. Members of the two posts accepted an invitation to attend the Elks' show in Santa Ana December 21 and Commanders George Bickford of Orange and Ben Lieberman of Garden Grove are to be present at the dinner preceding the show.

Hold Last Rites For R. A. Brewer

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Funeral services were held Wednesday for Robert A. Brewer, 45, 131 River street, who passed away Monday after a brief illness, services being conducted at the C. W. Coffey Funeral chapel with Dr. Robert Burns McAulay officiating. Interment was made in Central Memorial park. Mrs. C. B. Harper sang "Take the Name of Jesus With You" and "Nearer, My God to Thee." Mrs. Parker Robertson accompanied her at the organ.

Pallbearers were O. A. Haslett, E. Hedges, Albert Profit, Otto Mcbride, H. J. Hansen and R. D. De Witt.

NAME CAPTAIN OF GIRL SCOUT TROOP

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Walter Weiner has been appointed captain of Intermediate Girl Scout troop No. 7, which met Wednesday afternoon at the Scout headquarters in the city hall.

Plans were made for a food sale which will take place Friday noon at the Intermediate school. Madge Campbell and Pauline Stearns, patrol leaders, are in charge.

After the short business meeting, the remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing games.

Girl Scouts In Practice Tests

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Practicing for the tenderfoot test to be given in January, members of the Owl patrol of the Intermediate Girl Scout troop No. 8 met at the home of their leader, Miss Margaret Gregg Wednesday night.

After a period spent learning how to tie the various knots which are required for the test, all present enjoyed an old-fashioned taffey pull.

Those present were Margaret Bjorknan, Edna Horton, Edith Englert, Aline Hewlett, Grace Welty, Louise Billingsley, Armysta Davis, Dorothy Kern, Marilyn Corona, and Miss Helen Meyer, captain of the troop, who assisted Miss Gregg.

NEW FORD V·8 for 1934

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The New Ford V-8 for 1934 will be on display tomorrow at the showrooms of Ford dealers. Surpassing even the great Ford of 1933 in economy, beauty and comfort, it is truly the car of this modern age—the culmination of thirty years Ford progress. It combines the proved performance of the V-8 cylinder engine with two important new features—Dual Carburetion and perfected Clear-vision Ventilation. See it and drive it at the first opportunity.

OUTSTANDING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEW FORD V·8

BETTER PERFORMANCE. Greater power, new speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather—all these result from the new dual carburetor and dual intake manifold. New waterline thermostats enable the engine to warm up more quickly and to maintain an efficient operating temperature. Added engine refinements reduce oil consumption, further improve operating economy and reduce maintenance costs.

NEW VENTILATION SYSTEM permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides desired amount of fresh air in any weather. Individual control for front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired the window glass is raised to the top. Then the handle is given an additional half-turn. This slides the glass back horizontally to form a narrow slot, as illustrated.

Through this slot air is drawn out by the forward motion of the car. This simple ventilation system maintains draft-free circulation, insures passenger comfort, prevents fogging windshield in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air needed for comfortable warm-weather driving.

DISTINCTIVE NEW APPEARANCE enhanced by the newly designed chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new hood louvres, new hub caps. Interiors are attractive, with new tufted upholstery, new mouldings, new cove-type headlining, new instrument panel, new arm rests, new hardware. Swivel-type sun visors in De Luxe bodies prevent glare from front or side.

FENDERS IN COLOR. On De Luxe cars fenders are in color to harmonize with body colors—wheel colors optional. New enamel finish on all bodies and fenders has greater wearing quality and more enduring luster.

GREATER RIDING COMFORT results from increased spring flexibility. The spring leaves are newly designed for quieter and easier action. Shock absorbers are improved. Seat cushions are deeper, with new, softer springs. New type, individual bucket seats provide increased comfort for front-seat passengers in the Tudor Sedan. Adding to comfort is the new driving ease of the 15-to-1 steering gear ratio.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Thousands of pile sufferers have not yet learned that quick, safe and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are filled with stagnant blood, weak and flabby. To get rid of Pile misery an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and strengthen the weakened parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt after years of study found a real internal pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and after prescribing it for his patients with a most remarkable record of success, decided every Pile sufferer might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when McCoy's Drug Store and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID tablets and guarantee money refunded if they do not end your Pile misery.

STUDENTS PLAN YULE PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL

ORANGE, Dec. 8. — Making plans to decorate Orange Union High school for the Christmas season, combined committees of the Girls' league and of the Boys' forum met this week in the school. It was decided to place a decorated Christmas tree in the main hall and to brighten the hall and auditorium with wreaths and festoons.

Cathryn Brewer, service chairman of the league, and Art Craft, president of the forum, have appointed committees to work on decorations. They include Henrietta Rurup, Betty Ross, Art Pargee, Bill Hart and Cyril Nichols, to obtain and trim the tree; Doris Asher, Edythe Kuester, Bob Bowyer, William Kehlenbrink and Billy Tritt, to place other decorations in the auditorium and in the main hall; Henry Iley, Ray Wagner, Billy Beck and a group of Girl Reserves to take charge of removing decorations and of delivering the gifts which students place under the tree, to the Welfare board.

In accordance with an established custom ,members of the Boys' forum will appoint someone to act as Santa Claus. The clothing class will make his costume.

The program for the Christmas assembly is being worked out by the orchestra and glee clubs under the direction of Percy J. Green. A play, 'A Night at the Inn," is to be presented. The stage crew, composed of Dick Stanley, Miles White and David Wettlin is working on the scenery for the play.

CONCERT GIVEN AT HIGH SCHOOL DECEMBER 17

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Announcement was made Wednesday at a meeting of the city council of the P.-T. A. of a concert to be given December 17 at 4 p. m. at the Orange Union High School, with Miss Rachel Williams directing the young singers. Miss Williams is head of the music department in the Intermediate school. The meeting was an all day affair held in the home of Mrs. H. E. Sisson on Lester drive.

Another announcement of interest was that of the Fourth District president's council to be held all day in Anaheim Friday. Mrs. C. E. Rae of Washington, D. C., national field secretary of the P.-T. A., will be speaker. George Sherwood, city superintendent of grammar schools, told of trips made by classes in nature study work, these trips having included San Juan Capistrano mission, cactus gardens and Laguna Beach, where marine life was studied.

Mrs. Alvin Clifford, welfare chairman, asked that names of needy families to whom Christmas boxes are to be sent, be given to her before December 18. It was decided that associations of the city will aid in selling Christmas seals on the streets from December 9 to December 20, Mrs. L. L. Williams is the chairman.

Mrs. K. A. King, Maple street P.-T. A. president, announced a father's night meeting which is to be held by that association on December 12 at the Episcopal church parish hall. Dr. Graham Hunter of Fullerton will be the speaker.

C. C. C. WORKERS GIVE PROGRAM AT JOINT LEGION MEETING

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—A program of music and tap dances was presented by members of the C.C.C. camp at San Juan Capistrano, at a point meeting of the Orange and Garden Grove American Legion posts at Johnnie's place at Silverado last night when John Richardson opened his building for the event. Dave Clough arranged the program. George Franzen was in charge of arrangements for the event and George Bickford, commander of the Orange post, presided.

Residents of Silverado who were eligible for membership in the Legion were guests. Talks on the Newport harbor bonds were given by Irving George Gordon, city councilman of Newport Beach and Harry C. Grant of Garden Grove.

The Orange Legion members accepted an invitation to attend a Christmas party and dinner sponsored by the auxiliary of the organization on December 18. Members of the two posts accepted an invitation to attend the Elks' show in Santa Ana December 21 and Commanders George Bickford of Orange and Ben Lieberman of Garden Grove are to be present at the dinner preceding the show.

PRISCILLA GROUP NAMES COMMITTEE

VILLA PARK, Dec. 8.—The Modern Priscilla club members were guests of their president, Mrs. W. LeRoy Bell at her home on Villa Park road Wednesday afternoon. The home was beautifully decorated, flowering eucalyptus and green branches with red berries being used.

A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Harold T. Brewer, Mrs. H. H. Gardner and Mrs. Walter J. Rasch was appointed. Late in the afternoon the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William J. Sutherland, Mrs. Harry R. Tritt, and Mrs. George Holditch, served lovely refreshments on individual trays. The next meeting will be held early in January at the call of the president.

Those who enjoyed Mrs. Bell's hospitality included Mrs. H. D. Nichols, Mrs. Art Streech, Mrs. Harold T. Brewer, Mrs. H. H. Gardner, Miss Margaret Holditch, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Louis De-Long, Mrs. John R. Ragan, Mrs. Wm. Sutherland, Mrs. Harry R. Tritt, Mrs. George Holditch, Mrs. Roy Adams, Mrs. Joseph N. Hold Last Rites For R. A. Brewer

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Funeral services were held Wednesday for Robert A. Brewer, 45, 131 River street, who passed away Monday after a brief illness, services being conducted at the C. W. Coffey Funeral chapel with Dr. Robert Burns McAulay officiating. Interment was made in Central Memorial park. Mrs. C. B. Harper sang "Take the Name of Jesus With You" and "Nearer, My God to Thee." Mrs. Parker Robertson accompanied her at the organ.

Pallbearers were O. A. Haslett, E. Hedges, Albert Profit, Otto Mcbride, H. J. Hansen and R. D. De Witt.

NAME CAPTAIN OF GIRL SCOUT TROOP

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Walter Weiner has been appointed captain of Intermediate Girl Scout troop No. 7, which met Wednesday afternoon at the Scout headquarters in the city hall.

Plans were made for a food sale which will take place Friday noon at the Intermediate school. Madge Campbell and Pauline Stearns, patrol leaders, are in charge.

After the short business meeting, the remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing games.

Girl Scouts In Practice Tests

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Practicing for the tenderfoot test to be given in January, members of the Owl patrol of the Intermediate Girl Scout troop No. 8 met at the home of their leader, Miss Margaret Gregg Wednesday night.

After a period spent learning how to tie the various knots which are required for the test, all present enjoyed an old-fashioned taffey pull.

Those present were Margaret Bjorknan, Edna Horton, Edith Englert, Aline Hewlett, Grace Welty, Louise Billingsley, Armysta Davis, Dorothy Kern, Marilyn Corona, and Miss Helen Meyer, captain of the troop, who assisted Miss Gregg.

NEW FORD V·8 for 1934

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The New Ford V-8 for 1934 will be on display tomorrow at the showrooms of Ford dealers. Surpassing even the great Ford of 1933 in economy, beauty and comfort, it is truly the car of this modern age—the culmination of thirty years Ford progress. It combines the proved performance of the V-8 cylinder engine with two important new features—Dual Carburetion and perfected Clear-vision Ventilation. See it and drive it at the first opportunity.

OUTSTANDING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEW FORD V·8

BETTER PERFORMANCE. Greater power, new speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather—all these result from the new dual carburetor and dual intake manifold. New waterline thermostats enable the engine to warm up more quickly and to maintain an efficient operating temperature. Added engine refinements reduce oil consumption, further improve operating economy and reduce maintenance costs.

NEW VENTILATION SYSTEM permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides desired amount of fresh air in any weather. Individual control for front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired the window glass is raised to the top. Then the handle is given an additional half-turn. This slides the glass back horizontally to form a narrow slot, as illustrated.

Through this slot air is drawn out by the forward motion of the car. This simple ventilation system maintains draft-free circulation, insures passenger comfort, prevents fogging windshield in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air needed for comfortable warm-weather driving.

FENDERS IN COLOR. On De Luxe cars fenders are in color to harmonize with body colors—wheel colors optional. New enamel finish on all bodies and fenders has greater wearing quality and more enduring luster.

GREATER RIDING COMFORT results from increased spring flexibility. The spring leaves are newly designed for quieter and easier action. Shock absorbers are improved. Seat cushions are deeper, with new, softer springs. New type, individual bucket seats provide increased comfort for front-seat passengers in the Tudor Sedan. Adding to comfort is the new driving ease of the 15-to-1 steering gear ratio.

Should I Vote For The Newport Harbor Bonds December 19th?

(An Editorial)

This question should be asked by every voter in Orange county.

The data should be examined, the facts clearly understood, the arguments weighed, the conclusions squared with the facts and arguments, and the vote cast in harmony with it all.

WHY IS IT THAT MANY MEN AND WOMEN, WHO HAVE OPPOSED EVERY BOND ISSUE OF THEIR CITY AND COUNTY FOR THE PAST FIVE YEARS, ARE IN FAVOR OF THIS PARTICULAR ISSUE OF BONDS TO COMPLETE THE HARBOR AT NEWPORT BEACH?

Why are there different conclusions reached, in respect to these particular bonds, than in respect to any other bond issue that has come before the voters?

That is a fair question.

Let us see!

The reason why they have arrived at the different conclusion is because the set of facts is entirely different than any ordinary bond issue.

Note these facts which have brought about this change in the minds of all those normally against bonds.

FIRST, THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, SEEKING OPPORTUNITIES TO USE MONEY FOR PUBLIC WORKS, STANDS READY TO PUT UP TWO-THIRDS OF THE AMOUNT OF MONEY REQUIRED FOR COMPLETION OF THIS HARBOR FOR THE ENTERPRISE NOW.

SECOND, THE OTHER THIRD OF THE MONEY, NAMELY, THE $640,000 REQUIRED FOR THE COMPLETION OF THE HARBOR, WILL ALSO BE GRANTED BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, AS A LOAN FOR 30 YEARS AT FOUR PER CENT, THROUGH THE PURCHASE OF OUR BONDS.

This, in itself, makes it a different proposition than any other bond issue ever presented to the people of any municipality in Orange county or to Orange county itself.

Uncle Sam lays down the entire money, for the greatest improvement that could be made in any one place in Orange county for the same amount of money, and only requires one-third of it to ever be returned.

This is one great difference.

But a second one!

IT IS AN INVESTMENT BY THE PEOPLE OF THE COUNTY WHICH WILL PAY MANY TIMES OVER THE AMOUNT INVESTED, INSTEAD OF BEING AN ADDITIONAL BURDEN UPON THE TAXPAYER.

This is the second reason that is appealing to those who are normally against bonds.

They have examined into the question.

They have found that this harbor, completed as it will be under the provisions of this program by Federal engineers, will add to the permanent assessed valuation of property in and around the harbor district, including as far as Santa Ana, more than enough to take care of the county's share of these taxes many-fold over during these years.

It is significant that they have found that Newport Beach, since 1921, has had an increased assessed valuation of 300 per cent, while the county, in the same period of time, has increased by 14 per cent.

In addition to this increase in real property, they have discovered there would be possibly 3000 yachts come into this harbor and make it their permanent registered home.

This in itself will bring several million additional dollars of assessed valuation to the county.

These men who have examined this have discovered again that there will be certainly one man per yacht permanently employed.

This makes 3000 additional men.

With their families, it makes several thousand more.

It means the building of homes, the employment of architects and masons and carpenters and plasterers and painters.

IN OTHER WORDS, THOSE NORMALLY OPPOSED TO BONDS SEE THAT THIS, INSTEAD OF BEING AN EXPENSE UPON THE TAXPAYER, IS BOUND TO BE AN INVESTMENT WHICH, BECAUSE OF THE GIFT FROM THE GOVERNMENT, WILL RETURN MANY-FOLD TO THE GENERAL VALUES OF THE COUNTY AND SAVE THE TAXPAYER FROM ALL BURDENS.

Owing to the fact that the government does take over all the burden immediately from the taxpayer, by furnishing all the money, and two-thirds of the burden forever, it leaves the total amount of the tax, even if there were no additional values as the result of it, but 26 cents on a home worth $3000 and assessed for a valuation of $1000.

THESE ARE THE REASONS WHY THE USUAL ANTI-BOND FIGHTERS ARE TODAY THE PRO-BOND FIGHTERS FOR THE NEWPORT HARBOR PROJECT.

Note—never again is it likely that the Federal government will give us the opportunity that is now before Orange county.

THE OPPORTUNITY TO RECEIVE OVER A MILLION DOLLARS AS A GIFT FOR ONE GREAT OUTSTANDING ENTERPRISE WILL NEVER KNOCK AT OUR DOOR AGAIN.

It comes now only because the President and his advisors are seeking places for the use of public funds for the purpose of employment of help.

We have been seeking for years the opportunity from the government to match dollar for dollar.

We have never been able to get a Congressional committee to accept it.

But today we are having the government furnish 2 for 1, and then loan the other dollar, until the actual increase of values will enable us to get the money from additional assessments, without burdening the people whatever.

We have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars of Orange county's money for labor in welfare work, and you can scarcely see a solitary enterprise of value that is the result.

Here we have the opportunity to get nearly two million dollars, 70 per cent of which will be spent in labor directly, and this in turn multiplying itself, as it goes on from the original recipients to the butcher and baker and candlestick maker, on through the whole line.

Notice what has been developed in Doheny Park.

Doheny Park, consisting of 1000 acres, assessed at $50 an acre before development, and now with its improvements, ornamental lights, parkways, trees, etc., costing over one million dollars, is assessed on the basis of five lots to the acre, average value $500 per lot, establishing a valuation of $2,500,000.

DO NOT LET THIS GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR ORANGE COUNTY FAIL BECAUSE OF YOUR INDIFFERENCE.

Do not turn down this opportunity for the use of two million dollars in Orange county, blessing the unemployed and the near-unemployed and the merchants and the property owners and yourself.

Remember that this money is to be placed somewhere.

The $3,300,000,000 by the government is being used.

Everywhere the President is asking only the evidence that the people believe that it is a worthwhile project in order to grant this money.

All we need to say by our vote is: "Yes, here is a worthwhile project."

Here on the Pacific coast where there are few natural harbors, where we will have greater anchorage for vessels and yachts than any other point between San Francisco and San Diego!

Here on the Pacific Coast, where the development of the next few years for trade with the Orient will surpass certainly the earlier years of history of the Atlantic coast.

ORANGE COUNTY WILL EVIDENCE HER INTELLIGENCE, HER DISCRIMINATION, HER JUDGMENT, BY GIVING AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY FOR THIS MAGNIFICENT ENTERPRISE.

'OUR ROMANTIC PRESIDENTS' ON KREG TONIGHT

Another episode in the series entitled "Our Romantic Presidents" will be broadcast tonight from KREG at 8 o'clock, a CBS feature. This interesting program, scheduled each Friday at this time, describes the personal lives of our former presidents, and is now portraying the life of Washington. It is replete with dramatic situations and is authentic in every respect, according to program officials.

Two CBS features to be broadcast from KREG tomorrow afternoon are "Inside the Studios," at 3 o'clock, and "Oral Lornettes," at 3:30. The former is a most informal discussion of what is going on at various radio stations throughout Southern California and is critical in its description of the various activities. "Oral Lornettes" is a musical program featuring Adalyn La Claire.

This committee is sponsoring the court case of Hamilton-Reynolds to determine the legal right of the board of regents to deprive students of a state-provided education because of conscientious and religious convictions.

JAYCEE DEBATERS WIN CITRUS TILT

Santa Ana Junior college was back in the running for the Southern California jaysee debate championship today following a victory at Azusa yesterday when a negative team composed of Claude Owens and Walter Kring won a decision over Citrus Junior college.

The debate was the second of the week for Santa Ana on the league question, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt a system of radio control and operation patterned after the British system." An affirmative team composed of Harold Woodard and Robert Tannenbaum lost a close decision to Riverside here Tuesday evening. Wednesday, Riverside lost to Fullerton.

Yesterday's victory completed Santa Ana's league schedule for the first semester of the school year. A different question will be selected by conference schools for next semester according to John H. McCoy, jaysee debate coach.

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

PORT PROJECT OUTLINED FOR FORUM GROUP

FULLERTON, Dec. 8.—Speaking on the issues to appear on the ballot December 19, Walter Humphries, chairman of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce water committee; R. L. Patterson, Newport Beach city engineer, and James L. Davis, deputy district attorney, addressed the Fullerton Public forum in the Fullerton union high school music hall Thursday night. They were introduced by Charles L. Ruby, forum director.

Humphreys said that the Central valley project would employ 25,000 men for three years and not cost the state anything or put her under obligation. He said it would solve the water problems of the Central valley and the transportation of the Northern California excess water to the district would iffigate the San Joaquin valley.

In outlining the arguments against this bill, Humphreys declared that it would involve unnecessary new lands; the water cost would be $8 an acre foot more than the farmers and ranchers could afford to pay. He questioned whether the power could be sold due to overproduction. The act allows any agency to help finance it, it would encourage unfair policies and the water transportation would create litigation difficult to solve, he declared.

Explaining the advantages to be derived from the Newport harbor proposition Patterson stated that it is the county's first opportunity in 18 years to obtain government help. It will provide employment for 230 men for one year, offering a bay suitable for coastwise commercial vessels, fishing chaft and the lighter navq ships.

Giving a resume of both addresses and urging the acceptance of the harbor project Davis said, "The government is making us a gift of $1,200,000 and is loaning us our third of the cost, $640,000, at 4 per cent. The harbor proposition will create jobs and will help to take care of Orange county's unemployed."

225 ATTEND AID SOCIETY DINNER

FULLERTON, Dec. 8. — More than 225 attended the "jitney supper," served by the ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church Thursday night. Mrs. Chal Shannon, president of the Aid, was general chairman.

Mrs. Chesley was in charge of salads; Mrs. Klahn was in charge of dessert; Mrs. Youngs in charge of the brown bread and beans; Mrs. Victor Porter, decorations; Mrs. Smith, table serving and Mrs. E. M. Cooper, candy and popcorn balls, while Mrs. Williams was general chairman of the kitchen.

NEW PUNCH BOARD RACKET UNCOVERED

ANAHEIM, Dec. 8.—Police authorities began a hunt yesterday afternoon for two men who entered Anaheim yesterday and opened a new punch board racket, the result being that Hugh E. Gallaher, proprietor of the California Confectionary at 233 West Center street, was out $10.

Earlier in the day Gallaher bought a punch board for 75 cents from a salesman. Soon after the salesman left another man entered and putting down 50 cents took a punch at the board drawing out a number that paid 10 to 1. Gallaher paid him the required $5 and the man took another punch, winning another 10 to 1 number. Gallaher demurred at paying this time declaring that he would call in the police, but the customer also demurred and in a "bluff" declared he too would call in police. Gallaher paid him another $5.

When police officers arrived the man had disappeared and Gallaher was ordered to put the punch board away as it is illegal.

CITY ASKS BIDS ON LIGHTING PROJECT

ANAHEIM, Dec. 8.—While a definite date for beginning work on the revamping of the city's municipal lighting project has not yet been set, the city began advertising for bids for materials yesterday. The bids will be opened the first meeting of the city council in January.

Mayor Charles H. Mann, City Clerk John Price, and E. A. Hapgood visited with authorities in Los Angeles on Wednesday to set a date for the work. The city was asked for more detailed plans and specifications that will be sent to the Los Angeles headquarters the first of next week.

This project is being financed by city and federal monies, a grant of $15,000 having been made Anaheim by the federal government. The entire project will cost approximately $51,000.

Civic Body Urges Citrus Purchases By U. S. For Needy

FULLERTON, Dec. 8.—Fullerton Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday went on record as favoring government purchase of oranges, as is being done in other commodities, for distribution among the welfare agencies.

Other businesses of the chamber included naming of a committee to investigate how the $20,000,000 bond issue voted last spring is being used. A erport will be presented next Thursday. Those interested in the Newport Beach water projects are urged to attend a meeting at McFarland's cafe next Thursday to hear a discussion of the project with directors.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR RELIEF CORPS

FULLERTON, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Vera Smith was elected president of the Woman's Relief corps of Fullerton at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon. Other officers, who will be installed in January, are Mrs. Emma Gilmore, senior vice president; Mrs. Gladys Taylor, junior vice president; Mrs. Etta Countess, treasurer; Mrs. Clara Schill, chaplain; Mrs. Beatrice DeLapp, conductress; and Mrs. Erma Jones, guard.

The business meeting followed the dinner, which was served by Mrs. Babel Dalessi and her committee. Comrade Stuelke was a special guest. Mrs. Clara Gauldin was initiated as a new member.

The report of the welfare and visiting committee showed that floral pieces had been distributed and 49 personal and telephone calls made, while clothing distributed to $23.50.

Delegates for the next annual convention to be held at Long Beach were appointed, Mabel Stevenson, Anna Dorn, Nannie Cooper and Dora Riley; alternates are Gladys Taylor, Ruth Holcroft, Rena Keller and Clara Swift.

'OUR ROMANTIC PRESIDENTS' ON KREG TONIGHT

Another episode in the series entitled "Our Romantic Presidents" will be broadcast tonight from KREG at 8 o'clock, a CBS feature. This interesting program, scheduled each Friday at this time, describes the personal lives of our former presidents, and is now portraying the life of Washington. It is replete with dramatic situations and is authentic in every respect, according to program officials.

Two CBS features to be broadcast from KREG tomorrow afternoon are "Inside the Studios," at 3 o'clock, and "Oral Lornettes," at 3:30. The former is a most informal discussion of what is going on at various radio stations throughout Southern California and is critical in its description of the various activities. "Oral Lornettes" is a musical program featuring Adalyn La Claire.

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

PORT PROJECT OUTLINED FOR FORUM GROUP

FULLERTON, Dec. 8.—Speaking on the issues to appear on the ballot December 19, Walter Humphries, chairman of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce water committee; R. L. Patterson, Newport Beach city engineer, and James L. Davis, deputy district attorney, addressed the Fullerton Public forum in the Fullerton union high school music hall Thursday night. They were introduced by Charles L. Ruby, forum director.

Humphreys said that the Central valley project would employ 25,000 men for three years and not cost the state anything or put her under obligation. He said it would solve the water problems of the Central valley and the transportation of the Northern California excess water to the district would iffigate the San Joaquin valley.

In outlining the arguments against this bill, Humphreys declared that it would involve unnecessary new lands; the water cost would be $8 an acre foot more than the farmers and ranchers could afford to pay. He questioned whether the power could be sold due to overproduction. The act allows any agency to help finance it, it would encourage unfair policies and the water transportation would create litigation difficult to solve, he declared.

Explaining the advantages to be derived from the Newport harbor proposition Patterson stated that it is the county's first opportunity in 18 years to obtain government help. It will provide employment for 230 men for one year, offering a bay suitable for coastwise commercial vessels, fishing chaft and the lighter navy ships.

Giving a resume of both addresses and urging the acceptance of the harbor project Davis said. "The government is making us a gift of $1,200,000 and is loaning us our third of the cost, $640,000, at 4 per cent. The harbor proposition will create jobs and will help to take care of Orange county's unemployed."

225 ATTEND AID SOCIETY DINNER

FULLERTON, Dec. 8. — More than 225 attended the "jitney supper," served by the ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church Thursday night. Mrs. Chal Shannon, president of the Aid, was general chairman.

Mrs. Chesley was in charge of salads; Mrs. Klahn was in charge of dessert; Mrs. Youngs in charge of the brown bread and beans; Mrs. Victor Porter, decorations; Mrs. Smith, table serving and Mrs. E. M. Cooper, candy and popcorn balls, while Mrs. Williams was general chairman of the kitchen.

NEW PUNCH BOARD RACKET UNCOVERED

ANAHEIM, Dec. 8.—Police authorities began a hunt yesterday afternoon for two men who entered Anaheim yesterday and opened a new punch board racket, the result being that Hugh E. Gallaher, proprietor of the California Confectionary at 233 West Center street, was out $10.

Earlier in the day Gallaher bought a punch board for 75 cents from a salesman. Soon after the salesman left another man entered and putting down 50 cents took a punch at the board drawing out a number that paid 10 to 1. Gallaher paid him the required $5 and the man took another punch, winning another 10 to 1 number. Gallaher demurred at paying this time declaring that he would call in the police, but the customer also demurred and in a "bluff" declared he too would call in police. Gallaher paid him another $5.

When police officers arrived the man had disappeared and Gallaher was ordered to put the punch board away as it is illegal.

CITY ASKS BIDS ON LIGHTING PROJECT

ANAHEIM, Dec. 8.—While a definite date for beginning work on the revamping of the city's municipal lighting project has not yet been set, the city began advertising for bids for materials yesterday. The bids will be opened the first meeting of the city council in January.

Mayor Charles H. Mann, City Clerk John Price, and E. A. Hapgood visited with authorities in Los Angeles on Wednesday to set a date for the work. The city was asked for more detailed plans and specifications that will be sent to the Los Angeles headquarters the first of next week.

This project is being financed by city and federal monies, a grant of $15,000 having been made Anaheim by the federal government. The entire project will cost approximately $51,000.

Civic Body Urges Citrus Purchases By U. S. For Needy

FULLERTON, Dec. 8.—Fullerton Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday went on record as favoring government purchase of oranges, as is being done in other commodities, for distribution among the welfare agencies.

Other businesses of the chamber included naming of a committee to investigate how the $20,000,000 bond issue voted last spring is being used. A erport will be presented next Thursday. Those interested in the Newport Beach water projects are urged to attend a meeting at McFarland's cafe next Thursday to hear a discussion of the project with directors.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR RELIEF CORPS

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

TEETHING

The chief topics of conversation behind official doors in Washington nowadays appear at first blush to be monetary policy, taxes, prohibition repeal and then what?

But under the surface a bitter fight is in the making on a subject unrelated to these three.

The real knift-whetting is over the proposal to pull some of the teeth from the Securities Act. A New York lobby to force amendmen of the law designed to protect investors has moved into town and is working full force.

• • •

Everything is being done very quietly but those who have felt the force of the pressure—direct and indirect—say it is terrific.

Brokers, corporation officials, bankers and promoters want the punitive clauses softened.

The last semi-official word from the White House indicated the administration wanted the act left alone. But this was over a month ago and a lot of water has flowed under the bridge since.

For instance Chairman Fletcher of the Senate Banking and Currency committee announced the other day that the Securities law would be modified. His pronouncement had the ring of authority. President Roosevelt happened still to be in Warm Springs at the time but the impression got around that Senator Fletcher had talked to Acting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, who had just returned from the Georgia resort.

Then the president got back. Fletcher called on him. On his way out the senator wasn't nearly so emphatic. He would say only that Mr. Roosevelt had asked his committee to study the law further.

Sources on Capitol Hill hear even that an effort was made by some of the Wall Street boys to trade with the administration. They recalled the $727,000,000 refunding operation the treasury is up against next week. It could be financed much easier if there were any assurance the Securities act's claws would be trimmed.

It is not meant to imply here that any such deal was consummated. Information in the Senate Office building went only to the point that such a suggestion had been dropped where it was supposed to do some good.

Meanwhile prominent New York lawyers are ducking in and out of senatorial offices to plant their most persuasive arguments for an easing of the law's restrictions.

The final angle of the picture encases the group of brain trusters who drafted the original measure and their colleagues who think very strongly it should be left as it is.

Prof. James M. Landis, who came down to put the bill into operation and remained to become a member of the Federal Trade Commission; Prof. Rex Tugwell and others of the Felix Frankfurter school of philosophy are up in arms over the question.

At the Federal Trade Commission they tell you the law isn't interfering with marketing of securities nor is it putting any honest man into jail.

• • •

DESERTIONS

In some usually well-informed circles these rumors of resignations have gone the rounds—the idea being a protest against meddling with the Securities Act.

Others have been forecast as a result of the internal row between Farm Administrator Peek and Assistant Secretary Tugwell over agricultural policy.

It is true the hotel suites have echoed such threats in the course of friendly evening gatherings. But no such wholesale desertions of the administration will materialize.

• • •

Tugwell has been pointed to, but those who speculate on his resignation overlook one factor.

The Columbia professor may not be seeing eye to eye with Peek. But he has other duties as Assistant Agriculture Secretary.

One of them is the piloting of his own pet Food and Drug Bill through Congress. He has a sweet fight on his hands. He is NOT a man to quit for some other reason in the middle of a fight.

• • •

WORKING

NRA is just about set to make its first definite claim of reemployment under the Blue Eagle. You may expect it in a day or two.

The Census Bureau has been working over-time on the compilation. Some 3,000,000 forms were distributed to employers. Everybody under a code with two or more employees was supposed to fill one out.

The Bureau's figures will show how many were employed in such shops on June 15 before the Eagle took off and how many were working as of Oct. 15.

• • •

Other statistics will embrace comparative wage schedules.

The Census is working on a meticulous nose-count for Civil Works Administrator Harry Hopkins. This one will show as nearly as humanly possible how many unemployed there are in the country.

It will be available about January 15.

• • •

CODES

An Executive Order extending the life of the President's Reemployment Agreements (the blanket code) will be forthcoming any day now.

Ordinarily the PRA'S would expire December 31. The work of codification isn't nearly done yet.

Just short of 150 codes have been signed. There are 7,000 industries. NRA has it figured out if they get up to the 350 mark their work will be done insofar as the dotted line is concerned.

NOTES

"If there's any inconsistency in that clause it's your fault because you wrote it," snapped back the Senator....The two had conferred last year on the disputed clause but Glass couldn't persuade Aldrich the language was as he dictated....All of these reemployment and unemployment censuses are giving people jobs in themselves....It's a giant's task to poll the nation.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

CONVERSION

New York has plans afoot to whet security buyers' appetites for industrial bonds. Maturities of a billion and a half in the next few months stiffen the problem. R. F. C. financing doesn't appeal to bankers—or to industry—as a happy answer. Hence the strenuous effort to find an alternative to wholesale default.

The main obstacle is that bondholders are bothered about loss of real income through dollar depreciation or other inflation. Careful preliminary surveys indicate that they will look the other way when refunding issues are mentioned. They won't eat their spinach unless they see cake to come.

The cake to be offered will be the privilege of exchanging bonds for stock at the holder's option. Publicly sponsored by economist Warren Persons—not to be confused with Professors Warren and Pearson of gold theory fame—the plan has very strong local backing. It would offer bond buyers normal security plus a chance to cut in on whatever recovery profits develop.

The two biggest refundings of '33—American Rolling Mills and General Refractories—followed this system. The first offered straight conversion and the second options to buy stock at a price now below the market. It worked well in both cases.

The neatest part from the Wall Street angle would be elimination of the government from the financing picture if the idea goes over. Some industrial managements object because of possible impairment of voting control when conversion takes place. But most would rather take a chance on that than invite the R. F. C. to drop in for tea with the prospect that the guest might want to rearrange the furniture.

SECURITIES

Local investment bankers take the report that congress will tone down the securities act at the president's request with sacks of salt. The only hope for relief they see is that congress might let up on them a trifle if allowed to gorge its fill on the stock exchange and the banks. It probably will be.

• • •

REFUNDING

If you had any qualms about the treasury's $727,000,000 refunding on December 15 you can forget them. Everything has been arranged for smooth and successful action. The banks may holler their heads off about sound money but they still rate Uncle Sam's short terms as the best investment they can get. Ex-Wall Streeter Earle Bailie handled the negotiations for the treasury and got along fine with the boys.

• • •

BONDS

If the government really wants to know who was depressing its securities by lending them to short sellers it will lay off the banks and inquire about certain large independent dealers. They are always ready to turn a penny and the federal reserve can do nothing about them.

• • •

LOLLIPOP

The local conservatives' demand that the government do something about sound money has abated. They would be satisfied to have the president declare once more that he favors it. He probably will. An observer comments that they are like the five-year-old who started by asking for the moon and wound up content with a lollipop.

• • •

New York hears whispers of a stiff tax to be imposed on all foreign exchange transactions except those for legitimate trade purposes. The idea would be to check an influx of unwanted foreign capital when the dollar steadies down and also to make the patriots who were in such a hurry to export their money pay the freight when they want to bring it back. Local experts believe such a tax would give us much better control over our domestic capital market and if it socks those who fled——who cares except those whose eye gets blacked?

• • •

The dawn of repeal finds plenty of first-class fights brewing among men interested in liquor. Whiskey wholesalers are furious at alleged attempts by National Distillers and Schenley to horn in on their business through subsidiaries and threaten to take their case to congress. If half they say is true it would be an unpleasant kick on the shins for those who maintain that the industry will be pure and dignified.

Then there will be a battle-royal against the New York state ruling that only restaurants that have been in business at one location for at least a year can get licenses to sell. That knocked a lot of bright young ambitious for a loop. Opponents will point out how much will be lost in taxes and license fees—not to mention employment from new construction. They will probably get their way when the legislature meets next spring.

Expert legal advice is that Isidor Kresel—lawyer for the closed Bank of the United States—will never serve his jail sentence. High authority says it was a lucky break for him that Judge Taylor charged the jury in such a way as to leave plenty of loopholes on which John W. Davis—Kresel's attorney—could base an appeal. Legal authorities are confident that the verdict will be reversed in the higher courts.

• • •

SIDELIGHTS

Lots of people think silver is valuable....About 60,000,000 ounces are stored in the vaults of New York banks....That's four or five times as much as a year ago.... Revival is well under way in Britain, Germany and Canada.... France is lagging.

HEALTH MEANS CHARM AND HAPPINESS

Sparkling eyes and smiling lips speak of health and vitality. Clear skin attracts. The healthy active girl is both happy and popular.

Perhaps you are not really ill yet when the day's work is done you are too tired to enter into the good times that other women enjoy. For extra energy, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It tones up your general health. Gives you more pep—more charm.

Remember that 98 out of 100 women report benefit. Let it help you too.

Stomach disorders . . . skin troubles . . . dangerous illnesses . . . from "waste-product" feeding

See your veterinarian. Just as you see your dentist or your doctor, your dog needs and deserves a regular examination. A competent veterinarian will give him a thorough check-up for a very small fee.

VETERINARIANS say they've never been busier since the flood of cheap and poorly balanced dog foods has come onto the market!

Dog owners can't be blamed. They naturally think that all prepared foods are good enough. And the dog can't tell you . . . until it is too late . . . until he actually shows signs of illness.

Play Safe!

Why risk losing your dog, or having him suffer? You can get a scientifically correct food for him at your grocer's. It is not expensive . . . won't cost you over a few cents a month more than the cheapest food.

The name of it is Balto. And it is not a by-product, not "boneyard" scraps. It is made from whole, fresh-caught fish, properly cooked, ground and blended. With just the right amount of carbohydrates and other elements to make it exactly suited to your pet's needs. The arctic huskies—healthiest dogs in the world—live principally on fish, remember.

A great university, scores of veterinarians, many kennel owners have tested Balto. They have fed it to hundreds of dogs, of all breeds. Without exception they pronounce it safe. They recommend it as a sure way to protect your dog from the dangers of inferior types of foods. Coast Fishing Company, Wilmington, California.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Dec. 8.—Four couples played bridge at the Van Buren street home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson recently. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Millholland, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Kirkham and Harry Lee Schmidt. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

A Sunday guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson was Miss Carolyn Cragin of Santa Ana, cousin of Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mansperger spent Sunday in Los Angeles with Mrs. Mansperger's relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard motored to Los Angeles with Mrs. James Simms, their house guest this week, and returning, were accompanied by Mrs. Hazard's mother, Mrs. Daniel Brentlinger, who had been visiting relatives in that city.

The Rev. J. J. Woodson, for four years pastor of the local Nazarene church, and Mrs. Woodson are expected to arrive Dec. 18 to spend Christmas in this section. Mr. Woodson has a leave of absence of two weeks from the Bethel church at Chowchilla, and Mrs. Woodson plans on remaining for a month.

Mrs. Clark and mother, who arrived recently from Arizona and have been with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rood, have moved to the house on Van Buren street formerly occupied by the Handels.

LOLLIPOP

The local conservatives' demand that the government do something about sound money has abated. They would be satisfied to have the president declare once more that he favors it. He probably will. An observer comments that they are like the five-year-old who started by asking for the moon and wound up content with a lollipop.

CHECK

New York hears whispers of a stiff tax to be imposed on all foreign exchange transactions except those for legitimate trade purposes. The idea would be to check an influx of unwanted foreign capital when the dollar steadies down and also to make the patriots who were in such a hurry to export their money pay the freight when they want to bring it back. Local experts believe such a tax would give us much better control over our domestic capital market and if it socks those who fled——who cares except those whose eye gets blacked?

LIQUOR

The dawn of repeal finds plenty of first-class fights brewing among men interested in liquor. Whiskey wholesalers are furious at alleged attempts by National Distillers and Schenley to horn in on their business through subsidiaries and threaten to take their case to congress. If half they say is true it would be an unpleasant kick on the shins for those who maintain that the industry will be pure and dignified.

Then there will be a battle-royal against the New York state ruling that only restaurants that have been in business at one location for at least a year can get licenses to sell. That knocked a lot of bright young ambitious for a loop. Opponents will point out how much will be lost in taxes and license fees—not to mention employment from new construction. They will probably get their way when the legislature meets next spring.

KRESEL

Expert legal advice is that Isidor Kresel—lawyer for the closed Bank of the United States—will never serve his jail sentence. High authority says it was a lucky break for him that Judge Taylor charged the jury in such a way as to leave plenty of loopholes on which John W. Davis—Kresel's attorney—could base an appeal. Legal authorities are confident that the verdict will be reversed in the higher courts.

SIDELIGHTS

Lots of people think silver is valuable....About 60,000,000 ounces are stored in the vaults of New York banks....That's four or five times as much as a year ago.... Revival is well under way in Britain, Germany and Canada.... France is lagging.

HEALTH MEANS CHARM AND HAPPINESS

Sparkling eyes and smiling lips speak of health and vitality. Clear skin attracts. The healthy active girl is both happy and popular.

Perhaps you are not really ill yet when the day's work is done you are too tired to enter into the good times that other women enjoy. For extra energy, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It tones up your general health. Gives you more pep—more charm.

Remember that 99 out of 100 women report benefit. Let it help you too.

VETERINARIANS say they've never been busier since the flood of cheap and poorly balanced dog foods has come onto the market!

Dog owners can't be blamed. They naturally think that all prepared foods are good enough. And the dog can't tell you . . . until it is too late . . . until he actually shows signs of illness.

Play Safe!

Why risk losing your dog, or having him suffer? You can get a scientifically correct food for him at your grocer's. It is not expensive . . . won't cost you over a few cents a month more than the cheapest food.

The name of it is Balto. And it is not a by-product, not "boneyard" scraps. It is made from whole, fresh-caught fish, properly cooked, ground and blended. With just the right amount of carbohydrates and other elements to make it exactly suited to your pet's needs. The arctic huskies—healthiest dogs in the world—live principally on fish, remember.

A great university, scores of veterinarians, many kennel owners have tested Balto. They have fed it to hundreds of dogs, of all breeds. Without exception they pronounce it safe. They recommend it as a sure way to protect your dog from the dangers of inferior types of foods. Coast Fishing Company, Wilmington, California.

See your veterinarian. Just as you see your dentist or your doctor, your dog needs and deserves a regular examination. A competent veterinarian will give him a thorough check-up for a very small fee.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Dec. 8.—Four couples played bridge at the Van Buren street home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson recently. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Millholland, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Kirkham and Harry Lee Schmidt. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

A Sunday guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson was Miss Carolyn Cragin of Santa Ana, cousin of Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mansperger spent Sunday in Los Angeles with Mrs. Mansperger's relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard motored to Los Angeles with Mrs. James Simms, their house guest this week, and returning, were accompanied by Mrs. Hazard's mother, Mrs. Daniel Brentlinger, who had been visiting relatives in that city.

The Rev. J. J. Woodson, for four years pastor of the local Nazarene church, and Mrs. Woodson are expected to arrive Dec. 18 to spend Christmas in this section. Mr. Woodson has a leave of absence of two weeks from the Bethel church at Chowchilla, and Mrs. Woodson plans on remaining for a month.

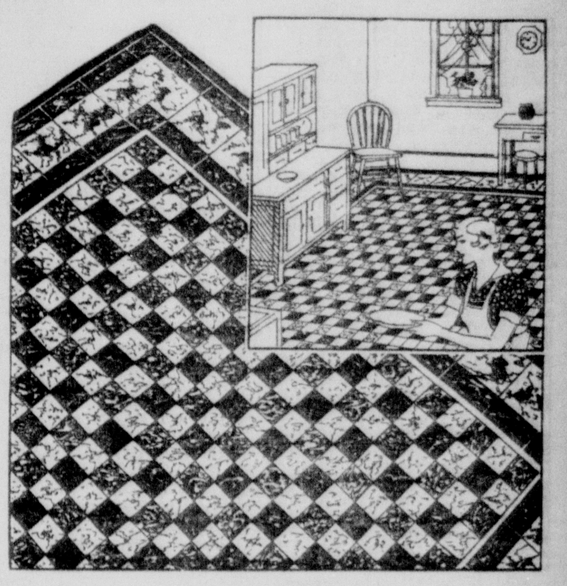

Mrs. Clark and mother, who arrived recently from Arizona and have been with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rood, have moved to the house on Van Buren street formerly occupied by the Handels.

TUCSON FOLK LIKE 'TEX'

And do they like Our Gerald down there at Tucson? We'll let you use your own judgment after scanning this clipping, lifted from a Tucson newspaper:

"University of Arizona athletic department officials, athletes and townspeople joined today to praise G. A. (Tex.) Oliver for his successful direction of the Wildcat team during the season that recently terminated. It was Oliver's first season as head football coach of the institution, and the Wildcats emerged victorious in five games while losing only three, two of which were practically conceded due to the fact that the opponents were considered much stronger.

"J. F. McKale, former football coach and now director of athletics, lauded Oliver with the following statement:

"'Oliver did splendidly as coach of the team. From the outset I had great confidence in his ability and, needless to say, I certainly had no reason for disappointment. The schedule was difficult, but the losses to Texas Tech and Loyola were by such small margins that they could almost be considered victories.

"'Aside from being a great coach, Oliver is a fine example for our athletes as a man, and, above all, he emphasizes sportsmanship to the players.'

"Arizona held Loyola to a 14-13 score when the most optimistic supporters of the team predicted a three-touchdown triumph for the strong Los Angeles team.

"A week later Arizona held Texas Tech to a 7-0 score, and Tech later defeated some of the strongest teams in the southwest, including Baylor, conqueror of Texas university, by 13 points. Their last game was with Kansas State, in which they eked out a 6-0 victory.

"The only other Arizona defeat was received from New Mexico, at Albuquerque. The score was 7-0.

"Victories were registered over Whittier, 26-0; Flagstaff, 24-0; Tempe, 27-6; Occidental, 18-0, and the New Mexico Aggies, 6-0.

"Arizone scored 118 points to 34 for its opponents, and the only game in which it was consistently outplayed was with Texas Tech.

"The Wildcats were superior to New Mexico, statistically speaking, and almost battled Loyola on even terms.

"For the first time in eight years Arizona ended the season with a profit. The home games drew remarkably well, indicating the enthusiasm with which students and townspeople alike greeted the new regime.

"The players, 40 of whom remained in uniform for the entire season, unanimously endorsed Oliver."

BEGRUDGING LOSERS

Trojan band-wagon riders, mute for a week or two after the afternoon of November 11, recovered their equilibrium in time to scoff at Stanford's invitation to Columbia.

The prospect of watching Columbia in the Rose Bowl may not be a glowing one, but I dare say the choice was as good as any, what with real standout teams like Michigan and Princeton absolutely unavailable. Those who boom Nebraska ,titter at Columbia, forget that Nebraska is the team that lost to Pittsburgh, that man-eating school which managed to hold Southern California to 82 points in two appearances in Pasadena, one as recent as last January.

The truth of the matter is this: A good winner while its favorite team was manhandling all comers, Southern California proved a questionable loser this year; first, by begrudging Stanford the Rose Bowl assignment to which it was clearly entitled; second, by ridiculing the selection of Columbia, which was none too good but which was as good as any ever made by the Trojans under similar circumstances.

Fie on the hecklers!

C. I. F. JUSTICE

Here's one that will test your credulity.

Fullerton Hi, which defeated Santa Barbara, 18-0, as late as a week ago, has been ruled out of the Southern California prep playoffs in favor of Santa Barbara, although both played a free-lance schedule and both were beaten once.

And do you realize that the oft thrashed Santa Ana Saints would be in the championship series again if they had beaten San Diego at the Bowl early in October? Pasadena's disqualification altered the standings so radically that a Saint victory over the Hillers would have given Bill Foote's men the conference rag.

CAN L. A. OUTDRAW S. A.?

Los Angeles jaysee officials claim the Cub-Don titular tussle will do a better gross business in Los Angeles than here because of their student body of 4000, which is four times that of Santa Ana's.

Everybody must pay to see this game, the moguls limiting to 25 the total number of complimentaries, all of these going to the press. Students will shell out just the same as John J. Fan. The same situation would have existed, of course, had the contest been switched here, student body cards not being honored.

REVEAL THREATS TO HANG L. A. SCRIBES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Threats to hang sports writers of two Los Angeles newspapers were made by "a flock of husky Whittier college football players," unless a retraction was printed of a news story that Coach "Chief" Newman was to leave Whittier, it was revealed today by one of the sports editors.

"We got enough guys to hang you," the editor said he was told, and commented:

"The Whittier delegation showed more willingness to fight reporters than they displayed all season with rival football teams, which may account for the fact that they were defeated four times and tied twice this season."

"HUNK" ANDERSON QUITS POST AT NOTRE DAME; LAYDEN TO BE NAMED IRISH MENTOR, REPORT

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Dec. 8.—(INS) — Removal of Heartley ("Hunk") Anderson and Jesse Harper as football coach and athletic director of Notre Dame university has been definitely decided on and the sweeping changes await only the official announcement of university authorities, it was learned today.

Elmer Layden, member of the famous "Four Horsemen" backfield of 1924 and present football coach at Duquesne university, has been chosen to take up the coaching duties of Anderson next spring.

Anderson, who drilled the Irish lines in Notre Dame's better days, has been gamely carrying on in the place of Knute Rockne since the latter's untimely death in an airplane accident in 1931.

Anderson's troubles reached ominous proportions this last season when the Notre Dame eleven suffered its most disastrous season, with five defeats, one tie and three victories. Anderson's resignation was openly suggested by alumni and followers of the Irish. A startling victory over Army in the last game this season had no apparent effect on the gathering storm.

Layden To Head Department

It was reported that Layden had been designated to take over the duties of both Anderson and Harper and become head coach, and athletic director in the same capacity that Rockne had served. George Keogan, varsity basketball coach at Notre Dame, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Harper, however.

At the annual football banquet last night when Dominic Vairo, an end, was elected captain for 1934 Anderson presided. He gave no indication that his coaching days might be through at Notre Dame.

When asked concerning the reported changes, Anderson declined to affirm or deny his reported removal.

Although the university administration also refused to comment on the reports it was learned from high authority in the athletic department that Anderson's resignation will be formally announced tomorrow.

Throughout the banquet the man who attempted to fill the place of Rockne displayed the same philosophic calm that has been his throughout the 1933 reverses.

Layden, it was reported, will receive $10,000 annually in the new position.

Three Assistants Out, Too

Three of Anderson's assistants are scheduled to leave with their chief, it was understood. They are Marchmont Schwartz, Nordy Hoffman and John Voedisch, all former Notre Dame stars. One assistant alone is scheduled to remain with the new athletic administration. He is Tom Conley, end coach, and an alumnus.

Layden, who romped to national fame with the "Four Horsemen" backfield of a decade ago, accomplished an enviable coaching record at Duquesne this fall, winning eight gridiron victories and losing but one game, to Pittsburgh.

It was reported, without confirmation, that while in New York last week Anderson completed arrangements to coach football at a university there next year. In tendering his resignation he asked for an early decision in order that he may be free to negotiate with some other school.

LAYDEN REFUSES COMMENT ON SITUATION

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Elmer Layden, Duquesne football coach, today declared he had received no word from Notre Dame regarding his selection as a successor to "Hunk" Anderson.

"I know nothing of any new developments in the Notre Dame football situation," he said.

Layden was apprised by dispatches from South Bend stating definitely that he had been chosen to guide Notre Dame's football campaign next year. He professed complete ignorance.

Asked whether he had negotiated with Notre Dame authorities Layden remarked significantly:

"Of course, you know I am a free agent."

TROY 4-1 OVER HUSKIES; HERD FEARS OUTCOME

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—With coaches bemoaning the belief their U. S. C. players had "gone society" the University of Washington football team, 33 strong, arrived here today to play the final conference game Saturday against the Trojans.

El Trojan has been living by the blue book instead of the football rule book since he defeated Notre Dame and Georgia, according to Cliff Herd, S. C. scout, who thinks Coach Jimmy Phelan's Huskies are likely to upset U. S. C.

"There are too many 'breakfasts' and too much cheering for the good of the players," Herd sighed.

Victory would give the Trojans a tie with Stanford and Oregon for the Pacific Coast conference title.

Southern California was quoted a 4 to 1 favorite today.

Troy's chance for victory was heightened by the return of Bob McNeish, star blocking halfback, and Jules Bescos, regular end, both of whom were slightly injured in scrimmage two days ago.

VINES IN NEW YORK TO MAP TOUR PLANS

Vines will undertake one of the most ambitious tours ever mapped out for any profesisonal. Vines, Tilden, Bruce Barnes and Vincent Richards open the first stage of their campaign at Madison Square Garden Jan. 10.

They will move across the continent to California and back, winding up Feb. 17. The second stage will start Feb. 19 with Henri Cochet and Martin Plaa of France playing Vines and Tilden in nine two-day matches in nine cities.

Tilden, Vines, Barnes and another profesisonal will embark on the third stage March 21, appearing in smaller cities until about April 15, after which Tilden and Vines will go to Europe to inaugurate a profesisonal series corresponding to the amateur Davis Cup series.

Then they will return to the United States and play in a series of 17 tournaments with other professionals.

CLAIM GAELS' ODDS OVER S.M.U. ABSURD

SANTA CLARA, Dec. 8.—(UP) — Football schedule-makers at Santa Clara university today considered arrangements for 1934 season contests with Texas Christian university, Michigan State, University of Detroit, and other Mid-Western and Eastern college elevens.

Coach Maurice ("Slipper") Smith said that contests also had been proposed with University of Utah, Centenary Tulsa, University of Southern California, and Temple university.

Detroit officials proposed a home-and-home series, Smith said. Texas Christian wired for a contest at San Francisco either Nov. 10 or Dec. 8.

CLAIMS ODDS RIDICULOUS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Odds which made St. Mary's a 2 1-2 to 1 favorite over Southern Methodist in their game here Saturday were termed "ridiculous" in a message today from Ray Morrison, S. M. U. coach.

"We have a good chance to beat the Gaels this year," Morrison wired. His team was due to arrive here sometime today.

HEAD MAN OF CUB CITADEL

INJURED REDS O. K. FOR PASADENA TILT

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Barring injuries during practice sessions, the Stanford football team that takes the field against Columbia New Year's Day at the Pasadena Rose Bowl will be as fast and strong as the Cardinal eleven that upset the powerful Trojans of U. S. C. earlier this season.

The hospital roster revealed today only two Cardinals have been absent from light signal practices during the past three days, Bob Reynolds, giant tackle, and Wes Muller, center.

Reynolds has been suffering from a leg injury received in the "Big Game" with California. The big tackle practically was out on his feet in the fourth quarter of that game, but refused to call time out because a five-yard penalty would have been imposed on the Cardinals, defending their goal from the six-yard line at the time.

Reynolds, like Muller, who still has a weak ankle, was expected to report for heavy practice next week, when Coach "Tiny" Thornhill returns from Los Angeles.

Assistant Coach Ernie Nevens has confined practice sessions this week to light drills of running through plays, without tackling. The Cardinals, garbed in sweat suits, appeared more like a group of track stars than griddens as they worked out today.

CORBUS OFF BEARS' ALL-OPPONENT TEAM

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Bill Corbus, Stanford's All-American guard, failed to land a place on the all-opponent team picked today by California football players. The team:

GIANTS DENY O'DOUL OR JACKSON TRADED

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Wiley Moore, famous sinker-ball pitcher of the New York Yankees, today had been released to the Yankee farm at Newark, N. J. The Yankees also sent Leroy Schaln, a young infielder, there on option.

The New York Giants today denied they had any intention of trading "Lefty" O'Doul or of letting Travis Jackson get away to manage the Cincinnati Reds.

GRANGE THROUGH AS PRO GRID ATHLETE

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—"Red" Grange, perhaps the most famous of recent collegiate football stars, intimated today that he has reached the end of the gridiron trail.

Grange will make his last appearance in football togs Sunday when the Chicago Bears meet the Green Bay Packers.

"I think this will be my last year as a player," Grange declared. "It's getting to be a pretty tough grind, and I'm about ready to call it quits and take something softer."

It was recalled, though, that Grange said the same thing last winter.

RECORD TURNOUT FOR SAINT 'B' QUINTET

LIVESAY TO PILOT BRUINS NEXT YEAR

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Ranson ("Pants") Livesay, star halfback, today was captain of the 1934 University of California at Los Angeles football team. All-conference center Leo Coats received the Joe E. Brown trophy for being the most valuable member of the 1933 team.

Tod Sloan Better; To Leave Hospital

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Tod Sloan, famed jockey who purportedly squandered $1,000,000 in track winnings in less than a year, will leave General hospital as soon as friends find a place in which he can convalesce, physicians reported today. They said he was sufficiently recovered from an attack of cirrhosis of the liver that additional hospital treatment is unnecessary.

COOK BELIEVES LINEMEN GIVE SANTA ANA CHANCE; WELTY IN GOOD SHAPE, STARTS AT FULL

Santa Ana has waited patiently during the past four years for its second Southern California junior college football title. Champions of the Eastern conference, Coach Bill Cook's Dons enter the Southland's coveted playoff tomorrow afternoon with the powerful Los Angeles Cubs, winners of the Western division.

The kicking will be at 2 o'clock on the Cub gridiron—old U. C. L. A. field—at 855 North Vermont avenue, midway between Melrose avenue and Santa Monica boulevard, Los Angeles.

With a Notre Dame attack, reported to be the most deceptive of any junior college in the state, Los Angeles figures to win from Santa Ana, but its five-man coaching staff headed by Glenn Ackerman, former Oregon star, anticipates considerable trouble from the Dons, who have employed a modified Howard Jones system with great success.

Bill Cook

Most observers believe the metropolitan team holds an edge but, realizing Santa Ana is due for its best game after a poor showing against Fullerton, hesitate to rate Los Angeles too highly over the Don delegation.

Comparative records, seldom accurate in determining the winner, are listed only to show how the title-bound elevens eliminated their many '33 opponents:

Los Angeles
Los Angeles	0, Calif. Freshmen	16
Los Angeles	6, U.C.L.A. Freshmen	0
Los Angeles	7, Glendale	0
Los Angeles	0, Ventura	0
Los Angeles	22, Long Beach	0
Los Angeles	19, Pasadena	7
Los Angeles	20, Santa Monica	6
Los Angeles	7, Bakersfield	7
Los Angeles	0, Compton	0
Los Angeles	32, Taft	0
Los Angeles	113, Opponents	36

Santa Ana
Santa Ana	6, U.S.C. Freshmen	6
Santa Ana	0, Urban Academy	0
Santa Ana	6, Pomona College	0
Santa Ana	7, U.C.L.A. Freshmen	7
Santa Ana	25, Pomona Jaysee	0
Santa Ana	13, Riverside	6
Santa Ana	6, Citrus	7
Santa Ana	7, Chaffey	6
Santa Ana	13, San Bernardino	6
Santa Ana	6, Fullerton	3
Santa Ana	89, Opponents	41

Santa Ana chances reached a higher level today with the announcement that Harold Welty, star back, had recovered from an attack of the flu. Welty's improvement left only Wilburn Anderson, regular fullback, on the casualty list. Anderson has been bothered by a pinched nerve in his right leg, and is not likely to see action.

Cook is counting heavily on Hapes, who is exceptionally fast, handles himself well, and is particularly good at swinging the ends. He will alternate with Welty, who will transfer to quarter when Bob Mitchell comes into the game at fullback.

A fighting line, one that didn't know when it was licked, swept Santa Ana to the Southern California championship in 1929. Coach Cook believes he has the same kind of a line now in Ben Slavin and Paul Perinich, ends; Miles Norton and Walt Devine, tackles; Sam Tucker and Loren Lukens, guards; and Bruce Handy and Ray Hoar, centers. Smaller than the '29 wall, the Don forwards nevertheless have maintained the best defensive record in their conference.

Near-regulars who will receive the first call are Walt Gunther and Byron Stoddard, ends; Horace Ritner, tackle; Bob Hafer, Zeno Shelley, guards; Clair Preininger and Bob Phipps, halfbacks. Others virtually certain to perform are Frank Kroener, end; "Bud" Boyle, tackle; Ray Nowotny and Roy Waer, guards; and Bill McDaniel, quarter or halfback.

Los Angeles will introduce perhaps the most brilliant aerial attack Santa Ana has seen this year. In adidtion, the Cubs will present a threatening running attack featuring Don Williams, sensational 190-pound fullback, and several former Los Angeles and Bay league prep stars.

Ed ("Batty") Battistessa, left halfback, is generally regarded as the best all-around player in the Los Angeles backfield. His uncanny "coffin-corner" kicking, brilliant running and passing have aided the Cubs tremendously all season. Perhaps the best defensive back is Quarterback Chet Berry, whose selection of plays and expert blocking have accounted for many touchdowns. Captain Earl Hall, tackle; Kelly Gregory, guard; Klyde Young and "Podge" Dalton, centers, are the standouts in the Cub line. Hall is a 6:5 husky weighing 215 pounds.

The lineups:

TUCSON FOLK LIKE 'TEX'

And do they like Our Gerald down there at Tucson? We'll let you use your own judgment after scanning this clipping, lifted from a Tucson newspaper:

"University of Arizona athletic department officials, athletes and townspeople joined today to praise G. A. (Tex.) Oliver for his successful direction of the Wildcat team during the season that recently terminated. It was Oliver's first season as head football coach of the institution, and the Wildcats emerged victorious in five games while losing only three, two of which were practically conceded due to the fact that the opponents were considered much stronger.

"J. F. McKale, former football coach and now director of athletics, lauded Oliver with the following statement:

"'Oliver did splendidly as coach of the team. From the outset I had great confidence in his ability and, needless to say, I certainly had no reason for disappointment. The schedule was difficult, but the losses to Texas Tech and Loyola were by such small margins that they could almost be considered victories.

"'Aside from being a great coach, Oliver is a fine example for our athletes as a man, and, above all, he emphasizes sportsmanship to the players.'

"Arizona held Loyola to a 14-13 score when the most optimistic supporters of the team predicted a three-touchdown triumph for the strong Los Angeles team.

"A week later Arizona held Texas Tech to a 7-0 score, and Tech later defeated some of the strongest teams in the southwest, including Baylor, conqueror of Texas university, by 13 points. Their last game was with Kansas State, in which they eked out a 6-0 victory.

"The only other Arizona defeat was received from New Mexico, at Albuquerque. The score was 7-0.

"Victories were registered over Whittier, 26-0; Flagstaff, 24-0; Tempe, 27-6; Occidental, 18-0, and the New Mexico Aggies, 6-0.

"Arizone scored 118 points to 34 for its opponents, and the only game in which it was consistently outplayed was with Texas Tech.

"The Wildcats were superior to New Mexico, statistically speaking, and almost battled Loyola on even terms.

"For the first time in eight years Arizona ended the season with a profit. The home games drew remarkably well, indicating the enthusiasm with which students and townspeople alike greeted the new regime.

"The players, 40 of whom remained in uniform for the entire season, unanimously endorsed Oliver."

BEGRUDGING LOSERS

Trojan band-wagon riders, mute for a week or two after the afternoon of November 11, recovered their equilibrium in time to scoff at Stanford's invitation to Columbia.

The prospect of watching Columbia in the Rose Bowl may not be a glowing one, but I dare say the choice was as good as any, what with real standout teams like Michigan and Princeton absolutely unavailable. Those who boom Nebraska ,titter at Columbia, forget that Nebraska is the team that lost to Pittsburgh, that man-eating school which managed to hold Southern California to 82 points in two appearances in Pasadena, one as recent as last January.

The truth of the matter is this: A good winner while its favorite team was manhandling all comers, Southern California proved a questionable loser this year; first, by begrudging Stanford the Rose Bowl assignment to which it was clearly entitled; second, by ridiculing the selection of Columbia, which was none too good but which was as good as any ever made by the Trojans under similar circumstances.

Fie on the hecklers!

C. I. F. JUSTICE

Here's one that will test your credulity.

Fullerton Hi, which defeated Santa Barbara, 18-0, as late as a week ago, has been ruled out of the Southern California prep playoffs in favor of Santa Barbara, although both played a free-lance schedule and both were beaten once.

And do you realize that the oft thrashed Santa Ana Saints would be in the championship series again if they had beaten San Diego at the Bowl early in October? Pasadena's disqualification altered the standings so radically that a Saint victory over the Hillers would have given Bill Foote's men the conference rag.

CAN L. A. OUTDRAW S. A.?

Los Angeles jaysee officials claim the Cub-Don titular tussle will do a better gross business in Los Angeles than here because of their student body of 4000, which is four times that of Santa Ana's.

Everybody must pay to see this game, the moguls limiting to 25 the total number of complimentaries, all of these going to the press. Students will shell out just the same as John J. Fan. The same situation would have existed, of course, had the contest been switched here, student body cards not being honored.

"HUNK" ANDERSON QUITS POST AT NOTRE DAME; LAYDEN TO BE NAMED IRISH MENTOR, REPORT

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Dec. 8.—(INS) — Removal of Heartley ("Hunk") Anderson and Jesse Harper as football coach and athletic director of Notre Dame university has been definitely decided on and the sweeping changes await only the official announcement of university authorities, it was learned today.

Elmer Layden, member of the famous "Four Horsemen" backfield of 1924 and present football coach at Duquesne university, has been chosen to take up the coaching duties of Anderson next spring.

Anderson, who drilled the Irish lines in Notre Dame's better days, has been gamely carrying on in the place of Knute Rockne since the latter's untimely death in an airplane accident in 1931.

Anderson's troubles reached ominous proportions this last season when the Notre Dame eleven suffered its most disastrous season, with five defeats, one tie and three victories. Anderson's resignation was openly suggested by alumni and followers of the Irish. A startling victory over Army in the last game this season had no apparent effect on the gathering storm.

Layden To Head Department

It was reported that Layden had been designated to take over the duties of both Anderson and Harper and become head coach, and athletic director in the same capacity that Rockne had served. George Keogan, varsity basketball coach at Notre Dame, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Harper, however.

At the annual football banquet last night when Dominic Vairo, an end, was elected captain for 1934 Anderson presided. He gave no indication that his coaching days might be through at Notre Dame.

When asked concerning the reported changes, Anderson declined to affirm or deny his reported removal.

Although the university administration also refused to comment on the reports it was learned from high authority in the athletic department that Anderson's resignation will be formally announced tomorrow.

Throughout the banquet the man who attempted to fill the place of Rockne displayed the same philosophic calm that has been his throughout the 1933 reverses.

Layden, it was reported, will receive $10,000 annually in the new position.

Three Assistants Out, Too

Three of Anderson's assistants are scheduled to leave with their chief, it was understood. They are Marchmont Schwartz, Nordy Hoffman and John Voedisch, all former Notre Dame stars. One assistant alone is scheduled to remain with the new athletic administration. He is Tom Conley, end coach, and an alumnus.

Layden, who romped to national fame with the "Four Horsemen" backfield of a decade ago, accomplished an enviable coaching record at Duquesne this fall, winning eight gridiron victories and losing but one game, to Pittsburgh.

It was reported, without confirmation, that while in New York last week Anderson completed arrangements to coach football at a university there next year. In tendering his resignation he asked for an early decision in order that he may be free to negotiate with some other school.

LAYDEN REFUSES COMMENT ON SITUATION

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Elmer Layden, Duquesne football coach, today declared he had received no word from Notre Dame regarding his selection as a successor to "Hunk" Anderson.

"I know nothing of any new developments in the Notre Dame football situation," he said.

Layden was apprised by dispatches from South Bend stating definitely that he had been chosen to guide Notre Dame's football campaign next year. He professed complete ignorance.

Asked whether he had negotiated with Notre Dame authorities Layden remarked significantly:

"Of course, you know I am a free agent."

TROY 4-1 OVER HUSKIES; HERD FEARS OUTCOME

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—With coaches bemoaning the belief their U. S. C. players had "gone society" the University of Washington football team, 33 strong, arrived here today to play the final conference game Saturday against the Trojans.

El Trojan has been living by the blue book instead of the football rule book since he defeated Notre Dame and Georgia, according to Cliff Herd, S. C. scout, who thinks Coach Jimmy Phelan's Huskies are likely to upset U. S. C.

"There are too many 'breakfasts' and too much cheering for the good of the players," Herd sighed.

Southern California was quoted a 4 to 1 favorite today.

Troy's chance for victory was heightened by the return of Bob McNeish, star blocking halfback, and Jules Bescos, regular end, both of whom were slightly injured in scrimmage two days ago.

REVEAL THREATS TO HANG L. A. SCRIBES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Threats to hang sports writers of two Los Angeles newspapers were made by "a flock of husky Whittier college football players," unless a retraction was printed of a news story that Coach "Chief" Newman was to leave Whittier, it was revealed today by one of the sports editors.

"We got enough guys to hang you," the editor said he was told, and commented:

"The Whittier delegation showed more willingness to fight reporters than they displayed all season with rival football teams, which may account for the fact that they were defeated four times and tied twice this season."

VINES IN NEW YORK TO MAP TOUR PLANS

Vines will undertake one of the most ambitious tours ever mapped out for any profesisonal. Vines, Tilden, Bruce Barnes and Vincent Richards open the first stage of their campaign at Madison Square Garden Jan. 10.

They will move across the continent to California and back, winding up Feb. 17. The second stage will start Feb. 19 with Henri Cochet and Martin Plaa of France playing Vines and Tilden in nine two-day matches in nine cities.

Tilden, Vines, Barnes and another profesisonal will embark on the third stage March 21, appearing in smaller cities until about April 15, after which Tilden and Vines will go to Europe to inaugurate a profesisonal series corresponding to the amateur Davis Cup series.

Then they will return to the United States and play in a series of 17 tournaments with other professionals.

Baker, Fast-Ball Hurler, Joins Reds

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8. — (UP)—"Gabby" Street, new manager of the Missions club of the Pacific Coast league, today wired that he had signed Al Baker, former St. Louis Cardinals pitcher. Street described Baker as "the fastest right-hander in baseball today."

TOWNSEND QUITS RING

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 8.—(INS)—Hanging up his gloves after a long career in the ring, Billy Townsend, veteran Canadian boxer, today was enroute to Australia where he intends to make his home.

CLAIM GAELS' ODDS OVER S.M.U. ABSURD

SANTA CLARA, Dec. 8.—(UP) — Football schedule-makers at Santa Clara university today considered arrangements for 1934 season contests with Texas Christian university, Michigan State, University of Detroit, and other Mid-Western and Eastern college elevens.

Coach Maurice ("Slipper") Smith said that contests also had been proposed with University of Utah, Centenary Tulsa, University of Southern California, and Temple university.

Detroit officials proposed a home-and-home series, Smith said. Texas Christian wired for a contest at San Francisco either Nov. 10 or Dec. 8.

CLAIMS ODDS RIDICULOUS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Odds which made St. Mary's a 2 1-2 to 1 favorite over Southern Methodist in their game here Saturday were termed "ridiculous" in a message today from Ray Morrison, S. M. U. coach.

"We have a good chance to beat the Gaels this year," Morrison wired. His team was due to arrive here sometime today.

GRANGE THROUGH AS PRO GRID ATHLETE

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—"Red" Grange, perhaps the most famous of recent collegiate football stars, intimated today that he has reached the end of the gridiron trail.

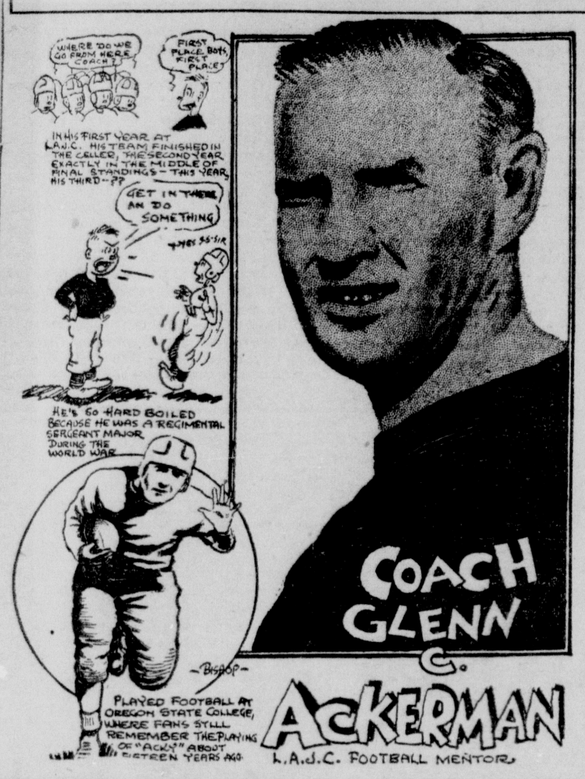

Grange will make his last appearance in football togs Sunday when the Chicago Bears meet the Green Bay Packers.

"I think this will be my last year as a player," Grange declared. "It's getting to be a pretty tough grind, and I'm about ready to call it quits and take something softer."

It was recalled, though, that Grange said the same thing last winter.

HEAD MAN OF CUB CITADEL

INJURED REDS O. K. FOR PASADENA TILT

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Barring injuries during practice sessions, the Stanford football team that takes the field against Columbia New Year's Day at the Pasadena Rose Bowl will be as fast and strong as the Cardinal eleven that upset the powerful Trojans of U. S. C. earlier this season.

The hospital roster revealed today only two Cardinals have been absent from light signal practices during the past three days, Bob Reynolds, giant tackle, and Wes Muller, center.

Reynolds has been suffering from a leg injury received in the "Big Game" with California. The big tackle practically was out on his feet in the fourth quarter of that game, but refused to call time out because a five-yard penalty would have been imposed on the Cardinals, defending their goal from the six-yard line at the time.

Reynolds, like Muller, who still has a weak ankle, was expected to report for heavy practice next week, when Coach "Tiny" Thornhill returns from Los Angeles.

Assistant Coach Ernie Nevens has confined practice sessions this week to light drills of running through plays, without tackling. The Cardinals, garbed in sweat suits, appeared more like a group of track stars than gridders as they worked out today.

CORBUS OFF BEARS' ALL-OPPONENT TEAM

GIANTS DENY O'DOUL OR JACKSON TRADED

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Wilcy Moore, famous sinker-ball pitcher of the New York Yankees, today had been released to the Yankee farm at Newark, N. J. The Yankees also sent Leroy Schaln, a young infielder, there on option.

The New York Giants today denied they had any intention of trading "Lefty" O'Doul or of letting Travis Jackson get away to manage the Cincinnati Reds.

RECORD TURNOUT FOR SAINT 'B' QUINTET

LIVESAY TO PILOT BRUINS NEXT YEAR

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Ransom ("Pants") Livesay, star halfback, today was captain of the 1934 University of California at Los Angeles football team. All-conference center Leo Coats received the Joe E. Brown trophy for being the most valuable member of the 1933 team.

Tod Sloan Better; To Leave Hospital

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(UP) —Tod Sloan, famed jockey who purportedly squandered $1,000,000 in track winnings in less than a year, will leave General hospital as soon as friends find a place in which he can convalesce, physicians reported today. They said he was sufficiently recovered from an attack of cirrhosis of the liver that additional hospital treatment is unnecessary.

Doty, M'Clure Win

Mrs. C. V. Doty and Mrs. B. W. McClure scored 88-10-78 to win best-ball sweepstakes at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday. Mrs. L. H. Robinson and Mrs. J. L. McFadden, 84-5-79, and Miss Lolita Mead and Mrs. F. C. Drumm, 90-10-80, were other winners.

Class B. winners: Miss Nan Mead and Mrs. C. K. Dodds, 102-16-86, first Mrs. W. F. Kistinger and Mrs. Paul Hall, 101-14-87.

COOK BELIEVES LINEMEN GIVE SANTA ANA CHANCE; WELTY IN GOOD SHAPE, STARTS AT FULL

Santa Ana has waited patiently during the past four years for its second Southern California junior college football title. Champions of the Eastern conference, Coach Bill Cook's Dons enter the Southland's coveted playoff tomorrow afternoon with the powerful Los Angeles Cubs, winners of the Western division.

The kicking will be at 2 o'clock on the Cub gridiron—old U. C. L. A. field—at 855 North Vermont avenue, midway between Melrose avenue and Santa Monica boulevard, Los Angeles.

With a Notre Dame attack, reported to be the most deceptive of any junior college in the state, Los Angeles figures to win from Santa Ana, but its five - man coaching staff headed by Glenn Ackerman, former Oregon star, anticipates considerable trouble from the Dons, who have employed a modified Howard Jones system with great success.

Bill Cook

Most observers believe the metropolitan team holds an edge but, realizing Santa Ana is due for its best game after a poor showing against Fullerton, hesitate to rate Los Angeles too highly over the Don delegation.

Comparative records, seldom accurate in determining the winner, are listed only to show how the title-bound elevens eliminated their many '33 opponents:

	Los Angeles
Los Angeles	0, Calif. Freshmen	16
Los Angeles	6, U.C.L.A. Freshmen	0
Los Angeles	7, Glendale	0
Los Angeles	0, Ventura	0
Los Angeles	22, Long Beach	0
Los Angeles	19, Pasadena	7
Los Angeles	20, Santa Monica	6
Los Angeles	0, Compton	0
Los Angeles	32, Taft	0
Los Angeles	113, Opponents	36
	Santa Ana
Santa Ana	6, U.S.C. Freshmen	6
Santa Ana	0, Urban Academy	0
Santa Ana	5, Pomona College	0
Santa Ana	7, U.C.L.A. Freshmen	7
Santa Ana	25, Pomona Jaysee	0
Santa Ana	13, Riverside	6
Santa Ana	6, Citrus	7
Santa Ana	7, Chaffey	6
Santa Ana	13, San Bernardino	6
Santa Ana	6, Fullerton	3
Santa Ana	89, Opponents	41

Santa Ana chances reached a higher level today with the announcement that Harold Welty, star back, had recovered from an attack of the flu. Welty's improvement left only Wilburn Anderson, regular fullback, on the casualty list. Anderson has been bothered by a pinched nerve in his right leg, and is not likely to see action.

Cook is counting heavily on Hapes, who is exceptionally fast, handles himself well, and is particularly good at swinging the ends. He will alternate with Welty, who will transfer to quarter when Bob Mitchell comes into the game at fullback.

A fighting line, one that didn't know when it was licked, swept Santa Ana to the Southern California championship in 1929. Coach Cook believes he has the same kind of a line now in Ben Slavin and Paul Perinich, ends; Miles Norton and Walt Devine, tackles; Sam Tucker and Loren Lukens, guards; and Bruce Handy and Ray Hoar, centers. Smaller than the '29 wall, the Don forwards nevertheless have maintained the best defensive record in their conference.

Near-regulars who will receive the first call are Walt Gunther and Byron Stoddard, ends; Horace Ritner, tackle; Bob Hafer, Zeno Shelley, guards; Clair Preininger and Bob Phipps, halfbacks. Others virtually certain to perform are Frank Kroener, end; "Bud" Boyle, tackle; Ray Nowotny and Roy Waer, guards; and Bill McDaniel, quarter or halfback.

Los Angeles will introduce perhaps the most brilliant aerial attack Santa Ana has seen this year. In addition, the Cubs will present a threatening running attack featuring Don Williams, sensational 190-pound fullback, and several former Los Angeles and Bay league prep stars.

Ed ("Batty") Battistessa, left halfback, is generally regarded as the best all-around player in the Los Angeles backfield. His uncanny "coffin-corner" kicking, brilliant running and passing have aided the Cubs tremendously all season. Perhaps the best defensive back is Quarterback Chet Berry, whose selection of plays and expert blocking have accounted for many touchdowns. Captain Earl Hall, tackle; Kelly Gregory, guard; Klyde Young and "Podge" Dalton, centers, are the standouts in the Cub line. Hall is a 6:5 husky weighing 215 pounds.

The lineups:

BEACH CITY TO CONTINUE FIGHT FOR U. S. FUNDS

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 8.—Laguna Beach wil ask for a reopening of its application for a loan from the Public Works Administration of $190,000 to construct a main line sewer and treatment plant for the Arch Beach district. The city council Wednesday night appointed N. E. West as its representative to carry to Washington a petition for a reopening of the case, to be prepared by Attorney James L. Beebe of the firm of O'Melveny, Tuller and Myers, Los Angeles, and to argue the case at the hearing. A letter from the board of review informed the council that if application were made before December 31, and the petition contained data not already presented, that a hearing would be granted.

F. S. Currie of San Bernardino, engineer for the project, said that he and City Attorney Harvey had been informed, when the original application was prepared, that financial responsibility was put secondary to the fact that men would be put to work and that full data had not been thought necessary. He quoted Beebe, an expert on municipal bond laws, as saying that he believed the matter would be reconsidered if the financial structure were properly explained.

The ever-recurring controversy over public rights to the beaches was revived when a communication was received from Miss Lillian V. Whiting, secretary of the Laguna Heights Improvement association, asking that a stone wall built by former Senator William E. Brown in such a manner that it stops easy access to a cove at the Sugar Loaf, near the southern city limits, be removed. Attorney Harvey said the city's rights in the matter depended upon the ownership of the property where the wall is built. A majority of the councilmen expressed themselves in favor of removing the wall if it is possible and the attorney was asked to report on ownership of the land.

A report by Mayor Champion and Arthur J. Stead, engineer employed by the council to prepare plans and specifications for projects under the CWA, showed that Park avenue, from the intersection of Coast boulevard to First street, and Laguna avenue, from the boulevard to Glenneye street and 150 feet of the latter, can be graded, paved with two inches of oil and rock, and curbs and sidewalks laid at a total cost of $550 to the property owners for materials, the balance of the $10,000 job to come from the civil works administration. Stead, Case and Harvey were named as a special committee to raise the money from the property owners by voluntary subscription.

Christmas Party Held In Tustin

TUSTIN, Dec. 8.—A merry Christmas party was shared Wednesday night by a group of young married couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Crawford. Baskets of poinsettias and cotoneaster were used in decorating.

A session of "500" provided the evening's diversion. Prizes for high and second high scores were awarded to Mrs. Thomas Shedden, George Prather, Mrs. Charles Crawford and Jerry Phillips. Following the card contest, Mrs. Crawford arranged the tables with bosh linens and Christmas appointments for serving a two-course supper.

Sharing the pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. Crawford were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shedden, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Squires, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Foste,r Mr. and Mrs. George F. Crawford, Newport Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Phillips of Santa Ana.

Coast Group To Plan For Yule Lights

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 8.—Representatives of Orange county coast communities will meet at the chamber of commerce office here tomorrow at 3 p. m. to make plans for Christmas lighting along the coast.

The program of Christmas lights was adopted last year carrying out a suggestion of Dr. C. G. Huston, a leader in the Orange County Coast association.

YULE BENEFIT PARTY HELD BY TUSTIN GROUP

TUSTIN, Dec. 8.—A successful benefit Christmas party was sponsored by the high school P.-T. A. Wednesday afternoon, with Mesdames Ruth C. Walker, J. H. Pankey, Glenn Warner and Mrs. B. J. NEWPORT BOAT RETURNS FROM 10,000 MILE ISLAND VOYAGE

Five months was spent on the trip and many points of unusual interest were visited, according to Fred Gilbert, skipper of the craft. Their first stop, after leaving here last July, was Honolulu.

A month was spent in and around the Hawaiian islands and from there they went to the Sanning group, a cluster of islands of coral formation, belonging to England, the terminal of one of the longest ocean cables in the world. Another group, the Tangarevas, was visited. They are noted for their pearls. Considerable time was spent in fishing and trading with the natives here.

On their way to Tahiti a short stop was made at Ria Tara, one of the Society group. The "Henrietta" and her party left Tahiti on September 30 headed toward California, and after leaving Ua Huka, their last stop, they were buffeted by rough seas and bad weather for 40 days out of sight of land, Gilbert said.

Aside from loosing a couple of sails and having their lighting system and radio out of commission for short intervals, the voyage was pleasant and successful, he stated.

CROWD PRESENT AT COMMUNITY AFFAIR

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 8. — The second community night program sponsored by the auxiliary of the Legion post was held this week in the auditorium of the city hall, a large crowd being present. Mrs. Mabel Brentlinger and Mrs. Fay Moffett were in charge of the affair.

PROBLEMS NOW BEFORE YOUTH P.-T. A. TOPIC

YORBA LINDA, Dec. 8.—The school, the church, the home, all must unite with the community in training children to understand beauty, bread and brotherhood, the Rev. Graham C. Hunter told members of Yorba Linda Parent-Teacher association at a meeting at the school this week. A college education no longer is a guarantee to honesty, but spiritual training is essential, he said.

Recognizing that at present with the movie, the automobiles, and with the question of prohibition unsolved, the problem is difficult in handling youth, the speaker suggested that parents make more effort to give time to children and assist them personally in solving problems.

RUG MAKER GIVES ADDRESS AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 8.—C. F. Davis, of Los Angeles, an expert rug maker, and Miss Evelyn Healy, of New York, interior decorator, were speakers on the Ebell club program Thursday, Davis addressing the meeting on "Rugs" and the latter on "Interior Decorating."

Davis described methods used in making rugs in all parts of the world, stressing especially the manner in which the fine Oriental rugs are made. Many specimens of rugs were displayed for study and inspection.

The program was supplemented by vocal solos by J. F. Watkins, accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Willey. He sang Indian love lyrics, "Less Than the Dust," and "Cashmiir Song," words by Laurence Hope, and music by Amy Woodford Fendon.

Tea was served following the program by hostesses, Mrs. Sam Meyer, Mrs. Frank Brookings and Mrs. F. Fuller. The club president, Mrs. King Josiyn, was in charge.

2 New Teachers For Brea School

BREA, Dec. 8.—Two new teachers have been added to the staff at the Brea grammar school. They are Miss Edith Maxson, who is living at the Casa Brea inn with Miss Dorothy Boyce, and Miss Agnes Durbin, living with Miss Katherine Yates.

Miss Maxson will have charge of class room music, relieving Champ Nixon of that work. Nixon will now have entire charge of the instrumental classes in music.

Miss Durbin has been assigned to the fifth grade, the work formerly done by Miss Ethel Eastman. Miss Eastman will have charge of sixth grade home room and continue with departmental work.

BEACH CITY TO CONTINUE FIGHT FOR U. S. FUNDS

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 8.—Laguna Beach wil ask for a reopening of its application for a loan from the Public Works Administration of $190,000 to construct a main line sewer and treatment plant for the Arch Beach district. The city council Wednesday night appointed N. E. West as its representative to carry to Washington a petition for a reopening of the case, to be prepared by Attorney James L. Beebe of the firm of O'Melveny, Tuller and Myers, Los Angeles, and to argue the case at the hearing. A letter from the board of review informed the council that if application were made before December 31, and the petition contained data not already presented, that a hearing would be granted.

F. S. Currie of San Bernardino, engineer for the project, said that he and City Attorney Harvey had been informed, when the original application was prepared, that financial responsibility was put secondary to the fact that men would be put to work and that full data had not been thought necessary. He quoted Beebe, an expert on municipal bond laws, as saying that he believed the matter would be reconsidered if the financial structure were properly explained.

The ever-recurring controversy over public rights to the beaches was revived when a communication was received from Miss Lillian V. Whiting, secretary of the Laguna Heights Improvement association, asking that a stone wall built by former Senator William E. Brown in such a manner that it stops easy access to a cove at the Sugar Loaf, near the southern city limits, be removed. Attorney Harvey said the city's rights in the matter depended upon the ownership of the property where the wall is built. A majority of the councilmen expressed themselves in favor of removing the wall if it is possible and the attorney was asked to report on ownership of the land.

A report by Mayor Champion and Arthur J. Stead, engineer employed by the council to prepare plans and specifications for projects under the CWA, showed that Park avenue, from the intersection of Coast boulevard to First street, and Laguna avenue, from the boulevard to Glenneye street and 150 feet of the latter, can be graded, paved with two inches of oil and rock, and curbs and sidewalks laid at a total cost of $550 to the property owners for materials, the balance of the $10,000 job to come from the civil works administration. Stead, Case and Harvey were named as a special committee to raise the money from the property owners by voluntary subscription.

Coast Group To Plan For Yule Lights

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 8.—Representatives of Orange county coast communities will meet at the chamber of commerce office here tomorrow at 3 p. m. to make plans for Christmas lighting along the coast.

The program of Christmas lights was adopted last year carrying out a suggestion of Dr. C. G. Huston, a leader in the Orange County Coast association.

YULE BENEFIT PARTY HELD BY TUSTIN GROUP

TUSTIN, Dec. 8.—A successful benefit Christmas party was sponsored by the high school P.-T. A. Wednesday afternoon, with Mesdames Ruth C. Walker, J. H. Pankey, Glenn Warner and Mrs. B. J. McReynolds as hostesses in the McReynolds home, 1901 Fruit street. Mrs. Warner substituted for Mrs. Guy H. Christian, who had been injured in an accident and was unable to act as co-hostess.

Baskets of poinsettias and cotoneaster, red candles and all details of the pleasant event carried out the Christmas motif. Guests enjoyed the afternoon playing bridge, "500," solving jig saw puzzles or visiting and discussing Christmas plans.

Pretty pillows were awarded to Mrs. Rena Bouchard and Mrs. Fred L. Wilson, who held high scores at bridge and "500." An attractive apron went to Mrs. Glenn Warner, who was second high at bridge. Dishes of candied walnuts centered the card tables.

Assisted by Mesdames L. R. Stearns, Chester Kenyon, Fred L. Wilson and Frank H. Contributions will be given later to the American Legion auxiliary welfare department for distribution on Christmas eve to families in the community.

The program that day will be presented by the music section under the direction of Mrs. F. J. Schweitzer and will feature the Christmas theme. Mrs. G. C. Folckemer will be hostess chairman and decorations will be in charge of Mrs. O. S. Close.

Party Observes Ninth Birthday

The diversion of the afternoon was the game of lotto, with first prizes awarded to Cecil Hunt, Delbert Wakeham and Elizabeth Von Wedelstaedt. Consolation went to Jean Meyer and Charles Everett.

At the refreshment hour the children were seated at one long table centered with a Christmas tree. Rubber balls were the favors at each place. A beautiful birthday cake decorated in pink and white was cut and served wtih ice cream and candles. The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Those present were Buddy and Irving Lovejoy, of Eagle Rock; Florence Nichols, Cecil Hunt, Jim Guptill, Charles Everett, Delbert Wakeham, Margot Ann Rosselot, Jean Meyer, Jean Kellogg, Marion Berlin, Elizabeth Von Wedelstaedt, Vernon Rez and Nancy Nichols.

Mrs. Roy King Bridge Hostess

COSTA MESA, Dec. 8. — Mrs. Roy King was hostess Wednesday to a circle of friends at a bridge party in her Rochester street home. The autumn motif was carried out in both the house decorations and th refreshments. She was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Robert Fuller.

Those present were Mrs. Lee Belding, Mrs. Harold Leach, Mrs. A. L. Pinkley, Mrs. Donald Stearns, Mrs. Robert Fuller, Mrs. King and the Misses Blanche Siegel, Laura Wright and Martha Mae Stearns. High honors were won by Mrs. Harold Leach. The consolation prize went to Miss Siegel.

NEWPORT BOAT RETURNS FROM 10,000 MILE ISLAND VOYAGE

Five months was spent on the trip and many points of unusual interest were visited, according to Fred Gilbert, skipper of the craft. Their first stop, after leaving here last July, was Honolulu.

A month was spent in and around the Hawaiian islands and from there they went to the Sanning group, a cluster of islands of coral formation, belonging to England, the terminal of one of the longest ocean cables in the world. Another group, the Tangarevas, was visited. They are noted for their pearls. Considerable time was spent in fishing and trading with the natives here.

On their way to Tahiti a short stop was made at Ria Tara, one of the Society group. The "Henrietta" and her party left Tahiti on September 30 headed toward California, and after leaving Ua Huka, their last stop, they were buffeted by rough seas and bad weather for 40 days out of sight of land, Gilbert said.

Aside from loosing a couple of sails and having their lighting system and radio out of commission for short intervals, the voyage was pleasant and successful, he stated.

CROWD PRESENT AT COMMUNITY AFFAIR

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 8. — The second community night program sponsored by the auxiliary of the Legion post was held this week in the auditorium of the city hall, a large crowd being present. Mrs. Mabel Brentlinger and Mrs. Fay Moffett were in charge of the affair.

The progam was opened by community singing led by Professor Campbell, of Long Beach, with Mrs. Campbell at the piano, followed by a reading by Mrs. Mabel Brentlinger. Solos were given by Mrs. Inez Burns and Mrs. Nora Thomas, with Jack Wooldridge at the piano. A violin solo was given by Jack Sly, of Long Beach; a duet by Mrs. Packard and Mary Childs, with Mrs. Bue at the piano; vocal numbers by Mrs. Dowler and Mrs. Humfeldt; and a violin solo by C. L. Mecham.

A three-act Christmas play writen and dramatized by Mrs. Mabel Brentlinger was presented. Parts were played by Mrs. Ruby Holland, Mrs. Peggy Mecham, Ray Moffett, Mrs. Marie Waidler and Mary Ellen Sheets. Refreshments were furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Holland. No admission was charged, the only requirement being that each person bring some article of canned or packaged food, which will be distributed among the needy.

Supper Planned In Midway City

MIDWAY CITY, Dec. 8.—Arrangements for the monthly pot luck supper scheduled by the Midway City Community Sunday school for Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock were made when officers and teachers met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Russell I. Johnson this week. A committee for the dining room, composed of the Misses Mittie Murphy, Robina Brentlinegr and Sally Etta Tayes, was appointed. The supper is open to the public.

Mrs. E. J. Mossinger and Mrs. Robert Hazard were named to arrange for a Sunday school Christmas program. The program will be given Christmas eve at the clubhouse.

The Misses Brentlinger, Tayes and Murphy were chosen as the decoration committee for the Christmas affair.

Beach Board Gets Report On Projects

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 8.—City Attorney Burr A. Brown at the regular meeting of the city council last night reported on the filing of the applications for federal aid with the advisory board of the Public Works administration.

The application for the municipal water works project was accepted by the board with the understanding that no federal money would be used for the purchase of land. The board also requested slight additions to the information given in the application. The application on the construction of the jetty at Anaheim bay was returned for more detailed maps and information. For the same reasons, the application for aid in constructing a new sewer outfall was returned. The city council directed City Engineer Vic Hayes to prepare the necessary maps and information.

The council approved the proposed by-laws of the Orange County League of Municipalities as submitted by Albert Launer, secretary of the league.

The city clerk announced the receipt of Christmas seals from the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association. The council voted to donate $5 to the organization.

PROBLEMS NOW BEFORE YOUTH P.-T. A. TOPIC

YORBA LINDA, Dec. 8.—The school, the church, the home, all must unite with the community in training children to understand beauty, bread and brotherhood, the Rev. Graham C. Hunter told members of Yorba Linda Parent-Teacher association at a meeting at the school this week. A college education no longer is a guarantee to honesty, but spiritual training is essential, he said.

Recognizing that at present with the movie, the automobiles, and with the question of prohibition unsolved, the problem is difficult in handling youth, the speaker suggested that parents make more effort to give time to children and assist them personally in solving problems.

RUG MAKER GIVES ADDRESS AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 8.—C. F. Davis, of Los Angeles, an expert rug maker, and Miss Evelyn Healy, of New York, interior decorator, were speakers on the Ebell club program Thursday, Davis addressing the meeting on "Rugs" and the latter on "Interior Decorating."

Davis described methods used in making rugs in all parts of the world, stressing especially the manner in which the fine Oriental rugs are made. Many specimens of rugs were displayed for study and inspection.

The program was supplemented by vocal solos by J. F. Watkins, accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Willey. He sang Indian love lyrics, "Less Than the Dust," and "Cashmiir Song," words by Laurence Hope, and music by Amy Woodford Fendon.

Tea was served following the program by hostesses, Mrs. Sam Meyer, Mrs. Frank Brookings and Mrs. F. Fuller. The club president, Mrs. King Josiyn, was in charge.

2 New Teachers For Brea School

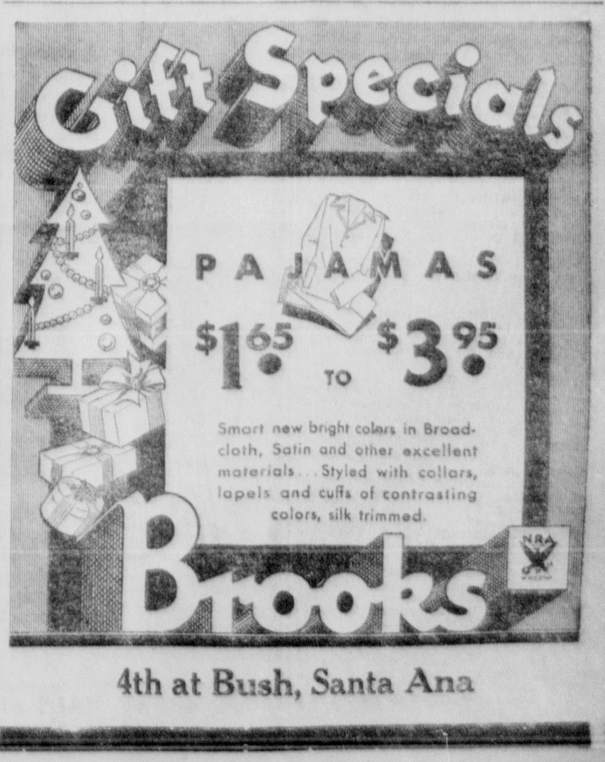

BREA, Dec. 8.—Two new teachers have been added to the staff at the Brea grammar school. They are Miss Edith Maxson, who is living at the Casa Brea inn with Miss Dorothy Boyce, and Miss Agnes Durbin, living with Miss Katherine Yates.

Miss Maxson will have charge of class room music, relieving Champ Nixon of that work. Nixon will now have entire charge of the instrumental classes in music.

Miss Durbin has been assigned to the fifth grade, the work formerly done by Miss Ethel Eastman. Miss Eastman will have charge of sixth grade home room and continue with departmental work.

SUGGEST USE OF HARBOR AS PORT OF ENTRY

Development of the Orange county harbor to the extent of its present facilities for handling and accommodating a limited amount of shipping, has not only added new taxable values in the form of a good-sized fleet of pleasure craft but has brought in outside money to the tune of $1,500,000, invested in real estate, every cent of which came from points outside of the county, inquiries reveal.

Another source of income to the harbor and the county is money spent by various motion picture companies in filming sea scenes, the aggregate total of which would be greatly increased were the harbor in position to accommodate the large type of sea going yachts and schooners now being employed in motion picture work.

Value to Orange county at large of the various attractions afforded by having a harbor within its boundaries is indicated by the records of real estate brokers in the port district. The sales journal of one firm in Balboa reveals gross sales during the last 10 years in excess of $1,500,000, and 95 per cent of the number of deals comprising this total were made to persons living outside of Orange county. Moreover, during this 10-year period, several pieces of property appear three and four times in the sales journal, the final sale of the same parcel, which fact indicates growing demand with resultant increase in value.

The same trend is shown by all the brokers records in the harbor distict. Its imports to the economic life of the county can easily be appreciated, particularly as it relates to the distribution of the comman taxload.

Used For Movies

Though the harbor in the past has been and still is patronized by the large motion picture producers for location purposes, a large volume of valuable business, that would have run into tens of thousands of dollars to the county, was lost because of insufficient depth of the channels to permit vessels of certain draft to enter the bay, according to Frank Smith, member of the firm of Smith Brothers, boat builders and ship chandlers.

Two large producers, the Fox Corporation and the Paramount Studios, engaged in the production of two large pictures, indicated their desire to use the local harbor but were forced to change their plans on being advised of navigation conditions. The Fox concern had planned to use three ships, and the Paramount not less than six boats. The latter company would also have made use of not less than 20 rented speedboats in filming certain scenes. Both companies went to other places, and Orange county lost the business, Smith remarked.

About a month ago the Universal Pictures sent down a company of 75 people, remaining on location for about 10 days. While in the harbor, the company and its employes spent about $400 a day, or $4000 in all, it was stated.

Six weeks ago the F. B. O. studios of Hollywood had a company down at the harbor on a drama play, spending between $250 and $300 for a few days. Shortly before that time the General Pictures company of Hollywood spent $200 a day, working a company of 40 people for six days.

In former years, when smaller boats were used by the motion picture companies, quite a number of Hollywood concerns, including the old Vitagraph, the Mack Sennett and the M-G-M made frequent use of the harbor, it was pointed out. Among major productions filmed at the harbor were "Captain Blood" by the Vitagraph company, lasting four months.

Entry Port

In connection with proposed harbor improvements, to be voted on December 19, several harbor men expressed the desirability of making the Orange county harbor a port of entry for the accommodation of coastwise trade and for clearing seagoing pleasure yachts for foreign ports. As a result of gold mining activities in Lower California, a number of small coastwise vessels, some of them partly financed with Orange county capital, are now engaged making trips between San Pedro and Mexican parts, it was learned. These vessels, spending considerable money in the purchasing of supplies, would prefer to come to this harbor if adequate facilities were available, it was added.

Such an arangement, it was explained could be effected with but little cost to the federal government. The harbor master, in addition to his present duties, could act as deputy collector of customs. The federal government already maintains a force of immigration officials at the harbor; and a local physician could be appointed to act as quarantine officer, receiving compensation in form of fees, it was explained by Smith, who added that the subject has been discussed by a number of business men.

Making the Orange county harbor a port of entry would not only attract shipping of various types, but serve to hold the interest of the federal government in the development and maintenanc of the harbor, it was added.

EXCELLENT RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial. (Adv.)

REX BELL IN ACTION THRILLER AT STATE

Coming to the screen of Walker's State theater today in an action epic that tops even the thrills of his series, Rex Bell, ace western star, will be seen in "The Fugitive."

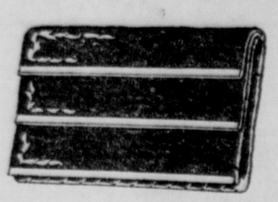

"The Fugitive" is the fast-moving story of the efforts of secret service agents to recover the loot from a half-million dollar mail robbery and bring the crooks to justice. Following a trail that leads from a western penitentiary and over railroad lines, the investigators locate their men at last among the members of a gang of cattle rustlers which is terrorizing the cattle range.

In Bell's supporting cast is Cecilia Parker, who has seven western leads to her credit.

Used For Movies

Though the harbor in the past has been and still is patronized by the large motion picture producers for location purposes, a large volume of valuable business, that would have run into tens of thousands of dollars to the county, was lost because of insufficient depth of the channels to permit vessels of certain draft to enter the bay, according to Frank Smith, member of the firm of Smith Brothers, boat builders and ship chandlers.

Two large producers, the Fox Corporation and the Paramount Studios, engaged in the production of two large pictures, indicated their desire to use the local harbor but were forced to change their plans on being advised of navigation conditions. The Fox concern had planned to use three ships, and the Paramount not less than six boats. The latter company would also have made use of not less than 20 rented speedboats in filming certain scenes. Both companies went to other places, and Orange county lost the business, Smith remarked.

About a month ago the Universal Pictures sent down a company of 75 people, remaining on location for about 10 days. While in the harbor, the company and its employes spent about $400 a day, or $4000 in all, it was stated.

Six weeks ago the F. B. O. studios of Hollywood had a company down at the harbor on a drama play, spending between $250 and $300 for a few days. Shortly before that time the General Pictures company of Hollywood spent $200 a day, working a company of 40 people for six days.

In former years, when smaller boats were used by the motion picture companies, quite a number of Hollywood concerns, including the old Vitagraph, the Mack Sennett and the M-G-M made frequent use of the harbor, it was pointed out. Among major productions filmed at the harbor were "Captain Blood" by the Vitagraph company, lasting four months.

Entry Port

In connection with proposed harbor improvements, to be voted on December 19, several harbor men expressed the desirability of making the Orange county harbor a port of entry for the accommodation of coastwise trade and for clearing seagoing pleasure yachts for foreign ports. As a result of gold mining activities in Lower California, a number of small coastwise vessels, some of them partly financed with Orange county capital, are now engaged making trips between San Pedro and Mexican parts, it was learned. Those vessels, spending considerable money in the purchasing of supplies, would prefer to come to this harbor if adequate facilities were available, it was added.

Such an arangement, it was explained could be effected with but little cost to the federal government. The harbor master, in addition to his present duties, could act as deputy collector of customs. The federal government already maintains a force of immigration officials at the harbor; and a local physician could be appointed to act as quarantine officer, receiving compensation in form of fees, it was explained by Smith, who added that the subject has been discussed by a number of business men.

Making the Orange county harbor a port of entry would not only attract shipping of various types, but serve to hold the interest of the federal government in the development and maintenanc of the harbor, it was added.

EXCELLENT RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¾ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial. (Adv.)

REX BELL IN ACTION THRILLER AT STATE

Coming to the screen of Walker's State theater today in an action epic that tops even the thrills of his series, Rex Bell, ace western star, will be seen in "The Fugitive."

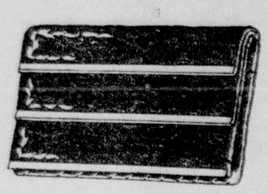

"The Fugitive" is the fast-moving story of the efforts of secret service agents to recover the loot from a half-million dollar mail robbery and bring the crooks to justice. Following a trail that leads from a western penitentiary and over railroad lines, the investigators locate their men at last among the members of a gang of cattle rustlers which is terrorizing the cattle range.

In Bell's supporting cast is Cecilia Parker, who has seven western leads to her credit.

AID IN SPREADING COUNTY TAX BURDEN REFLECTED BY DOHENY BEACH DEVELOPMENT

Doheny Park, located off Capistrano Beach, in the south part of the county, illustrates how new outside wealth and taxable values created along the coastline benefit ranchers and other property owners in the inland districts of the county, according to an interview with H. E. Leyden, manager of the Doheny Palisades properties.

Prior to its present state of development, Doheny Park was 100 acres of unimproved barley land, assessed at $50 to $75 an acre, and paying very little into the county treasury, it was learned. Today, the same tract is paying taxes on the basis of five lots to an acre, having an average value of $500 a lot, thus establishing a valuation of the entire property of some $2,500,000, an increase of more than 2500 per cent.

In addition to this appreciable increase in taxable value, the tract represents an expenditure of $1,000,000 for improvements, including a clubhouse, paved streets, curbs, ornamental lights, parkways, and the like inquiries revealed.

"And," declared Leyden, "you can tell the rancher and inland property owner that we are paying our taxes, and it is all Los Angeles money, along with the gift of a state park for free use of the public valued at more than $100,000. Furthermore, our payroll for maintenance of parks and beach and club facilities runs close to $25,000 a month, all of which goes to upbuilding of Orange county.

Asked why the Doheny interests located at what is now known as Doheny Park and invested large sums of money, Leyden replied, "First, because of the ocean and the climate; second, faith in the future, this south coast is destined to become the North American Riviera."

"We are almost as far away from Newport Bay as anyone in Orange county," the Doheny representative added, "but we will be glad to pay our share of the small harbor cost, for once the federal government comes into our county, its interest will continue as in all other ports under federal control, and no one can foresee the extent federal aid may reach in years to come.

"Orange county is blessed with a natural harbor—the only one on the south coast—and its development will attract the highest class home builders, drawn from all corners of the American continent, for pleasure, climate ,fishing and yachting. It is a mighty fine business proposition for Orange county with the Washington government paying two thirds of the bill, hence I cannot see how any intelligent voter can fail to support the bond issue at the polls, December 19," he concluded.

TRICOUNTY C. E. SESSION WILL OPEN SATURDAY

The fifth annual series of Leadership Training Institutes of the California Christian Endeavor Union for this area will be held December 9 and 10 and will be held in the First Christian church at Fullerton. The sessions will get under way at 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

Supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. Saturday and will be followed by the regular evening session at 7:45 p. m. Breakfast will be served Sunday morning at 7:45 and will be followed by conference periods. Afternoon programs will start at 2 p. m. and final adjournment will be at 4:30 o'clock.

The Institute committee in charge of arrangements for the meetings includes Miss Ada May Visick, state secretary; Howard L. Brown, state general secretary; and Paul C. Brown, state field secretary who will serve as chairman.

Howard Brown will preside as director of the institute and will be assisted by Clarence Kelly, local committee chairman. Rev. Aldis Webb of Long Beach will deliver the principal address Saturday night and the Rev. Thomas Walker of Anaheim will be the speaker Sunday. San Diego, Los Angeles and Orange counties will be included in the institute.

M'FADDEN CALLS PRORATE MEETING

A meeting of the California agricultural prorate commission will be held at the Hotel Covell, in Modesto, next Wednesday afternoon, it was announced today by Arthur J. McFadden, Santa Ana, president of the commission.

In his call for the meeting, McFadden said that he considered many persons present at the farmers and fruit growers convention, which will be in session in Modesto on the day the prorate group meets, might like to discuss various matters at a meeting of the commission.

APPEALS FOR RESPONSE ON T. B. SEAL SALES

An urgent appeal to residents of this city has been made by Mrs. M. M. Holmes, Santa Ana, local Seal Sale chairman, that those who have received seals through the mail this year will send in their remittance as early as possible.

"The great need for carrying on the activities of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association is more necessary this year than ever before," she said. "The Christmas seals supply the support for much needed activities as weekly chest clinic held at the office of the association in Santa Ana, preventorium care for underpar children and furthers a health educational campaign that 'Tuberculosis is Preventable and Curable.'

"Christmas seals are the best kind of health protection for the community and the individual. If anyone has not received any seals they can do so by communicating with the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, First National Bank building in Santa Ana."

LARGE TRUST SET UP IN WILL OF LUMBER MAN

Listing his estate at more than $10.000, Arthur J. Kelley, Lester W. Breiner and Mrs. Alice B. Brown have filed a petition in superior court for probate of the will of W. T. Brown, formerly of the Brown-Dauser Lumber company, who died November 22, last, in Fullerton.

While the estate was listed as being in excess of $10,000, the will mentions a trust consisting of 249.-999 shares of stock in the W. T. Brown Estate, Inc., with a par value of $1 per share, of which Kelley and Breiner were named trustees.

The trust, according to the petition, is for 10 years, and will eventually be distributed among the heirs as follows: Katherine McGill, L Habra, a daughter, 47,995 shares; Mabel B. Butler, La Habra, a daughter, 21,910 shares; Helen Brown, Pasadena, a daughter, 43,-786 shares; W. Grant Brown, Fullerton, a son, 19,392 shares; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Pansy Dawson Brown, also of Fullerton, 19,-392 shares; Dorothy Stinchfield Paggett of Los Angeles, a granddaughter, 50,860 shares; Lorin T. Brown, a grandson, 22,779 shares, and to William A. Brown, a grandson, 23,885.

The will submitted for probate also provided that any other property was to be divided, one-half to the widow, Mrs. Alice Brown, and the other half is to be divided, one-sixth each to Katherine McGill, Mabel Butler, Helen Brown and Dorothy Paggett, and one-twelfth each to W. Grant Brown, his wife, Mrs. Pansy Dawson Brown, Lorin T. Brown and William A. Brown.

Dismiss Action When Complaint Held In Error

Following objection of defense attorneys to the taking of testimony in the case of J. I. Frankenberger who is suing, as guardian for Melville Porter, an alleged incompetent, for asserted recovery of property deeded by Porter to his brother John A. Porter, the case was dismissed in department one of superior court yesterday on motion of Edward Shaw, attorney for Frankenberger.

The objection to the taking of testimony was raised by the law firm of Allen and Lyons, representing John Porter, named as defendant in the action, when Shaw called Melville Porter as his first witness. The objection was based on the grounds that the complaint failed to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, the fault being that the suit was filed in the name of Frankenberger, as guardian of Melville Porter instead of in Porter's name, through his guardian.

The complaint as originally filed against John Porter was to set aside a deed to a half interest in a Fullerton apartment house formerly owned by Melville Porter. Frankenberger as guardian alleged that the deed was fraudulent as no consideration had been received by his ward.

SEEK FORECLOSURE ON COUNTY LAND

Alma B. Gallagher has filed suit in superior court for foreclosure of a mortgage for $12,000 against property in Yorba Linda. She named as defendants W. M. Hunt, Mrs. Maud Hunt, S. A. Salveson, Mrs. Penelope Salveson, H. M. Russell and others.

In her complaint she alleged that the Hunts and Salveson executed a promissory note, December 27, 1930 for $12,000 payable in two years. To secure the loan they mortgaged the property against which foreclosure proceedings have now been instituted.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM S. A. TO GO ON BIG NETWORK

Christmas greetings from Santa Ana to the rest of the world will go out over the air through the medium of 60 major broadcasting stations which are members of the National Broadcasting company chain, it was learned today.

Means for accomplishing this unusual event will be through the appearance of Al Pearce and His Gang, famous radio entertainers, who will give three big shows at the Fox Broadway theater on December 15 and 16, one of which will be broadcast over the big network, it was announced by Manager Les Fountain of the theater.

A special line will be connected with broadcasting apparatus on the stage of the theater when the program to be broadcast is staged at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, December 16.

A full half hour program will be presented during the broadcast which will blanket the nation and give Santa Ana an opportunity to greet the nation. Regular patrons of the show can see the artists broadcast just by going to the show at the time scheduled.

Among the famous artists and entertainers who will participate in the shows, which will be given Friday night, December 15, and Saturday afternoon and evening, December 16, are Maurey Amsterdam, noted comedian, Al Pearce, Cal Pearce, Andy Andrews, Mabel Todd, Tony Ramono, The Three Cheers, the Three Rythmettes, Carlysle Bennett, Earl Hatch, Jackie Archer, Lizzie Tish and Lord Bilgewater.

Y. M. CLASS FOR REFEREES TO OPEN MONDAY

The Y. M. C. A. announces a short course in coaching for basketball referees to start on Monday evening, for two sessions of intensive training.

Arnold Lund, director of physical education at the Willard Junior High school, and an experienced coach and official, will conduct the class on these two evenings, giving a careful analysis of the duties of a referee, and pointing out the practical items to be observed by such an official.

While the course has been planned primarily for the benefit of members of the basketball teams now playing at the Y. M. C. A. in the Church League and the Commercial League, it is open to all men who are interested, it was announced today by Secretary R. C. Smedley. Men and older boys who would like to get a better understanding of the game, both as to playing and as to refereeing, will be welcomed in the class on Monday evening at 7:30. Each one who attends is advised to bring a copy of the rule book for reference. No other textbook will be needed, and no advance registration is required. All who wish to take the work should be present Monday evening for the start.

M'DANIEL APPROVES NEWPORT PROJECT

Development of the Newport harbor not only will afford necessary accommodations for pleasure craft, but it will open the way for coastwise handling of agricultural crops, according to the belief of Bruce McDaniel, general counsel for the Mutual Orange Distributors, well known throughout the Orange county citrus district.

"The second and imperative advantage," McDaniel said, "is that there will be a practical base established for operations in the event of war. Our coastline is such that each such new naval base becomes daily of greater importance.

"The expenditure in Orange county of 76 per cent of the estimated total of $1,835,441 for wages, direct and indirect, should prove highly beneficial to the residents of the county."

LIONS ENJOY PROGRAM BY ELKS QUARTET

With Miss Ruth Armstrong as accompanist and director, this organization has been adding to Santa Ana's fame as a "City of Music," and has proven a popular feature wherever they have appeared, those in touch with its accomplishments report.

Besides directing and accompanying the organization, Miss Armstrong arranges most of the music and adapts it for the use of the double quartet. Members of the singing group include W. H. Gallienne, W. C. Vieira, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, J. A. Miller, A. J. Garroway, F. L. Gibbs, Frank S. Pierce and H. P. Filer.

Included among the numbers presented before the Lions club yesterday noon were "Salutation to the Lions," "Isle of Golden Dreams," "Golden Slippers," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Nola," "When Song Is Sweet," the "Laughing Song," a parody on the Quartet from Rigoletto, and their own impersonation of a German band, called the "Musical Trust." Two numbers, including the "Desert Song," were presented by Frank S. Pierce, baritone soloist of the organization.

Don Jerome was program chairman for the day and arranged for the double quartet program as a special feature.

Ernest N. Winbigler will be chairman of next week's meeting, President Smith announced.

WATCH STOLEN

Royal Gammell, 936 West Myrtle street, reported to police yesterday that his wrist watch was stolen from a locker at the high school yesterday morning.

LAUNCH MOVE TO CONSOLIDATE LOCAL BODIES

A definite movement to consolidate the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Ana Merchants association, divorced for about a year, was launched at a joint meeting of directors of the two organizations last night in the chamber offices in the courthouse annex.

Following a discussion of problems to be met in case the merger is effected, committees were appointed from both organizations to draft a working plan which will be presented to the directorate of both organizations.

President Otto Haan of the chamber who presided at the session, named Hugh J. Lowe, chairman, and Charles Chapman and Fred Newcom members of his committee, while Walter Swanberger, president of the Merchants association, named James N. Harding, chairman, and Gilbert P. Campbell and Jerry Hall members of his committee.

Formation of the committee came following a motion made by Frank Was, chamber director. The committees will meet Monday noon to draw up the working plan.

Every director who spoke last night favored the consolidation of the two groups, the point in issue seeming to be whether or not A. Cavalli, manager of the Merchants association, would be retained on the secretarial staff to work with George Raymer, chamber secretary.

W. C. Jerome outlined the history of prior negotiations. James N. Harding spoke, expressing objection to a letter sent out by the chamber of commerce which he said contained misstatements regarding the Merchants association. Effective work accomplished by Cavalli was pointed out by Merchants association directors, including Claude McDowell, who told how the bakery he manages remained in Santa Ana through efforts of Cavalli and the press.

Jerry Hall said he had noticed a lack of interest in merchant activities by the chamber of commerce, and that this had led to the organization of the Merchants association. Frank Was said the chamber of commerce should do the work of both organizations.

OFFICIALS TO BE BUILDERS' GUESTS

Mayors of the various cities of Orange county and members of the board of supervisors will be special guests at the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Builders' Exchange to be held next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock in the Anaheim Elks home, it was announced today by A. L. Foster, Fullerton, president.

Frederic W. Sanford, secretary-manager of the Exchange, will not be able to attend the meeting, owing to his illness. Stricken with pneumonia about two weeks ago, he has been seriously ill. He has passed the crisis now, however, and is reported to be improving.

SALVATION ARMY KETTLES TO START "BOILING" FOR S. A. NEEDY FAMILIES TOMORROW

Eight Christmas kettles will be stationed at strategic points in the downtown business section tomorrow by the Salvation Army in the annual campaign to raise funds for aiding needy families during the Christmas holiday season, it was announced today by Ensign and Mrs. I. J. Torgeson, Army officials.

As is the custom, passers-by in the streets will be asked to "Keep the Pot Boiling" to aid distressed families this year. Every effort will be made this year to collect enough money in the pots to aid the many family who must rely on the Salvation Army for groceries this Christmas.

A total of 267 persons were given Thanksgiving dinners by the local unit of the Salvation Army, it was added, this having been made possible through the cooperation of schools in Santa Ana and various individuals. Ensign and Mrs. Torgeson extended thanks today for the aid.

During the past month the Army gave out 1046 meals, supplied 464 beds, assisted a total of 497 transients, gave out 14 garments and three pairs of shoes, attended to 113 family cases, gave 82 families bread and milk, aided a total of 410 persons, gave away 1336 quarts of milk and 653 loaves of bread and 22 dozen rolls.

WOMAN SUES FOR NURSING SERVICES

Suit for recovery of $808.75 allegedly due her for personal services rendered the defendant has been filed in superior court by Daisy I. Thompson against William L. Waters, Fullerton attorney. The complaint alleges that the money is due for services rendered at a time when Waters was in ill health.

Mrs. Thompson alleged that he was employed September 1, 1931, to nurse Waters at a salary of $100 per month. She alleges that she was employed until May 23, 1932, and that during that time, in adition to nursing Waters, she did all the housework, including washing and ironing, cared for his two sons and did their laundry for a portion of the time, looked after his personal and legal business and for a while helped to care for approximately 200 rabbits on the Waters ranch.

She alleges that Waters became indebted to her to the extent of $880 for her services and that at present a balance of $808.75 is still due her.

Annual Meetings Of M.O.D. Packing Houses Scheduled

Announcement of annual meetings of packing houses affiliated with the Mutual Orange Distributors was made today, with the first meeting scheduled for January 9, when the Garden Grove Mutual Orange association will meet.

Other meetings are as follows: Santa Ana-Tustin Mutual Citrus association, January 10; Anaheim Co-operative Orange association, January 16; Index Mutual Orange association, January 17; Fullerton Mutual Orange association, January 18; Orange Mutual Citrus association, January 25; Olive Hillside groves, January 30.

SEEK INCREASE TO DOUBLE SIZE OF ORCHESTRA

Beginning Saturday night, a program for enlarging work of the Orange County Students' Orchestra will be inaugurated, it was announced today by William G. Axworthy, musical director of the orchestra.

The orchestra meets for rehearsals every Saturday at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building here. It is planned to increase the orchestra, which now numbers 150 players, to 300.

To assist in this expansion program, an invitation was extended by Director Axworthy for all interested to attend the rehearsal Saturday night. Ages of students have been from 10 to 20 years, although it is primarily an elementary organization. Axworthy pointed out that if a person is just starting on a musical instrument, the entrance in the orchestra should prove of value.

The orchestra has been actively engaged for almost five years, during which time about 40 appearances have been made throughout Southern California.

To Demonstrate Wax Process Of Bronze Casting

Guido Nelli will show a motion picture showing the different stages in the lost wax process of casting in bronze at the regular monthly meting of the Laguna Beach Art association, in the Laguna Gallery, at 7:30 o'clock, the night of January 9, it was announced today by Helen Carter Tiffany, secretary.

Preceding the showing of the pictures, a talk and demonstration will be given by Sherry Peticolas. The picture which will be shown was taken by Nelli during the actual casting of the statue of Beethoven by the sculptor, A. Foerster, which is erected in Pershing Square park, Los Angeles.

AID IN SPREADING COUNTY TAX BURDEN REFLECTED BY DOHENY BEACH DEVELOPMENT

Doheny Park, located off Capistrano Beach, in the south part of the county, illustrates how new outside wealth and taxable values created along the coastline benefit ranchers and other property owners in the inland districts of the county, according to an interview with H. E. Leyden, manager of the Doheny Palisades properties.

Prior to its present state of development, Doheny Park was 100 acres of unimproved barley land, assessed at $50 to $75 an acre, and paying very little into the county treasury, it was learned. Today, the same tract is paying taxes on the basis of five lots to an acre, having an average value of $500 a lot, thus establishing a valuation of the entire property of some $2,500,000, an increase of more than 2500 per cent.

In addition to this appreciable increase in taxable value, the tract represents an expenditure of $1,000,000 for improvements, including a clubhouse, paved streets, curbs, ornamental lights, parkways, and the like inquiries revealed.

"And," declared Leyden, "you can tell the rancher and inland property owner that we are paying our taxes, and it is all Los Angeles money, along with the gift of a state park for free use of the public valued at more than $100,000. Furthermore, our payroll for maintenance of parks and beach and club facilities runs close to $25,000 a month, all of which goes to upbuilding of Orange county.

Asked why the Doheny interests located at what is now known as Doheny Park and invested large sums of money, Leyden replied, "First, because of the ocean and the climate; second, faith in the future, this south coast is destined to become the North American Riviera."

"We are almost as far away from Newport Bay as anyone in Orange county," the Doheny representative added, "but we will be glad to pay our share of the small harbor cost, for once the federal government comes into our county, its interest will continue as in all other ports under federal control, and no one can foresee the extent federal aid may reach in years to come.

"Orange county is blessed with a natural harbor—the only one on the south coast—and its development will attract the highest class home builders, drawn from all corners of the American continent, for pleasure, climate ,fishing and yachting. It is a mighty fine business proposition for Orange county with the Washington government paying two thirds of the bill, hence I cannot see how any intelligent voter can fail to support the bond issue at the polls, December 19," he concluded.

TRICOUNTY C. E. SESSION WILL OPEN SATURDAY

The fifth annual series of Leadership Training Institutes of the California Christian Endeavor Union for this area will be held December 9 and 10 and will be held in the First Christian church at Fullerton. The sessions will get under way at 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

Supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. Saturday and will be followed by the regular evening session at 7:45 p. m. Breakfast will be served Sunday morning at 7:45 and will be followed by conference periods. Afternoon programs will start at 2 p. m. and final adjournment will be at 4:30 o'clock.

The Institute committee in charge of arrangements for the meetings includes Miss Ada May Visick, state secretary; Howard L. Brown, state general secretary; and Paul C. Brown, state field secretary who will serve as chairman.

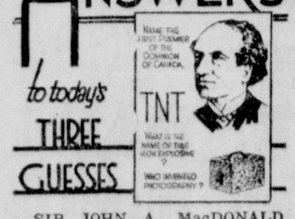

Howard Brown will preside as director of the institute and will be assisted by Clarence Kelly, local committee chairman. Rev. Aldis Webb of Long Beach will deliver the principal address Saturday night and the Rev. Thomas Walker of Anaheim will be the speaker Sunday. San Diego, Los Angeles and Orange counties will be included in the institute.

M'FADDEN CALLS PRORATE MEETING

A meeting of the California agricultural prorate commission will be held at the Hotel Covell, in Modesto, next Wednesday afternoon, it was announced today by Arthur J. McFadden, Santa Ana, president of the commission.

In his call for the meeting, McFadden said that he considered many persons present at the farmers and fruit growers convention, which will be in session in Modesto on the day the prorate group meets, might like to discuss various matters at a meeting of the commission.

Dismiss Action When Complaint Held In Error

Following objection of defense attorneys to the taking of testimony in the case of J. I. Frankenberger who is suing, as guardian for Melville Porter, an alleged incompetent, for asserted recovery of property deeded by Porter to his brother John A. Porter, the case was dismissed in department one of superior court yesterday on motion of Edward Shaw, attorney for Frankenberger.

The objection to the taking of testimony was raised by the law firm of Allen and Lyons, representing John Porter, named as defendant in the action, when Shaw called Melville Porter as his first witness. The objection was based on the grounds that the complaint failed to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, the fault being that the suit was filed in the name of Frankenberger, as guardian of Melville Porter instead of in Porter's name, through his guardian.

The complaint as originally filed against John Porter was to set aside a deed to a half interest in a Fullerton apartment house formerly owned by Melville Porter. Frankenberger as guardian alleged that the deed was fraudulent as no consideration had been received by his ward.

An urgent appeal to residents of this city has been made by Mrs. M. M. Holmes, Santa Ana, local Seal Sale chairman, that those who have received seals through the mail this year will send in their remittance as early as possible.

"The great need for carrying on the activities of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association is more necessary this year than ever before," she said. "The Christmas seals supply the support for much needed activities as weekly chest clinic held at the office of the association in Santa Ana, preventorium care for underpar children and furthers a health educational campaign that 'Tuberculosis is Preventable and Curable.'

"Christmas seals are the best kind of health protection for the community and the individual. If anyone has not received any seals they can do so by communicating with the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, First National Bank building in Santa Ana."

LARGE TRUST SET UP IN WILL OF LUMBER MAN

Listing his estate at more than $10,000, Arthur J. Kelley, Lester W. Breiner and Mrs. Alice B. Brown have filed a petition in superior court for probate of the will of W. T. Brown, formerly of the Brown-Dauser Lumber company, who died November 22, last, in Fullerton.

While the estate was listed as being in excess of $10,000, the will mentions a trust consisting of 249.-999 shares of stock in the W. T. Brown Estate, Inc., with a par value of $1 per share, of which Kelley and Breiner were named trustees.

The trust, according to the petition, is for 10 years, and will eventually be distributed among the heirs as follows: Katherine McGill, L Habra, a daughter, 47,995 shares; Mabel B. Butler, La Habra, a daughter, 21,910 shares; Helen Brown, Pasadena, a daughter, 43,-786 shares; W. Grant Brown, Fullerton, a son, 19,392 shares; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Pansy Dawson Brown, also of Fullerton, 19,-392 shares; Dorothy Stinchfield Paggett of Los Angeles, a granddaughter, 50,860 shares; Lorin T. Brown, a grandson, 22,779 shares, and to William A. Brown, a grandson, 23,885.

The will submitted for probate also provided that any other property was to be divided, one-half to the widow. Mrs. Alice Brown, and the other half is to be divided, one-sixth each to Katherine McGill, Mabel Butler, Helen Brown and Dorothy Paggett, and one-twelfth each to W. Grant Brown, his wife, Mrs. Pansy Dawson Brown, Lorin T. Brown and William A. Brown.

SEEK FORECLOSURE ON COUNTY LAND

Alma B. Gallagher has filed suit in superior court for foreclosure of a mortgage for $12,000 against property in Yorba Linda. She named as defendants W. M. Hunt, Mrs. Maud Hunt, S. A. Salveson, Mrs. Penelope Salveson, H. M. Russell and others.

In her complaint she alleged that the Hunts and Salveson executed a promissory note, December 27, 1930 for $12,000 payable in two years. To secure the loan they mortgaged the property against which foreclosure proceedings have now been instituted.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM S. A. TO GO ON BIG NETWORK

Christmas greetings from Santa Ana to the rest of the world will go out over the air through the medium of 60 major broadcasting stations which are members of the National Broadcasting company chain, it was learned today.

Means for accomplishing this unusual event will be through the appearance of Al Pearce and His Gang, famous radio entertainers, who will give three big shows at the Fox Broadway theater on December 15 and 16, one of which will be broadcast over the big network, it was announced by Manager Les Fountain of the theater.

A special line will be connected with broadcasting apparatus on the stage of the theater when the program to be broadcast is staged at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, December 16.

A full half hour program will be presented during the broadcast which will blanket the nation and give Santa Ana an opportunity to greet the nation. Regular patrons of the show can see the artists broadcast just by going to the show at the time scheduled.

Among the famous artists and entertainers who will participate in the shows, which will be given Friday night, December 15, and Saturday afternoon and evening, December 16, are Maurey Amsterdam, noted comedian, Al Pearce, Cal Pearce, Andy Andrews, Mabel Todd, Tony Ramono, The Three Cheers, the Three Rythmettes, Carlysle Bennett, Earl Hatch, Jackie Archer, Lizzie Tish and Lord Bilgewater.

Y. M. CLASS FOR REFEREES TO OPEN MONDAY

The Y. M. C. A. announces a short course in coaching for basketball referees to start on Monday evening, for two sessions of intensive trainng.

Arnold Lund, director of physical education at the Willard Junior High school, and an experienced coach and official, will conduct the class on these two evenings, giving a careful analysis of the duties of a referee, and pointing out the practical items to be observed by such an official.

While the course has been planned primarily for the benefit of members of the basketball teams now playing at the Y. M. C. A. in the Church League and the Commercial League, it is open to all men who are interested, it was announced today by Secretary R. C. Smedley. Men and older boys who would like to get a better understanding of the game, both as to playing and as to refereeing, will be welcomed in the class on Monday evening at 7:30. Each one who attends is advised to bring a copy of the rule book for reference. No other textbook will be needed, and no advance registration is required. All who wish to take the work should be present Monday evening for the start.

M'DANIEL APPROVES NEWPORT PROJECT

Development of the Newport harbor not only will afford necessary accommodations for pleasure craft, but it will open the way for coastwise handling of agricultural crops, according to the belief of Bruce McDaniel, general counsel for the Mutual Orange Distributors, well known throughout the Orange county citrus district.

"The second and imperative advantage," McDaniel said, "is that there will be a practical base established for operations in the event of war. Our coastline is such that each such new naval base becomes daily of greater importance.

"The expenditure in Orange county of 76 per cent of the estimated total of $1,835,441 for wages, direct and indirect, should prove highly beneficial to the residents of the county."

LIONS ENJOY PROGRAM BY ELKS QUARTET

With Miss Ruth Armstrong as accompanist and director, this organization has been adding to Santa Ana's fame as a "City of Music," and has proven a popular feature wherever they have appeared, those in touch with its accomplishments report.

Besides directing and accompanying the organization, Miss Armstrong arranges most of the music and adapts it for the use of the double quartet. Members of the singing group include W. H. Gallienne, W. C. Vieira, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, J. A. Miller, A. J. Garroway, F. L. Gibbs, Frank S. Pierce and H. P. Filer.

Included among the numbers presented before the Lions club yesterday noon were "Salutation to the Lions," "Isle of Golden Dreams," "Golden Slippers," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Nola," "When Song Is Sweet," the "Laughing Song," a parody on the Quartet from Rigoletto, and their own impersonation of a German band, called the "Musical Trust." Two numbers, including the "Desert Song," were presented by Frank S. Pierce, baritone soloist of the organization.

Don Jerome was program chairman for the day and arranged for the double quartet program as a special feature.

Ernest N. Winbigler will be chairman of next week's meeting, President Smith announced.

LAUNCH MOVE TO CONSOLIDATE LOCAL BODIES

A definite movement to consolidate the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Ana Merchants association, divorced for about a year, was launched at a joint meeting of directors of the two organizations last night in the chamber offices in the courthouse annex.

Following a discussion of problems to be met in case the merger is effected, committees were appointed from both organizations to draft a working plan which will be presented to the directorate of both organizations.

President Otto Haan of the chamber who presided at the session, named Hugh J. Lowe, chairman, and Charles Chapman and Fred Newcom members of his committee, while Walter Swanberger, president of the Merchants association, named James N. Harding, chairman, and Gilbert P. Campbell and Jerry Hall members of his committee.

Formation of the committee came following a motion made by Frank Was, chamber director. The committees will meet Monday noon to draw up the working plan.

Every director who spoke last night favored the consolidation of the two groups, the point in issue seeming to be whether or not A. Cavalli, manager of the Merchants association, would be retained on the secretarial staff to work with George Raymer, chamber secretary.

W. C. Jerome outlined the history of prior negotiations. James N. Harding spoke, expressing objection to a letter sent out by the chamber of commerce which he said contained misstatements regarding the Merchants association. Effective work accomplished by Cavalli was pointed out by Merchants association directors, including Claude McDowell, who told how the bakery he manages remained in Santa Ana through efforts of Cavalli and the press.

Jerry Hall said he had noticed a lack of interest in merchant activities by the chamber of commerce, and that this had led to the organization of the Merchants association. Frank Was said the chamber of commerce should do the work of both organizations.

OFFICIALS TO BE BUILDERS' GUESTS

Mayors of the various cities of Orange county and members of the board of supervisors will be special guests at the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Builders' Exchange to be held next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock in the Anaheim Elks home, it was announced today by A. L. Foster, Fullerton, president.

Frederic W. Sanford, secretary-manager of the Exchange, will not be able to attend the meeting, owing to his illness. Stricken with pneumonia about two weeks ago, he has been seriously ill. He has passed the crisis now, however, and is reported to be improving.

SALVATION ARMY KETTLES TO START "BOILING" FOR S. A. NEEDY FAMILIES TOMORROW

Eight Christmas kettles will be stationed at strategic points in the downtown business section tomorrow by the Salvation Army in the annual campaign to raise funds for aiding needy families during the Christmas holiday season, it was announced today by Ensign and Mrs. I. J. Torgeson, Army officials.

As is the custom, passers-by in the streets will be asked to "Keep the Pot Boiling" to aid distressed families this year. Every effort will be made this year to collect enough money in the pots to aid the many family who must rely on the Salvation Army for groceries this Christmas.

A total of 267 persons were given Thanksgiving dinners by the local unit of the Salvation Army, it was added, this having been made possible through the cooperation of schools in Santa Ana and various individuals. Ensign and Mrs. Torgeson extended thanks today for the aid.

During the past month the Army gave out 1046 meals, supplied 464 beds, assisted a total of 497 transients, gave out 14 garments and three pairs of shoes, attended to 113 family cases, gave 82 families bread and milk, aided a total of 410 persons, gave away 1336 quarts of milk and 653 loaves of bread and 22 dozen rolls.

WOMAN SUES FOR NURSING SERVICES

Suit for recovery of $808.75 allegedly due her for personal services rendered the defendant has been filed in superior court by Daisy I. Thompson against William L. Waters, Fullerton attorney. The complaint alleges that the money is due for services rendered at a time when Waters was in ill health.

Mrs. Thompson alleged that he was employed September 1, 1931, to nurse Waters at a salary of $100 per month. She alleges that she was employed until May 23, 1932, and that during that time, in adition to nursing Waters, she did all the housework, including washing and ironing, cared for his two sons and did their laundry for a portion of the time, looked after his personal and legal business and for a while helped to care for approximately 200 rabbits on the Waters ranch.

She alleges that Waters became indebted to her to the extent of $880 for her services and that at present a balance of $808.75 is still due her.

Annual Meetings Of M.O.D. Packing Houses Scheduled

Announcement of annual meetings of packing houses affiliated with the Mutual Orange Distributors was made today, with the first meeting scheduled for January 9, when the Garden Grove Mutual Orange association will meet.

Other meetings are as follows: Santa Ana-Tustin Mutual Citrus association, January 10; Anaheim Co-operative Orange association, January 16; Index Mutual Orange association, January 17; Fullerton Mutual Orange association, January 18; Orange Mutual Citrus association, January 25; Olive Hillside groves, January 30.

SEEK INCREASE TO DOUBLE SIZE OF ORCHESTRA

Beginning Saturday night, a program for enlarging work of the Orange County Students' Orchestra will be inaugurated, it was announced today by William G. Axworthy, musical director of the orchestra.

The orchestra meets for rehearsals every Saturday at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building here. It is planned to increase the orchestra, which now numbers 150 players, to 300.

To assist in this expansion program, an invitation was extended by Director Axworthy for all interested to attend the rehearsal Saturday night. Ages of students have been from 10 to 20 years, although it is primarily an elementary organization. Axworthy pointed out that if a person is just starting on a musical instrument, the entrance in the orchestra should prove of value.

The orchestra has been actively engaged for almost five years, during which time about 40 appearances have been made throughout Southern California.

To Demonstrate Wax Process Of Bronze Casting

Guido Nelli will show a motion picture showing the different stages in the lost wax process of casting in bronze at the regular monthly meting of the Laguna Beach Art association, in the Laguna Gallery, at 7:30 o'clock, the night of January 9, it was announced today by Helen Carter Tiffany, secretary.

Preceding the showing of the pictures, a talk and demonstration will be given by Sherry Peticolas. The picture which will be shown was taken by Nelli during the actual casting of the statue of Beethoven by the sculptor, A. Foerster, which is erected in Pershing Square park, Los Angeles.

County Women Organize To Support Harbor Bond Project

Evidence of women's co-operation in the Orange County Harbor association project, was given this week when Mrs. Frank H. Paterson, chairman of the women's division, and her executive committee met at the Doris Kathryn with J. F. Burke as featured speaker.

The message being brought to Mrs. Paterson from all sections of the county, is that women are rallying to the support of the harbor proposition to be voted upon December 19. They see in the project, not only a means of creating immediate employment, but the promise of countless future permanent jobs which will enable young people of the community to make a livelihood.

The illuminating talk given by Mr. Burke was followed by an open discussion during which much additional information was given. The need of educating the public and informing everyone of actual facts regarding the proposed development, was stressed.

Included among the women present were the chairman, Mrs. Paterson and Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, Santa Ana; Mrs. J. P. Brastad, Anaheim; Mrs. A. C. Robbins Garden Grove; Mrs. Alfred Smith, Newport; Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Tustin; Mrs. Floyd Annin, Fullerton; Mrs. T. L. McFadden, Placentia; Mrs. H. E. Stahler, Mrs. Grace Wyckoff, Miss Ruth Brown, Balboa; Mrs. Sussdorf, Lido Isle.

Gold Star Mothers

Santa Ana chapter No. 4, American Gold Star Mothers, held their December meeting this week with Mrs. Jennie Graves of West Pine street, where they assembled in the morning hours with their contributions to the delicious luncheon menu enjoyed at noon.

Special guests at this feature of the day were two Gold Star Fathers, John Wubben and John Graves, while Mrs. Graves jr., daughter-in-law of the hostess filled a double post by being a special guest and also by serving the luncheon.

Chapter members present were Mesdames Bessie Windham, Edith Reynolds, Emma Christensen, Martha Elliott, Martha Wubben, Mary Croal, Dora Sweeney, Grace Lanning, Susie Lamb, Iona S. Sharp and the hostess, Mrs. Graves, and one visiting Gold Star Mother, Mrs. Ida E. Canaday of 1025 West Second street.

After a social hour in the early afternoon, Mrs. Windham, president, called a business meeting which had two special features. The first was initiation of two new members, Mrs. Canaday and Mrs. Myrtle E. Stull, 514 South Ross street. Election of officers was the chief feature, and Mrs. Iona Sharp was named president; Mrs. Edith Reynolds, first vice president; Mrs. Martha Elliott, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Croal, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Grace Lanning, chaplain and Mrs. Dora Sweeney, sergeant-at-arms.

Installation will take place at the January meeting which will be on the second Monday of the month with Mrs. Christiansen, Holt avenue, Tustin. The usual covered dish luncheon will be held at noon, and the Mothers will observe their annual Christmas exchange of gifts.

Parent-Teachers

Paularino

Making plans for a community Christmas program to be presented Friday evening, December 15, at 7 p. m., in the schoolhouse, members of Paularino P.-T. A. held their latest meeting in the school. There will be a Christmas Tree in connection with the affair.

The Fourth District P.-T. A.'s treasure chest of handicraft of all kinds was on display at the meeting. Surprise refreshments were served by Mrs. Renders at the close of the afternoon.

Housewarming Carries Out Hard Times Theme

Carrying out plans for a housewarming in keeping with a clever hard times' motif, a group of friends participated in a merry evening Wednesday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Dean, 1501 North Main street, until recently residents of 2439 Heliotrope drive.

The couples arranging for the surprise event met at the back door of the new Dean residence, entering with brooms, mops and brushes which were immediately put to use throughout the rooms of the home, much to the amazement of Dr. and Mrs. Dean.

Plans for the unusual evening included the presentation of white elephant gifts, wrapped in newspapers, to the honor guests, who later in the evening received a handsome present for their home from the assembled friends.

Tallies distributed for card games were made of paper, with rope used for ribbons. Joke gifts were awarded Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pearson, who scored high, and Mrs. Don Murphy and John J. Vernon, low.

Refreshments suitable to the occasion were served in the kitchen, where newspaper comic sheets had been spread on the floor, with a make-believe campfire serving as a centerpiece. Mixing bowls, wooden spoons and tinware were appointments.

Those present, other than Dr. and Mrs. Dean, were Messrs. and Mesdames Leslie Pearson, George Lippincott, John J. Vernon, Edward U. Farmer and Don Murphy.

Calumpit Auxiliary

Officers presiding over the meeting wore corsage bouquets of sweet peas tied with silver, gifts of Mrs. Bertha M. Dixon in honor of the presence of special guests. They included Ann C. Jasimer and Edna C. Judd of Los Angeles, past national president and past national secretary of U. S. W. V. Auxiliary; Stella Packard and Ann Anderson, president and past president of Helen Gould auxiliary, Pasadena; Mrs. O. Stambro and Mrs. E. Watson of Worwick Auxiliary, Fullerton. Mrs. Judd told of an essay writing contest on the Flag being conducted in schools under the auspices of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Martha Pilch of Garden Grove was initiated as a new member; applications for membership were received from Maud Schiel, Susan E. Wine, Ruth E. Garst and Nerva E. Weekley.

Announcements were made that an all-day meeting of the Sewing Circle will be held next Wednesday in the home of Mrs. John Markwalder, 949 West Chestnut street, with all members to bring table service for a covered dish luncheon at noon and food to be distributed to the needy; that Calumpit camp and auxiliary will have a covered dish dinner December 26 at 6:30 p. m., with Mrs. H. Reed in charge; that the drill team will have a benefit card party on the evening of December 12.

Mrs. Katherine Reagan, president, was in charge of the business meeting. Mesdames A. Hall, Emma K. Wassum and Jean Tantlinger were appointed to attend Orange County Welfare association meetings for 1934. The charter was draped for Allie Bennett, a former member of the organization, who passed away in Petersburgh, Mich.

The group made plans to attend the reception for Russell C. Martin of Los Angeles, commander in chief of the G. A. R., to be held on the evening of December 8 in K. P. hall.

Winifred Ketchum of Bakersfield, president of the department of California, will be honor guest at the next meeting of the auxiliary.

You and your friends

Among recent guests at Yosemite Lodge in Yosemite National park were F. L. Carrier and his son, Stewart Carrier, 901 South Birch street. The new Wawona road into the park will be kept open as far as the Mariposa Grove of big trees during the winter months, affording easy access to a winter sports program in the park.

BACKACHE RELIEF

PERIODIC pains every month, backache, or the weakening drain from which women often suffer, can be overcome by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Then, too, in middle life it's just the right remedy for the woman who suffers from nervousness and "heat flashes." Hear what Mrs. J. Sniiger of 139 Prague St., San Francisco, has to say: "I was bothered with the lower part of my back aching continually. But after taking half a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I began to get relief and after taking four bottles I feel well and strong again." Sold by druggists.

Hermosa Installation Draws Large Crowd To Temple

Brilliant with many flowers, the large chapter room of Masonic temple was the scene of an animated gathering at this week's meeting of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., for installation of new officers attracted a crowd of some 600 Eastern Star members to the temple.

Installing officers were Z. Bertrand West, master of ceremonies; Lois Osterman, marshal; Marian Wallace and W. B. McConnell, junior past matron and patron, assisted by Amber Burke, past deputy grand matron, who installed the new worthy matron, Mrs. Nell Neighbour; Leota Allen, chaplain; Mayme Havens, organist, and Messrs. Hugh Neighbour, Neal Beisel, Bert Wallace, Francis Jacoby, George Osterman and Roy Shafer, ushers.

On the reception committee were three past matrons—Marie Beisel, Grace Wilson and Irene Mitchell—while the flower committee was composed of Helen Lurker, Leona Miller and Gladys Marie Miller.

Formal installation rites were administered to Nell Neighbour, worthy matron; Franklin G. West, worthy patron; Vera Jacoby, associate matron; Dr. Cassius Paul, associate patron; Nell D. Winslow, secretary; Etta D. Sweet, treasurer; Henrietta Bohling, conductress; Elizabeth Lewis, associate conductress; Lena Hewitt, chapiain; Marguerite Cave, marshal; Mary Margaret Reed, Ada; Evelyn Imhoff, Ruth; Lois LeBard, Esther; Evelyn Coutts, Martha; Ada Cave, Electa; Jean Smith, warden; Robert White, sentinel; Eugene McBurney, flag bearer; Pearl Livesey, soloist, and Leota Allen, prompter.

Outstanding features of the ritual included the presentation of beautiful flowers from the new patron to his worthy matron, Mrs. Neighbour, by the latter's small daughter, Ruanne Neighbour; the work of Elizabeth West as installing marshall when her husband, Franklyn G. West, was placed in the worthy patron's chair; the presentation by Lillian Armstrong of the past matron's jewel to Mrs. Wallace, and Franklyn West's presentation of the patron's jewel to W. B. McConnell, the two having completed a highly successful year in office, and finally, the gift of a fine gavel from Mr. West to Mrs. Neighbour.

Interspersed with the ritualistic features were appropriate songs by Pearl Livesey, with Miss Havens as accompanist. She included "The Blessing of Allah," and several others, one with a whistled obligato by Miss Mildred Marchant, and closed the program with the impressive "Goodnight." Joy Briscoe added other lovely songs, including "Poems," the words of which were by Agnes Davenport Bond, with music by Ethel Macurda.

Special introductions and escort honors were accorded Mrs. May Henry of Garden Grove, deputy worthy grand matron of District 57; Mrs. Alice Rugg, new president of Amber Circle, and all 1933 and 1934 officers present.

On the meeting night of December 18 Hermosa chapter will follow the closed business session with a family Christmas party and gift exchange. Each person attending must bring a gift, those of adults not to exceed a quarter in price, with 15 cents as the limit for children's gifts.

Fraternity Furthers Dance Plans

Furthering arrangements for their holiday dance to be held December 23 at 9 p. m. at Long Beach Municipal Country club, members of Sigma Alpha fraternity announced today that for the first time the annual affair will be open to young people outside the fraternity.

The dance will come as a climax to homecoming week, with December 21, 22 and 23 designated as days for special observances. Bom Wimbush, Walter Wilson and Otto Grigg are on the committee in charge, assisting the president, Walter Hendrie, in making all arrangements.

Music is to be provided by the Blue Harmony Boys, a 10-piece orchestra which played for the naval ball in Long Beach.

Auxiliary Furthers Benefit Party Plans

With their benefit party scheduled for Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in Getty hall, members of American Legion auxiliary devoted much of their meeting last night in the hall to furthering of plans for the event. Proceeds are to be used for welfare work.

There were two talks of interest, Mrs. Healy of Chicago talking on "Color Scheme and Interior Decorating," and Thomas Pickerill discussing the Harbor Bond issue.

Mrs. A. C. Eklund, president, was in charge of the business meeting, during which it was decided to send a sum of money to the state department's fund for child welfare and rehabilitation. It was reported that the local auxiliary had distributed three Thanksgiving baskets, and that the Mothers' club at its latest meeting tied four quilts for welfare distribution.

Plans were made for the annual party Friday evening, December 22 at 7 o'clock, for veterans of San Fernando hospital. This will be held in the hospital under the auspices of the local auxiliary. The committees in charge is asking for donations of home-made cakes and candies. Those wishing further information on plans are to communicate with Mrs. Eklund or Mrs. David Jellis.

Y.W.C.A. News Notes

Wryende Maegdenu Club

Mrs. John Tessmann will review "Anthony Adverse" at the meeting of Wryende Maegdenu club on Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. In addition to this interesting feature there will be an opportunity for the group to learn Christmas carols both old and new.

Cabinet members will meet at the home of Miss Mary Ford Monday evening. Plans for an educational houseparty in January, and for the Midwinter Conference for Business Girls in Pasadena in February will be discussed at this meeting.

Board of Directors

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. W. C. A board of directors will be called by Mrs. John Henderson, president, on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Discussion of a membership campaign for February and of local volunteer association leadership will occupy the greater part of the evening.

Book Discussion Group

Dr. Esther Harding's book "The Way of All Women" will be the topic for discussion at the regular group meeting at the home of Miss Genevieve Humiston on next Wednesday evening. Supper will be served at 6:30 with Miss Nancy Elder as co-hostess with Miss Humiston.

Christmas Party

A rollicking Christmas party will be given Friday evening December 15 for all Junior High school Girl Reserves in Santa Ana. The party will be at the Y. W. C. A. and the invitations have gone out for 7 o'clock. Each Girl Reserve club has assumed some responsibility for the party which promises to be a jolly one.

The True Triangle and The Seekers will be in charge of decorations. Pocahontas club and Nunda Waga Girl Reserves will be responsible for refreshments. Invitations were made and sent out by the members of the Swastika club. Music and Santa Claus are being provided by the girls of the L. G. R. club while games for the evening are to be in the hands of the members of the Friendly Triangle. Tustin Girl Reserves are helping provide the music.

Christmas Program

The Junior High School Girl Reserve chorus will present a program of Christmas music for the enjoyment of their parents and friends on Sunday afternoon, December 17 at 4:30 p. m. The chorus has been rehearsing for many weeks in preparation for this event and cordially invites all those interested in hearing Christmas music to attend. The chorus will be assisted by Miss Virginia Shoemaker, cellist.

This same group of girls will go carolling on the evening of December 20, meeting at the Y. W. C. A. at 8:30. They will be glad to carol at any home making the request. This may be done by calling the Y. W. C. A.

The chorus may also be heard over Radio KREG on Saturday, December 23 at 12 o'clock.

Senior High Girl Reserves

There will be no general meeting of the High School Girl Reserves Monday. There are to be, however, special called meetings of the various departments and girls are asked to get in touch with the chairmen of their departments to determine where and when the meetings will be held.

International Relations

The Y. W. C. A has been chosen as the meeting place for the Council of International Relations meeting on Thursday evening for a 6:30 dinner. The problems of Germany will be discussed, led by Sam Hurwitz and T. H. Glenn.

Girl Reserve Advisors

An interesting meeting of Santa Ana Junior High School Girl Reserves advisors was held at the Y. W. C. A. late Thursday afternoon. Instruction in book-binding was given by Mrs. Wallace Walton while Miss Mary Paxton assisted in the making of corn starch paper for the book covers. Following the work period a pot-luck supper was enjoyed by the group and Girl Reserve songs were rehearsed

Contract Club Motors To Lake Elsinore For Luncheon

This week's meeting of a friendly foursome of contract bridge enthusiasts was made especially enjoyable, for the members had the additional pleasure of a forenoon drive to Elsinore, where they were accorded cordial welcome to the cottage which Mrs. A. F. LeGaye has taken for the winter.

Young Arthur LeGaye, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. LeGaye, 121 East Washington avenue, is recovering from a long and serious illness, and to hasten that recovery, Mrs. LeGaye has taken him to Elsinore for the winter months. The pleasant cottage which they are occupying, was given a Christmas aspect by the flowers and pretty appointments which the hostess used for the luncheon hour. This followed immediately after the arrival of the guests, all of whom accompanied Mrs. Charles E. Borchard in her big seven-passenger car.

Mrs. E. B. Collier scored high in the afternoon's series of games, with second prize going to Mrs. P. B. Gillespie.

College Service Clubs Are Entertained By New Members

Moav Club

A diverting topsy turvy party complimented Moavs when new members welcomed them in the home of Miss Barbara Allen, 614 South McClay street. Requested to appear with their clothes on backwards, club members were greeted at the back door.

The first feature of the evening was the serving of refreshments with cake and ice cream followed by sandwiches. A game of asking and answering questions backwards, won by Miss Marian Bruner, was followed by Chinese bridge. Prizes were awarded Miss Ernestine Wakeham and Miss Virginia Lee Harper before playing began.

During a business session plans were made for the annual alumnae party to be held after Christmas. Miss Kay Gorath will be in charge.

Hostesses were the Misses Virginia Harper, Mildred Haskell, Lucille Scheifer, Barbara Allen, Frances Wilbur, Alice Stoner, Arden Murray, Roberta Chaminess and Alta Fisher. Guests were the Misses Evelyn Richardson, Natalie Neff, Ernestine Wakeham, Eulabelle Smith, Catherine Hull, Lida Mitchell, Ardith Parham, Jeanne Leive, Betty Heil, Esther Vogt and Marian Bruner and Miss Mabel Whiting.

Las Meninas

Individual tables centered with tiny bouquets of autumn flowers greeted present members of Las Meninas when new members honored at a dinner in the home of Miss Martha Tuthill, 2035 Victoria drive.

The delicious menu was followed by readings by Miss Evelyn Myracle. Plans were made for future social affairs which will include an informal Christmas party, the annual mothers' tea on December 17 and an informal business meeting on December 18 at which time food stuffs will be collected for Christmas baskets.

Hostesses for the affair were the Misses Mary Jane Mitchell, Frankie McDonald, Eloise Schrier, Janet Welty, Beulah Davis, Jane Crawford, Margaret Hoefner, Dolores Swenson, Verona Swanson, Martha Tuthill, Blanche Illingsworth, Lois Kiser and Willena Bell. Others present besides Miss Genevieve Humison and Miss Dorothy Decker were the Misses Alline Buck, Dorothy Tedford, Leonore Walker, Ruth Crowl, Jo Derigo, Erma Seamans, Marian Leihy, Evelyn Furtsch, Frances Robinson, Joy McPhee, Norma Wilson and Verna Helm.

Las Gitanas

Plans were underway at the meeting of Las Gitanas with Miss Florence Warmer, 613 Spurgeon street, for a benefit bridge party which new members under Miss Susana Alexander, will present. The date for the affair was set for January 12. A slumber party was planned for the coming Saturday night in the home of Miss Naomi Wheeler, Anaheim, preceded by a theater party.

Joint Affair

Sisterhood of Spinsters and Brotherhood of Bachelors joined for a social evening in the home of Miss Pauline Berry, 415 Wakeham street, following separate business sessions held in Miss Berry's home and with George Curtis in Orange.

Spinsters discussed a treasure hunt to be given Saturday evening with Miss Florence Campbell in charge and their annual Christmas charity to be in charge of Miss Yetive Blank. Bachelors made arrangements for initiation of pledges next Monday night.

Bridge and dancing followed and refreshments were served.

Spinsters Alumnae

Preparations for Christmas gifts were made at the meeting of Alumnae Sisterhood of Spinsters with Miss Florence Turner, 706 Spurgeon street. Bridge was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Miss Turner. The next meeting will be held with Miss Nelle Grafton in Anaheim.

Los Gauchos

Formal initiation by firelight was held for pledges of Los Gauchos when the club met with George Farquhar at Huntington Beach. It was decided that the entire club would support the football team by attending the game in Los Angeles next Saturday. Ray St. Claire was appointed service chairman and it will be his duty to investigate any service which the club can perform. Orville Plumlee was appointed social chairman. New pins representing a gaucho on horseback were ordered. Cards and refreshments concluded the evening.

Buccaneers

Buccaneers holding their business meeting in the home of Earl Motley, 424 South Broadway, planned a Christmas party with one of the women's clubs to be held during Christmas vacation as well as another Christmas party for members. Formal initiation will be held at the next meeting of the club and it was decided that members will wear red sashes every Tuesday. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Junior Lions

The impresive Junior Lion ritual was given pledges at the club meeting with Stewart Meece at Huntington Beach. This was followed by an amusing kangaroo court for pledges. Refreshments were served followed by a social evening.

EIGHT NEW PUPILS

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 8.—Eight new pupils were admitted into Westminster school this week. The children are Beverly McCampbell, first grade; Juanita McCampbell, sixth grade, and Ida McCampbell, eighth grade, from Montana; Helen Curts, fourth grade, from near San Francisco; Mamie and Phyllis Burhlage, formerly of this district and a transfer from Garden Grove; Joe Lara and Daniel Lara, fourth and eighth grades, respectively of El Modena.

The enrollment in the eighth grade is now 44, the largest number ever enrolled in a local commencement class.

Church Societies

Episcopal Auxiliary

Members of the Women's auxiliary, Episcopal Church of the Messiah, spent a pleasant and profitable day Wednesday, assembling in the Parish hall in the forenoon hours, and sharing a sandwich and coffee luncheon at noon.

Many members, unable to be present for the morning session, arrived for the afternoon which opened with a business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Marshall Harnois. The kitchen shower which had been announced for the benefit of the culinary department of the church, was an unqualified success, and in addition to the array of sadly needed kitchen equipment received, were the generous promises of more to come.

Featured on the program was a review of the play, "Dust of the Road" by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, given by Mrs. Robert Horn. She gave a striking synopsis of the play, and dramatized short passages from time to time, to the thorough enjoyment of an appreciative audience.

Missionary Society

Devoting their meeting Wednesday in the church to a program on the American Indian, members of the Women's Home Missionary society of First Methodist church took part in an afternoon of marked enjoyment. Mrs. Theo. Winbigler, Mrs. P. Blower, Mrs. E. Maier and Mrs. H. A. Wassum were members of the committee in charge.

In Indian tepee, Indian rugs, pottery and baskets, many of which were loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Winbigler and Mrs. Wassum, and gactus gardens provided by F. C. Blauer had been arranged as appropriate setting.

Mrs. R. R. Lutes, president, was in charge of the business interval. Devotionals on "The Road Maker of Nazareth" were conducted by Mrs. Joe Randall. During the program which followed Mrs. Harry Chapman read a letter from the Rev. J. H. Schlabach, former missionary to the Yuma Indians in Arizona, but now stationed in Kansas. Mrs. Georgia Lewis sang "Land of the Sky Blue Water," and a trio composed of Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Alice Daughters and Marie Stanton Eyerly sang "By the Watrs of Minnetonka."

The Dorcas Choral club, under the direction of Mrs. Harry Hays, with Miss Carrie Seaton accompanying, sang "Indian Dawn," after which Mrs. Hays sang "Pale Moon." A story written by Two Gune White Calf, a Black Foot Indian of Glacier National Park, was read by Mrs. Theo. Winbigler. Mrs. George Warmer sang "Indian Lullaby" by Arthur Nevin, a melody of the Black Foot Indian, and "Indian Cradle Song" by Kenneth Clark. Miss Olive Schweitzer played piano numbers, "The Witches' Dance" by MacDowell and "Waltz" by Chopin.

Since caring for Yuma Indians is part of the work of the Home Missionary society, members brought fruit and other gifts for them Wednesday.

CHURCH CLUBS FRATERNAL WOMEN - SOCIETY - THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

County Women Organize To Support Harbor Bond Project

Evidence of women's co-operation in the Orange County Harbor association project, was given this week when Mrs. Frank H. Paterson, chairman of the women's division, and her executive committee met at the Doris Kathryn with J. F. Burke as featured speaker.

The message being brought to Mrs. Paterson from all sections of the county, is that women are rallying to the support of the harbor proposition to be voted upon December 19. They see in the project, not only a means of creating immediate employment, but the promise of countless future permanent jobs which will enable young people of the community to make a livelihood.

The illuminating talk given by Mr. Burke was followed by an open discussion during which much additional information was given. The need of educating the public and informing everyone of actual facts regarding the proposed development, was stressed.

Included among the women present were the chairman, Mrs. Paterson and Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, Santa Ana; Mrs. J. P. Brastad, Anaheim; Mrs. A. C. Robbins Garden Grove; Mrs. Alfred Smith, Newport; Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Tustin; Mrs. Floyd Annin, Fullerton; Mrs. T. L. McFadden, Placentia; Mrs. H. E. Stahler, Mrs. Grace Wyckoff, Miss Ruth Brown, Balboa; Mrs. Sussdorf, Lido Isle.

Other members of the committee include Mrs. George Faul, Orange; Mrs. Carl Hankey, San Juan Capistrano; Mrs. C. G. Huston, Costa Mesa; Mrs. C. H. Woodruff, Brea; Mrs. Vonna Owings Webb Laguna Beach; Mrs. H. E. Smith, San Clemente; Mrs. W. D. Ranney, Santa Ana and Mrs. I. L. Chapline, Orange.

Gold Star Mothers

Santa Ana chapter No. 4, American Gold Star Mothers, held their December meeting this week with Mrs. Jennie Graves of West Pine street, where they assembled in the morning hours with their contributions to the delicious luncheon menu enjoyed at noon.

Special guests at this feature of the day were two Gold Star Fathers, John Wubben and John Graves, while Mrs. Graves jr., daughter-in-law of the hostess filled a double post by being a special guest and also by serving the luncheon.

Chapter members present were Mesdames Bessie Windham, Edith Reynolds, Emma Christensen, Martha Elliott, Martha Wubben, Mary Croal, Dora Sweeney, Grace Lanning, Susie Lamb, Iona S. Sharp and the hostess, Mrs. Graves, and one visiting Gold Star Mother, Mrs. Ida E. Canaday of 1025 West Second street.

After a social hour in the early afternoon, Mrs. Windham, president, called a business meeting which had two special features. The first was initiation of two new members, Mrs. Canaday and Mrs. Myrtle E. Stull, 514 South Ross street. Election of officers was the chief feature, and Mrs. Iona Sharp was named president; Mrs. Edith Reynolds, first vice president; Mrs. Martha Elliott, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Croal, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Grace Lanning, chaplain and Mrs. Dora Sweeney, sergeant-at-arms.

Installation will take place at the January meeting which will be on the second Monday of the month with Mrs. Christiansen, Holt avenue, Tustin. The usual covered dish luncheon will be held at noon, and the Mothers will observe their annual Christmas exchange of gifts.

Parent-Teachers

Paularino

Making plans for a community Christmas program to be presented Friday evening, December 15, at 7 p. m., in the schoolhouse, members of Paularino P.-T. A. held their latest meeting in the school. There will be a Christmas Tree in connection with the affair.

The Fourth District P.-T. A.'s treasure chest of handicraft of all kinds was on display at the meeting. Surprise refreshments were served by Mrs. Renders at the close of the afternoon.

Housewarming Carries Out Hard Times Theme

Carrying out plans for a housewarming in keeping with a clever hard times' motif, a group of friends participated in a merry evening Wednesday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Dean, 1501 North Main street, until recently residents of 2439 Heliotrope drive.

The couples arranging for the surprise event met at the back door of the new Dean residence, entering with brooms, mops and brushes which were immediately put to use throughout the rooms of the home, much to the amazement of Dr. and Mrs. Dean.

Plans for the unusual evening included the presentation of white elephant gifts, wrapped in newspapers, to the honor guests, who later in the evening received a handsome present for their home from the assembled friends.

Tallies distributed for card games were made of paper, with rope used for ribbons. Joke gifts were awarded Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pearson, who scored high, and Mrs. Don Murphy and John J. Vernon, low.

Refreshments suitable to the occasion were served in the kitchen, where newspaper comic sheets had been spread on the floor, with a make-believe campfire serving as a centerpiece. Mixing bowls, wooden spoons and tinware were appointments.

Those present, other than Dr. and Mrs. Dean, were Messrs. and Mesdames Leslie Pearson, George Lippincott, John J. Vernon, Edward U. Farmer and Don Murphy.

Calumpit Auxiliary

Officers presiding over the meeting wore corsage bouquets of sweet peas tied with silver, gifts of Mrs. Bertha M. Dixon in honor of the presence of special guests. They included Ann C. Jasimer and Edna C. Judd of Los Angeles, past national president and past national secretary of U. S. W. V. Auxiliary; Stella Packard and Ann Anderson, president and past president of Helen Gould auxiliary, Pasadena; Mrs. O. Stambro and Mrs. E. Watson of Worwick Auxiliary, Fullerton. Mrs. Judd told of an essay writing contest on the Flag being conducted in schools under the auspices of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Martha Pilch of Garden Grove was initiated as a new member; applications for membership were received from Maud Schiel, Susan E. Wine, Ruth E. Garst and Nerva E. Weekley.

Announcements were made that an all-day meeting of the Sewing Circle will be held next Wednesday in the home of Mrs. John Markwalder, 949 West Chestnut street, with all members to bring table service for a covered dish luncheon at noon and food to be distributed to the needy; that Calumpit camp and auxiliary will have a covered dish dinner December 26 at 6:30 p. m., with Mrs. H. Reed in charge; that the drill team will have a benefit card party on the evening of December 12.

Mrs. Katherine Reagan, president, was in charge of the business meeting. Mesdames A. Hall, Emma K. Wassum and Jean Tantlinger were appointed to attend Orange County Welfare association meetings for 1934. The charter was draped for Allie Bennett, a former member of the organization, who passed away in Petersburgh, Mich.

The group made plans to attend the reception for Russell C. Martin of Los Angeles, commander in chief of the G. A. R., to be held on the evening of December 8 in K. P. hall.

Winifred Ketchum of Bakersfield, president of the department of California, will be honor guest at the next meeting of the auxiliary.

You and your friends

Among recent guests at Yosemite Lodge in Yosemite National park were F. L. Carrier and his son, Stewart Carrier, 901 South Birch street. The new Wawona road into the park will be kept open as far as the Mariposa Grove of big trees during the winter months, affording easy access to a winter sports program in the park.

BACKACHE RELIEF

PERIODIC pains every month, backache, or the weakening drain from which women often suffer, can be overcome by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Then, too, in middle life it's just the right remedy for the woman who suffers from nervousness and "heat flashes." Hear what Mrs. J. Sniiger of 139 Prague St., San Francisco, has to say: "I was bothered with the lower part of my back aching continually. But after taking half a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I began to get relief and after taking four bottles I feel well and strong again." Sold by druggists.

Hermosa Installation Draws Large Crowd To Temple

Brilliant with many flowers, the large chapter room of Masonic temple was the scene of an animated gathering at this week's meeting of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., for installation of new officers attracted a crowd of some 600 Eastern Star members to the temple.

Installing officers were Z. Bertrand West, master of ceremonies; Lois Osterman, marshal; Marian Wallace and W. B. McConnell, junior past matron and patron, assisted by Amber Burke, past deputy grand matron, who installed the new worthy matron, Mrs. Nell Neighbour; Leota Allen, chaplain; Mayme Havens, organist, and Messrs. Hugh Neighbour, Neal Beisel, Bert Wallace, Francis Jacoby, George Osterman and Roy Shafer, ushers.

On the reception committee were three past matrons—Marie Beisel, Grace Wilson and Irene Mitchell—while the flower committee was composed of Helen Lurker, Leona Miller and Gladys Marie Miller.

Formal installation rites were administered to Nell Neighbour, worthy matron; Franklin G. West, worthy patron; Vera Jacoby, associate matron; Dr. Cassius Paul, associate patron; Nell D. Winslow, secretary; Etta D. Sweet, treasurer; Henrietta Bohling, conductress; Elizabeth Lewis, associate conductress; Lena Hewitt, chaplain; Marguerite Cave, marshal; Mary Margaret Reed, Ada; Evelyn Imhoff, Ruth; Lois LeBard, Esther; Evelyn Coutts, Martha; Ada Cave, Electa; Jean Smith, warden; Robert White, sentinel; Eugene McBurney, flag bearer; Pearl Livesey, soloist, and Leota Allen, prompter.

Outstanding features of the ritual included the presentation of beautiful flowers from the new patron to his worthy matron, Mrs. Neighbour, by the latter's small daughter, Ruanne Neighbour; the work of Elizabeth West as installing marshall when her husband, Franklyn G. West, was placed in the worthy patron's chair; the presentation by Lillian Armstrong of the past matron's jewel to Mrs. Wallace, and Franklyn West's presentation of the patron's jewel to W. B. McConnell, the two having completed a highly successful year in office, and finally, the gift of a fine gavel from Mr. West to Mrs. Neighbour.

Interspersed with the ritualistic features were appropriate songs by Pearl Livesey, with Miss Havens as accompanist. She included "The Blessing of Allah," and several others, one with a whistled obligato by Miss Mildred Marchant, and closed the program with the impressive "Goodnight." Joy Briscoe added other lovely songs, including "Poems," the words of which were by Agnes Davenport Bond, with music by Ethel Macurda.

Special introductions and escort honors were accorded Mrs. May Henry of Garden Grove, deputy worthy grand matron of District 57; Mrs. Alice Rugg, new president of Amber Circle, and all 1933 and 1934 officers present.

On the meeting night of December 18 Hermosa chapter will follow the closed business session with a family Christmas party and gift exchange. Each person attending must bring a gift, those of adults not to exceed a quarter in price, with 15 cents as the limit for children's gifts.

Fraternity Furthers Dance Plans

Furthering arrangements for their holiday dance to be held December 23 at 9 p.m. at Long Beach Municipal Country club, members of Sigma Alpha fraternity announced today that for the first time the annual affair will be open to young people outside the fraternity.

The dance will come as a climax to homecoming week, with December 21, 22 and 23 designated as days for special observances. Bom Wimbush, Walter Wilson and Otto Grigg are on the committee in charge, assisting the president, Walter Hendrie, in making all arrangements.

Music is to be provided by the Blue Harmony Boys, a 10-piece orchestra which played for the naval ball in Long Beach.

Auxiliary Furthers Benefit Party Plans

With their benefit party scheduled for Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in Getty hall, members of American Legion auxiliary devoted much of their meeting last night in the hall to furthering of plans for the event. Proceeds are to be used for welfare work.

There were two talks of interest, Mrs. Healy of Chicago talking on "Color Scheme and Interior Decorating," and Thomas Pickerill discussing the Harbor Bond issue.

Mrs. A. C. Eklund, president, was in charge of the business meeting, during which it was decided to send a sum of money to the state department's fund for child welfare and rehabilitation. It was reported that the local auxiliary had distributed three Thanksgiving baskets, and that the Mothers' club at its latest meeting tied four quilts for welfare distribution.

Plans were made for the annual party Friday evening, December 22 at 7 o'clock, for veterans of San Fernando hospital. This will be held in the hospital under the auspices of the local auxiliary. The committees in charge is asking for donations of home-made cakes and candies. Those wishing further information on plans are to communicate with Mrs. Eklund or Mrs. David Jellis.

Y.W.C.A. News Notes

Wrycende Maegdenu Club

Mrs. John Tessmann will review "Anthony Adverse" at the meeting of Wrycende Maegdenu club on Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. In addition to this interesting feature there will be an opportunity for the group to learn Christmas carols both old and new.

Cabinet members will meet at the home of Miss Mary Ford Monday evening. Plans for an educational houseparty in January, and for the Midwinter Conference for Business Girls in Pasadena in February will be discussed at this meeting.

Board of Directors

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. W. C. A board of directors will be called by Mrs. John Henderson, president, on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Discussion of a membership campaign for February and of local volunteer association leadership will occupy the greater part of the evening.

Book Discussion Group

Dr. Esther Harding's book "The Way of All Women" will be the topic for discussion at the regular group meeting at the home of Miss Genevieve Humiston on next Wednesday evening. Supper will be served at 6:30 with Miss Nancy Elder as co-hostess with Miss Humiston.

Christmas Party

A rollicking Christmas party will be given Friday evening December 15 for all Junior High school Girl Reserves in Santa Ana. The party will be at the Y. W. C. A. and the invitations have gone out for 7 o'clock. Each Girl Reserve club has assumed some responsibility for the party which promises to be a jolly one.

The True Triangle and The Seekers will be in charge of decorations. Pocahontas club and Nunda Waga Girl Reserves will be responsible for refreshments. Invitations were made and sent out by the members of the Swastika club. Music and Santa Claus are being provided by the girls of the L. G. R. club while games for the evening are to be in the hands of the members of the Friendly Triangle. Tustin Girl Reserves are helping provide the music.

Christmas Program

The Junior High School Girl Reserve chorus will present a program of Christmas music for the enjoyment of their parents and friends on Sunday afternoon, December 17 at 4:30 p. m. The chorus has been rehearsing for many weeks in preparation for this event and cordially invites all those interested in hearing Christmas music to attend. The chorus will be assisted by Miss Virginia Shoemaker, cellist.

This same group of girls will go caroling on the evening of December 20, meeting at the Y. W. C. A. at 8:30. They will be glad to carol at any home making the request. This may be done by calling the Y. W. C. A.

The chorus may also be heard over Radio KREG on Saturday, December 23 at 12 o'clock.

Senior High Girl Reserves

There will be no general meeting of the High School Girl Reserves Monday. There are to be, however, special called meetings of the various departments and girls are asked to get in touch with the chairmen of their departments to determine where and when the meetings will be held.

International Relations

The Y. W. C. A has been chosen as the meeting place for the Council of International Relations meeting on Thursday evening for a 6:30 dinner. The problems of Germany will be discussed, led by Sam Hurwitz and T. H. Glenn.

Girl Reserve Advisors

An interesting meeting of Santa Ana Junior High School Girl Reserves advisors was held at the Y. W. C. A. late Thursday afternoon. Instruction in book-binding was given by Mrs. Wallace Walton while Miss Mary Paxton assisted in the making of corn starch paper for the book covers. Following the work period a pot-luck supper was enjoyed by the group and Girl Reserve songs were rehearsed

This week's meeting of a friendly foursome of contract bridge enthusiasts was made especially enjoyable, for the members had the additional pleasure of a forenoon drive to Elsinore, where they were accorded cordial welcome to the cottage which Mrs. A. F. LeGaye has taken for the winter.

Young Arthur LeGaye, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. LeGaye, 121 East Washington avenue, is recovering from a long and serious illness, and to hasten that recovery, Mrs. LeGaye has taken him to Elsinore for the winter months. The pleasant cottage which they are occupying, was given a Christmas aspect by the flowers and pretty appointments which the hostess used for the luncheon hour. This followed immediately after the arrival of the guests, all of whom accompanied Mrs. Charles E. Borchard in her big seven-passenger car.

Mrs. E. B. Collier scored high in the afternoon's series of games, with second prize going to Mrs. P. B. Gillespie.

College Service Clubs Are Entertained By New Members

Moav Club

The first feature of the evening was the serving of refreshments with cake and ice cream followed by sandwiches. A game of asking and answering questions backwards, won by Miss Marian Bruner, was followed by Chinese bridge. Prizes were awarded Miss Ernestine Wakeham and Miss Virginia Lee Harper before playing began.

During a business session plans were made for the annual alumnae party to be held after Christmas. Miss Kay Gorath will be in charge.

Hostesses were the Misses Virginia Harper, Mildred Haskell, Lucille Scheifer, Barbara Allen, Frances Wilbur, Alice Stoner, Arden Murray, Roberta Chaminess and Alta Fisher. Guests were the Misses Evelyn Richardson, Natalie Neff, Ernestine Wakeham, Eulabelle Smith, Catherine Hull, Lida Mitchell, Ardith Parham, Jeanne Leive, Betty Heil, Esther Vogt and Marian Bruner and Miss Mabel Whiting.

Las Meninas

Individual tables centered with tiny bouquets of autumn flowers greeted present members of Las Meninas when new members honored at a dinner in the home of Miss Martha Tuthill, 2035 Victoria drive.

The delicious menu was followed by readings by Miss Evelyn Myracle. Plans were made for future social affairs which will include an informal Christmas party, the annual mothers' tea on December 17 and an informal business meeting on December 18 at which time food stuffs will be collected for Christmas baskets.

Hostesses for the affair were the Misses Mary Jane Mitchell, Frankie McDonald, Eloise Schrier, Janet Welty, Beulah Davis, Jane Crawford, Margaret Hoefner, Dolores Swenson, Verona Swanson, Martha Tuthill, Blanche Illingsworth, Lois Kiser and Willena Bell. Others present besides Miss Genevieve Humison and Miss Dorothy Decker were the Misses Alline Buck, Dorothy Tedford, Leonore Walker, Ruth Crowl, Jo Derigo, Erma Seamans, Marian Leihy, Evelyn Furtsch, Frances Robinson, Joy McPhee, Norma Wilson and Verna Helm.

Las Gitanas

Plans were underway at the meeting of Las Gitanas with Miss Florence Warmer, 613 Spurgeon street, for a benefit bridge party which new members under Miss Susana Alexander, will present. The date for the affair was set for January 12. A slumber party was planned for the coming Saturday night in the home of Miss Naomi Wheeler, Anaheim, preceded by a theater party.

Joint Affair

Sisterhood of Spinsters and Brotherhood of Bachelors joined for a social evening in the home of Miss Pauline Berry, 415 Wakeham street, following separate business sessions held in Miss Berry's home and with George Curtis in Orange.

Spinsters discussed a treasure hunt to be given Saturday evening with Miss Florence Campbell in charge and their annual Christmas charity to be in charge of Miss Yetive Blank. Bachelors made arrangements for initiation of pledges next Monday night.

Bridge and dancing followed and refreshments were served.

Spinsters Alumnae

Preparations for Christmas gifts were made at the meeting of Alumnae Sisterhood of Spinsters with Miss Florence Turner, 706 Spurgeon street. Bridge was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Miss Turner. The next meeting will be held with Miss Nelle Grafton in Anaheim.

Los Gauchos

Formal initiation by firelight was held for pledges of Los Gauchos when the club met with George Farquhar at Huntington Beach. It was decided that the entire club would support the football team by attending the game in Los Angeles next Saturday. Ray St. Claire was appointed service chairman and it will be his duty to investigate any service which the club can perform. Orville Plumlee was appointed social chairman. New pins representing a gaucho on horseback were ordered. Cards and refreshments concluded the evening.

Buccaneers

Buccaneers holding their business meeting in the home of Earl Motley, 424 South Broadway, planned a Christmas party with one of the women's clubs to be held during Christmas vacation as well as another Christmas party for members. Formal initiation will be held at the next meeting of the club and it was decided that members will wear red sashes every Tuesday. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Junior Lions

The impresive Junior Lion ritual was given pledges at the club meeting with Stewart Meece at Huntington Beach. This was followed by an amusing kangaroo court for pledges. Refreshments were served followed by a social evening.

EIGHT NEW PUPILS

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 8.—Eight new pupils were admitted into Westminster school this week. The children are Beverly McCampbell, first grade; Juanita McCampbell, sixth grade, and Ida McCampbell, eighth grade, from Montana; Helen Curts, fourth grade, from near San Francisco; Mamie and Phyllis Burhlage, formerly of this district and a transfer from Garden Grove; Joe Lara and Daniel Lara, fourth and eighth grades, respectively of El Modena.

The enrollment in the eighth grade is now 44, the largest number ever enrolled in a local commencement class.

Episcopal Auxiliary

Members of the Women's auxiliary, Episcopal Church of the Messiah, spent a pleasant and profitable day Wednesday, assembling in the Parish hall in the forenoon hours, and sharing a sandwich and coffee luncheon at noon.

Many members, unable to be present for the morning session, arrived for the afternoon which opened with a business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Marshall Harnois. The kitchen shower which had been announced for the benefit of the culinary department of the church, was an unqualified success, and in addition to the array of sadly needed kitchen equipment received, were the generous promises of more to come.

Featured on the program was a review of the play, "Dust of the Road" by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, given by Mrs. Robert Horn. She gave a striking synopsis of the play, and dramatized short passages from time to time, to the thorough enjoyment of an appreciative audience.

Missionary Society

Devoting their meeting Wednesday in the church to a program on the American Indian, members of the Women's Home Missionary society of First Methodist church took part in an afternoon of marked enjoyment. Mrs. Theo. Winbigler, Mrs. P. Blower, Mrs. E. Maier and Mrs. H. A. Wassum were members of the committee in charge.

In Indian tepee, Indian rugs, pottery and baskets, many of which were loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Winbigler and Mrs. Wassum, and gactus gardens provided by F. C. Blauer had been arranged as appropriate setting.

Mrs. R. R. Lutes, president, was in charge of the business interval. Devotionals on "The Road Maker of Nazareth" were conducted by Mrs. Joe Randall. During the program which followed Mrs. Harry Chapman read a letter from the Rev. J. H. Schlabach, former missionary to the Yuma Indians in Arizona, but now stationed in Kansas. Mrs. Georgia Lewis sang "Land of the Sky Blue Water," and a trio composed of Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Alice Daughters and Marie Stanton Eyerly sang "By the Wattrs of Minnetonka."

The Dorcas Choral club, under the direction of Mrs. Harry Hays, with Miss Carrie Seaton accompanying, sang "Indian Dawn," after which Mrs. Hays sang "Pale Moon." A story written by Two Gune White Calf, a Black Foot Indian of Glacier National Park, was read by Mrs. Theo. Winbigler. Mrs. George Warmer sang "Indian Lullaby" by Arthur Nevin, a melody of the Black Foot Indian, and "Indian Cradle Song" by Kenneth Clark. Miss Olive Schweitzer played piano numbers, "The Witches' Dance" by MacDowell and "Waltz" by Chopin.

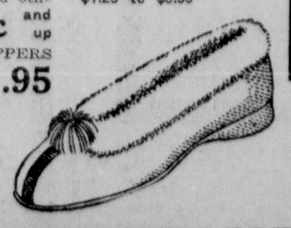

Since caring for Yuma Indians is part of the work of the Home Missionary society, members brought fruit and other gifts for them Wednesday.

Luncheon

Clam broth
4 crackers
1 ripe apple
Clear tea, no sugar
Calory total, 398

If you wish you may omit the crackers, and thus cut the calory total 100.

For the clam broth use whole milk, 1 cup, clams, 2 tablespoonfuls of minced clams, and for seasoning 1-2 teaspoonful of butter, salt and pepper.

Give Flowers

Pick out a good florist, give him your list with greeting cards for each person; tell him how much you can spend, whether you want cut flowers, plants in bloom or corsages, and leave the rest to him! Simple, isn't it? And a thousand times more sensible than spending hours 'n' hours of shopping in crowded stores, hurriedly buying things which you have a hunch will turn out to be "white elephants." The flowers are a joy from the moment they arrive until they fade. . .They save wear and tear. . .time and money . . . they help the florist meet his payroll. Make part of your Christmas a flower Christmas.

* * *

The next time you make pumpkin pie try whipping the egg whites stiff, folding them into the custard last of all. The pie has a "chiffon" texture when baked.

* * *

Baked Apple de Luxe

6 or 8 large apples
1 1-2 cups sugar
Juice of 2 oranges
1-2 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-4 cup water
1 tablespoon butter

Select an apple which cooks quickly. Wash and core, coring from the stem end, but not all the way through. The coring should leave a sort of cup for the filling, so slope it out at the top.

Mix the sugar and orange juice, add the heavy cream, whipped to a froth, mixed with vanilla. Fill the cored apples, put into a baking dish, put the butter and water around them and bake slowly until the apples are soft.

Don't mind if the cream does curdle, it's the flavor you are after, not the good looks.

* * *

Each apple with its share of filling has a calory value of close to 300, more than half of which is pure energy food.

With vegetable soup, this would make a filling and delicious finish to a meal. I'd suggest it for some evening when you are just too tired to cook the customary dinner.

Announcements

The Christmas committee of Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges of Santa Ana will meet next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in I. O. O. F. hall.

All members of Girls' Ebell society are planning to be at Ebell clubhouse tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, to work on the famous Christmas tree which they are placing in the peacock room in readiness for their fine charitable program of the holidays. Each member is asked to bring food, clothing and toys to be distributed among needy families, and to these articles will be added those which the general Ebell society will contribute at Monday afternoon's program meeting. All donations are to be wrapped in gay tissues and ribbons, but marked plainly as to their contents, so the young people of Girls' Ebell will be aided in their distribution of the gifts at the Yule season.

Ebell Fifth Household Economics section members are to hold their Christmas party next Tuesday when they will have luncheon at Laguna Beach hotel at 12 o'clock. Any section member unable to attend is asked to telephone Mrs. Howard L. Stone, 2680, not later than Monday noon. The annual Christmas gift exchange will be a feature of the party.

Santa Ana Country club women will be entertained at a Christmas bridge tea Friday afternoon, December 15, in the clubhouse. Mrs. F. F Mead and Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen as hostesses, will welcome their guests in time for play to begin promptly at 2 o'clock. First, second and guest prizes will be awarded, the holder of high score to be rewarded with a 10-pound Christmas turkey.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY VERNA RAMSEY

Helen Keller is one of the best known and most interesting women in America. The woman who made possible the amazing development of this handicapped girl is less known, but she, too, is worth the knowledge. In "Anne Sullivan Macy. The Story Behind Helen Keller," by Nella Braddy, we have the story of Helen Keller's teacher.

This story is almost as incredible as Helen's own. It begins with a little girl who grew blind among the Irish Famine refugees in Massachusetts and was finally thrown into the oblivion of a great poorhouse. The doctors and authorities there gave her up as hopeless, yet she was able to pull herself out of it. She learned to read with her fingers at the age of fourteen. Then a miraculous operation gave her back part of her sight, so she learned to read all over again, this time with her eyes. Through Charles Dickens indirectly and Alexander Graham Bell directly she became Helen Keller's teacher. In the face of all opposition she led her pupil to triumph and made her one of the great world figures of our time.

The book makes clear the intricate and singularly beautiful relationship between the two women. It shows where Helen stops and the teacher begins and discusses in some detail the different methods of teaching that were employed. This life of Anne Sullivan Macy will open the eyes of the world to this incomparable teacher just as she opened the eyes of the child, Helen Keller.

A fourteen year old boy shivering with excitement and apprehension in spite of a new overcoat with the brave brass buttons of the British Merchant Marines, starting off alone on a voyage to the other side of the world—this is the beginning of the story of "The Half Deck," by Captain George H. Grant.

This book is a moving narrative of a boy's first two years at sea. Today at thirty-eight, George H. Grant commands one of the white fleet of steamers so familiar in every part of Central America, but he has not forgotten his first years as apprentice in the half deck of the old tramp steamer "Monarch." He will never forget, nor will you forget when you have read the book, his many exciting adventures connected with his early life at sea. There is the occasion of his first crossing the line, when Boxley, the hard-boiled first mate, fell into the bath prepared for Neptune's neophyte. There were many other outstanding events—the winter passage through Magellan; the week end spent in a South American jail; the anxious hours in the English Channel on a lee shore, with both steering chains gone. Least of all will he forget the mutiny of the Chinese fireman, which left the boy in sole charge of the steamer.

For offenses ranging from assault to robbery, Victor F. Nelson has spent 12½ of his 34 years in various prisons. In the summer of 1932 he was paroled from the Dedham, Massachusetts, jail, in custory of Dr. Abraham Myerson, psychiatric examiner for prisoners. The result of this was Victor Nelson's book, "Prison Days and Nights."

Most prisoners, even those with longer jail records, are utterly incapable of expressing themselves. Nelson, largely self-educated, possesses that rare gift among prisoners of writing impersonally on life in corrective institutions. Victor Nelson at seven was placed in an orphanage; at 13 he was sent to a reformatory. Truly in him the intelligent prisoner speaks and speaks with authority.

Two chapters of "Remembered Conversations" in the prisoner's own brutal and expressive language show the talk of the average convict to be a mixture of destructive criticism, cheap cynicism, and self-pity. In discussing the reformation of the prisoner, Mr. Nelson records that "not a single effort was ever made to reform me and I did not see a single attempt to reform criminals as an aim of prison and ministrative policy."

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon

Clam broth
4 crackers
1 ripe apple
Clear tea, no sugar
Calory total, 398

If you wish you may omit the crackers, and thus cut the calory total 100.

For the clam broth use whole milk, 1 cup, clams, 2 tablespoonfuls of minced clams, and for seasoning 1-2 teaspoonful of butter, salt and pepper.

Give Flowers

Pick out a good florist, give him your list with greeting cards for each person; tell him how much you can spend, whether you want cut flowers, plants in bloom or corsages, and leave the rest to him! Simple, isn't it? And a thousand times more sensible than spending hours 'n' hours of shopping in crowded stores, hurriedly buying things which you have a hunch will turn out to be "white elephants." The flowers are a joy from the moment they arrive until they fade. . .They save wear and tear. . .time and money . . . they help the florist meet his payroll. Make part of your Christmas a flower Christmas.

* * *

The next time you make pumpkin pie try whipping the egg whites stiff, folding them into the custard last of all. The pie has a "chiffon" texture when baked.

* * *

Baked Apple de Luxe

6 or 8 large apples
1 1-2 cups sugar
Juice of 2 oranges
1-2 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-4 cup water
1 tablespoon butter

Select an apple which cooks quickly. Wash and core, coring from the stem end, but not all the way through. The coring should leave a sort of cup for the filling, so slope it out at the top.

Mix the sugar and orange juice, add the heavy cream, whipped to a froth, mixed with vanilla. Fill the cored apples, put into a baking dish, put the butter and water around them and bake slowly until the apples are soft.

Don't mind if the cream does curdle, it's the flavor you are after, not the good looks.

* * *

Each apple with its share of filling has a calory value of close to 300, more than half of which is pure energy food.

With vegetable soup, this would make a filling and delicious finish to a meal. I'd suggest it for some evening when you are just too tired to cook the customary dinner.

Announcements

The Christmas committee of Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges of Santa Ana will meet next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in I. O. O. F. hall.

All members of Girls' Ebell society are planning to be at Ebell clubhouse tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, to work on the famous Christmas tree which they are placing in the peacock room in readiness for their fine charitable program of the holidays. Each member is asked to bring food, clothing and toys to be distributed among needy families, and to these articles will be added those which the general Ebell society will contribute at Monday afternoon's program meeting. All donations are to be wrapped in gay tissues and ribbons, but marked plainly as to their contents, so the young people of Girls' Ebell will be aided in their distribution of the gifts at the Yule season.

Ebell Fifth Household Economics section members are to hold their Christmas party next Tuesday when they will have luncheon at Laguna Beach hotel at 12 o'clock. Any section member unable to attend is asked to telephone Mrs. Howard L. Stone, 2680, not later than Monday noon. The annual Christmas gift exchange will be a feature of the party.

Santa Ana Country club women will be entertained at a Christmas bridge tea Friday afternoon, December 15, in the clubhouse. Mrs. F. F Mead and Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen as hostesses, will welcome their guests in time for play to begin promptly at 2 o'clock. First, second and guest prizes will be awarded, the holder of high score to be rewarded with a 10-pound Christmas turkey.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY VERNA RAMSEY

Helen Keller is one of the best known and most interesting women in America. The woman who made possible the amazing development of this handicapped girl is less known, but she, too, is worth the knowledge. In "Anne Sullivan Macy. The Story Behind Helen Keller," by Nella Braddy, we have the story of Helen Keller's teacher.

This story is almost as incredible as Helen's own. It begins with a little girl who grew blind among the Irish Famine refugees in Massachusetts and was finally thrown into the oblivion of a great poorhouse. The doctors and authorities there gave her up as hopeless, yet she was able to pull herself out of it. She learned to read with her fingers at the age of fourteen. Then a miraculous operation gave her back part of her sight, so she learned to read all over again, this time with her eyes. Through Charles Dickens indirectly and Alexander Graham Bell directly she became Helen Keller's teacher. In the face of all opposition she led her pupil to triumph and made her one of the great world figures of our time.

The book makes clear the intricate and singularly beautiful relationship between the two women. It shows where Helen stops and the teacher begins and discusses in some detail the different methods of teaching that were employed. This life of Anne Sullivan Macy will open the eyes of the world to this incomparable teacher just as she opened the eyes of the child, Helen Keller.

A fourteen year old boy shivering with excitement and apprehension in spite of a new overcoat with the brave brass buttons of the British Merchant Marines, starting off alone on a voyage to the other side of the world —this is the beginning of the story of "The Half Deck," by Captain George H. Grant.

This book is a moving narrative of a boy's first two years at sea. Today at thirty-eight, George H. Grant commands one of the white fleet of steamers so familiar in every part of Central America, but he has not forgotten his first years as apprentice in the half deck of the old tramp steamer "Monarch." He will never forget, nor will you forget when you have read the book, his many exciting adventures connected with his early life at sea. There is the occasion of his first crossing the line, when Boxley, the hard-boiled first mate, fell into the bath prepared for Neptune's neophyte. There were many other outstanding events—the winter passage through Magellan; the week end spent in a South American jail; the anxious hours in the English Channel on a lee shore, with both steering chains gone. Least of all will he forget the mutiny of the Chinese fireman, which left the boy in sole charge of the steamer.

For offenses ranging from assault to robbery, Victor F. Nelson has spent 12½ of his 34 years in various prisons. In the summer of 1932 he was paroled from the Dedham, Massachusetts, jail, in custory of Dr. Abraham Myerson, psychiatric examiner for prisoners. The result of this was Victor Nelson's book, "Prison Days and Nights."

Most prisoners, even those with longer jail records, are utterly incapable of expressing themselves. Nelson, largely self-educated, possesses that rare gift among prisoners of writing impersonally on life in corrective institutions. Victor Nelson at seven was placed in an orphanage; at 13 he was sent to a reformatory. Truly in him the intelligent prisoner speaks and speaks with authority.

Two chapters of "Remembered Conversations" in the prisoner's own brutal and expressive language show the talk of the average convict to be a mixture of destructive criticism, cheap cynicism, and self-pity. In discussing the reformation of the prisoner, Mr. Nelson records that "not a single effort was ever made to reform me and I did not see a single attempt to reform criminals as an aim of prison and ministrative policy."

PANTRY SHELF

For the LOVE of EVE

by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to give up her work and go with him.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble at the office. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed. Mona is friendly with THERON REECE who continues to force unwelcome attentions on Eve.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Saturday afternoon Arlene received a telephone message from Sam who was coming to take her to dinner at a new seafood grill at 105th street. Since Mona's boarding house was on 100th street Arlene invited Eve and Mona to ride home with her and Sam.

At 6 the four met outside Bixby's. Arlene insisted that Eve should ride with Sam while she shared the rumble seat with Mona. Eve entered into a lively discussion with Sam on the subject of advertising and was impressed by his shrewdness and vision. The ride to 100th street seemed short.

Mona led Eve to her room on the third floor of the green frame dwelling. It was an attractive room with a dormer containing three small windows. The woodwork had been painted orchid and there were yellow and orchid draperies at the windows to match the yellow and orchid bedspread. These colors were used in a woven rag rug on the floor.

The girls removed their wraps and went down stairs to dinner. Eve glanced about her as she entered the spacious dining room. Evidentaly a wall had been removed and two rooms thrown into one. Tables seemed to be everywhere with chatting groups about them. Most of the diners were women.

"But leave it to Mona!" thought Eve as she followed the other girl to a small table at which were seated an elderly woman and a young man. The young man flashed Mona, a quick smile. She introduced Eve and then explained that Mr. Miller roomed in the neighborhood but came here for his meals. Eve felt an uncomfortable third party as the conversation between the two grew animated. Later, when it was suggested that the three of them should go for a ride in Mr. Miller's car Eve pleaded a headache and asked to be dropped off at her home.

"But the ride will cure your headache!" Miller insisted. "Miss Allen and I often drive after dinner. Come on—the more the merrier, you know!"

* * *

Eve went for the ride. With Mona monopolizing the conversation there was little for Eve to do but gaze at the early November landscape as they whirred over the country roads. "I hate strange roads after dark," she said to herself. "I'm always afraid of missing a turn or running into a ditch." She wondered if it were not time to turn back just ah they came to a brightly lighted place called Toby's Tavern.

"All out!" called Mona gaily.

"Oh, are you going in there?" Eve asked in dismay.

"It will be fun!" answered Mona emphatically. "We'll have a sip and a bite and a dance or two."

The other girl grew impatient. She took Eve's arm and pushed her toward the entrance. "Oh, come out of your character!" she snapped.

Eve entered with them. After all, none of her friends were likely to see her here, she thought with relief. The place looked rather questionable to her. The lights were colored and gave a dim effect. Little booths lined the walls and they entered one of them. There were benches and a table of rough wood, badly scarred with carved initials. Overhead hung great clusters of colored autumn leaves, now curled and brittle. In the center of the room a few couples danced to the music of a jazz band which came over the radio.

Eve was surprised when Mona and Miller ordered sandwiches and coffee. It had been such a short time since dinner. At first Eve refused to order anything but later she compromised and asked the waiter to bring her a pineapple ice.

"Will you excuse us while we dance?" Miller asked as he and Mona arose.

"Don't be afraid of me," he said smoothly. "I won't tell your hubby I found you here. Expecting someone?"

"You know I'm not," she answered heatedly.

"Then you can't mind if I sit down," he responded. "You must be pretty lonely. Will you have a drink?" He pulled a flash from his hip pocket.

Eve felt trapped. It was a first-class little frame-up, she thought She had not been aware that Reece was in town but apparently he kept in touch with Mona. Oh, why did they take such delight in making her uncomfortable? Was it because she made no effort to conceal her dislike for Reece? Now the incident of Mona's automobile accident came to Eve's mind. Arlene had always suspected that the man in the case was Reece. The injured man must have recovered, as no more had been heard of the affair But what might this night's events lead to? Eve was more than sorry she had accepted Mona's invitation.

Her thoughts raced wildly, trying to decide what she could do. Mona and Miller seemed to be gone a long time. Only once had they danced past the booth where Eve sat. She began to fear they had left the place. Reece carried on a one-sided conversation.

"Do you know, I've always admired you?" he murmured, sliding a hand across the table. Eve instinctively drew back into [illegible] Once more he poured liquor from his flask and offered her a drink. Eve's anger mounted.

"I like you that way," Reece said. "Little girl's got a temper, hasn't she?" He arose and started toward her side of the table. Before he could slide to the bench with her, Eve sprang to her feet and ran blindly from the booth. Out of the building, across the lighted area and toward a clump of trees, she made her way. Reece was following but Eve eluded him. She managed to avoid stumbling and slipped along parallel to the road through the darkness. She thought he must have turned back, for not long afterward an automobile approached slowly and she hid behind the trunk of a tree until it had passed.

Before long the machine returned and after a brief stop at Toby's Tavern slowly went in the opposite direction. Reece, no doubt, was looking for her. Eve decided to walk until she came to a trolley. Each time an automobile approached she hid until it had passed. She met no pedestrians on the lonely road. Her ankles were tired from walking on spiked heels and she felt sick with nervous fear. Still she trudged on for what seemed miles and miles. Eve had no idea how soon she would arrive at the Lake City limits nor what car line she might approach.

Finally she came to a farm house bearing a sign "Tourists Welcome." Eve rang the doorbell and when a motherly looking woman with graying hair answered she changed her mind about asking for directions but asked instead if she could stop for the night. She was shown to a spic and span room with pink rag rugs and a Jenny Lind bed. Then the farmer's wife turned to her and said, "I'll just send Pa out after your baggage. Did you want to drive your car into the barn for the night?"

When Eve told her she had no car and no baggage but offered to pay her immediately, her hostess looked dubious, went below evidently to consult "Pa." She returned soon, smiling reassuringly. It'll be all right, miss," she said. Did you want to come and set with us a while in the living room or did you just want to go to bed?"

The next morning she found she had walked miles in a direction away from Lake City. She hired the farmer to drive her home. When she reached there Mrs. Brooks appeared. "Oh, Mrs. Rader!" she said, "I couldn't help worrying about you. Your telephone was ringing most of the night."

"You little fool!" he said. "Do you think I'd let any harm come to you? Can't you see that I'm mad about you! Why can't we be friends? Your husband isn't above a little flirtation when the occasion offers. Why not give him a taste of his own medicine?"

Abruptly Eve hung up the receiver. She was terified. Terrified at the threat of danger in Rece's persistent attentions and terrified at his insinuations about Dick. Were they true—Reece's hints that Dick had been philandering? How was she to bear it if they were true!

The blame for "blue" days can often be laid to common constipation. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the intestines, it absorbs moisture, gently extending and helping to cleanse them of wastes. Isn't this better than taking patent medicines?

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will correct most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

You can be sure of getting ALL BRAN, and not part bran, by looking at the label. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IMPORTANT
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains nothing but all bran with a small percentage of flavor. It is recommended as much more efficient in relieving common constipation than part-bran products which cannot contain as much "bulk."

PANTRY SHELF

For the LOVE of EVE

by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to give up her work and go with him.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble at the office. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed. Mona is friendly with THERON REECE who continues to force unwelcome attentions on Eve.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Saturday afternoon Arlene received a telephone message from Sam who was coming to take her to dinner at a new seafood grill at 105th street. Since Mona's boarding house was on 100th street Arlene invited Eve and Mona to ride home with her and Sam.

At 6 the four met outside Bixby's. Arlene insisted that Eve should ride with Sam while she shared the rumble seat with Mona. Eve entered into a lively discussion with Sam on the subject of advertising and was impressed by his shrewdness and vision. The ride to 100th street seemed short.

Mona led Eve to her room on the third floor of the green frame dwelling. It was an attractive room with a dormer containing three small windows. The woodwork had been painted orchid and there were yellow and orchid draperies at the windows to match the yellow and orchid bedspread. These colors were used in a woven rag rug on the floor.

The girls removed their wraps and went down stairs to dinner. Eve glanced about her as she entered the spacious dining room. Evidentaly a wall had been removed and two rooms thrown into one. Tables seemed to be everywhere with chatting groups about them. Most of the diners were women.

"But leave it to Mona!" thought Eve as she followed the other girl to a small table at which were seated an elderly woman and a young man. The young man flashed Mona, a quick smile. She introduced Eve and then explained that Mr. Miller roomed in the neighborhood but came here for his meals. Eve felt an uncomfortable third party as the conversation between the two grew animated. Later, when it was suggested that the three of them should go for a ride in Mr. Miller's car Eve pleaded a headache and asked to be dropped off at her home.

"But the ride will cure your headache!" Miller insisted. "Miss Allen and I often drive after dinner. Come on—the more the merrier, you know!"

* * *

Eve went for the ride. With Mona monopolizing the conversation there was little for Eve to do but gaze at the early November landscape as they whirred over the country roads. "I hate strange roads after dark," she said to herself. "I'm always afraid of missing a turn or running into a ditch." She wondered if it were not time to turn back just ah they came to a brightly lighted place called Toby's Tavern.

"All out!" called Mona gaily.

"Oh, are you going in there?" Eve asked in dismay.

"It will be fun!" answered Mona emphatically. "We'll have a sip and a bite and a dance or two."

"All right, I'll wait for you here in the car," Eve said as she stepped out to let Mona alight.

The other girl grew impatient. She took Eve's arm and pushed her toward the entrance. "Oh, come out of your character!" she snapped.

Eve entered with them. After all, none of her friends were likely to see her here, she thought with relief. The place looked rather questionable to her. The lights were colored and gave a dim effect. Little booths lined the walls and they entered one of them. There were benches and a table of rough wood, badly scarred with carved initials. Overhead hung great clusters of colored autumn leaves, now curled and brittle. In the center of the room a few couples danced to the music of a jazz band which came over the radio.

Eve was surprised when Mona and Miller ordered sandwiches and coffee. It had been such a short time since dinner. At first Eve refused to order anything but later she compromised and asked the waiter to bring her a pineapple ice.

"Will you excuse us while we dance?" Miller asked as he and Mona arose.

No sooner were they on the floor and out of sight than Theron Reece appeared in the entrance of the booth. Eve was startled.

"Don't be afraid of me," he said smoothly. "I won't tell your hubby I found you here. Expecting someone?"

"You know I'm not," she answered heatedly.

"Then you can't mind if I sit down," he responded. "You must be pretty lonely. Will you have a drink?" He pulled a flash from his hip pocket.

* * *

Eve felt trapped. It was a first-class little frame-up, she thought She had not been aware that Reece was in town but apparently he kept in touch with Mona. Oh, why did they take such delight in making her uncomfortable? Was it because she made no effort to conceal her dislike for Reece? Now the incident of Mona's automobile accident came to Eve's mind. Arlene had always suspected that the man in the case was Reece. The injured man must have recovered, as no more had been heard of the affair But what might this night's events lead to? Eve was more than sorry she had accepted Mona's invitation.

Her thoughts raced wildly, trying to decide what she could do. Mona and Miller seemed to be gone a long time. Only once had they danced past the booth where Eve sat. She began to fear they had left the place. Reece carried on a one-sided conversation.

"Do you know, I've always admired you?" he murmured, sliding a hand across the table. Eve instinctively drew back into [illegible] Once more he poured liquor from his flask and offered her a drink. Eve's anger mounted.

"I like you that way," Reece said. "Little girl's got a temper, hasn't she?" He arose and started toward her side of the table. Before he could slide to the bench with her, Eve sprang to her feet and ran blindly from the booth. Out of the building, across the lighted area and toward a clump of trees, she made her way. Reece was following but Eve eluded him. She managed to avoid stumbling and slipped along parallel to the road through the darkness. She thought he must have turned back, for not long afterward an automobile approached slowly and she hid behind the trunk of a tree until it had passed.

Before long the machine returned and after a brief stop at Toby's Tavern slowly went in the opposite direction. Reece, no doubt, was looking for her. Eve decided to walk until she came to a trolley. Each time an automobile approached she hid until it had passed. She met no pedestrians on the lonely road. Her ankles were tired from walking on spiked heels and she felt sick with nervous fear. Still she trudged on for what seemed miles and miles. Eve had no idea how soon she would arrive at the Lake City limits nor what car line she might approach.

Finally she came to a farm house bearing a sign "Tourists Welcome." Eve rang the doorbell and when a motherly looking woman with graying hair answered she changed her mind about asking for directions but asked instead if she could stop for the night. She was shown to a spic and span room with pink rag rugs and a Jenny Lind bed. Then the farmer's wife turned to her and said, "I'll just send Pa out after your baggage. Did you want to drive your car into the barn for the night?"

When Eve told her she had no car and no baggage but offered to pay her immediately, her hostess looked dubious, went below evidently to consult "Pa." She returned soon, smiling reassuringly. It'll be all right, miss," she said. Did you want to come and set with us a while in the living room or did you just want to go to bed?"

Later as Eve sank with relief into the deep featheredbed she thought, "I suppose 'Pa' is lying awake with a shotgun thinking he's harboring a suspiciou scharacter."

The next morning she found she had walked miles in a direction away from Lake City. She hired the farmer to drive her home. When she reached there Mrs. Brooks appeared. "Oh, Mrs. Rader!" she said, "I couldn't help worrying about you. Your telephone was ringing most of the night."

"You little fool!" he said. "Do you think I'd let any harm come to you? Can't you see that I'm mad about you! Why can't we be friends? Your husband isn't above a little flirtation when the occasion offers. Why not give him a taste of his own medicine?"

Abruptly Eve hung up the receiver. She was terified. Terrified at the threat of danger in Rece's persistent attentions and terrified at his insinuations about Dick. Were they true—Reece's hints that Dick had been philandering? How was she to bear it if they were true!

How to make good coffee everytime

Use a Drip Coffee Maker in which boiling water drips through a specially prepared coffee and a filter paper. Specially prepared Schilling Drip Coffee. Schilling Drip Coffee is specially blended, specially roasted and specially ground for the immediate extraction of all its rich, fragrant flavor. Coffee intended for a percolator is not adapted for the drip process in which the water drips through the coffee but once. A filter paper rests below the coffee to let through nothing but the delicious healthful amber drops. Real Drip Coffee cannot be made otherwise. For your convenience, filter papers are packed in each Schilling tin.

Introductory Offer! $1.20

Special model Drip Coffee Maker and 1 lb. Schilling Drip Coffee, at your grocer's

If he cannot supply you, send his name and $1.20 to A Schilling & Company, San Francisco.

For Percolator use Standard Schilling Coffee

Oven-fresh

YOU CAN DEPEND ON THAT

With the soup—with the salad—as essential with the cocktail as with the cheese and demi-tasse—how important it is that the crackers you serve are fresh.

In Snow Flakes oven-freshness is assured! You need not trust to chance, because Snow Flakes are baked regularly in a Uneeda Bakers bakery near you, packed tightly in waxed paper and hurried to your grocer.

Every grocer has oven-fresh Snow Flakes in the familiar red packages. Save money—buy the thrifty 1- or 2-lb. sizes.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

"Well, first of all, I guess we'll roam around, so you will feel at home," said Santa. "You must meet my elves. They're clever little men.

"They've spent their lives at making things. Just think what happiness that brings. They work all year, till Christmas. Then they start right in again."

Then Santa took the Tinies to a lot of shops. They shortly knew all of the elves in Santa Land. "We're glad you came," said one. "Our work has piled up very high, and my, oh, my, how time flies by. You'll find that there is plenty that you Tinymites can do."

• • •

Another elf said, "Mercy me! You must be hungry as can be, because you have traveled quite a ways to reach this far-off place. "We have a lunch room near at hand, with counters where you all can stand." "Say, that sounds fine," said Duncy, with a broad smile on his face.

The bunch then heard old Santa say, "I haven't eaten much today, so I guess I will join you in a little bit of lunch.

"The work you'll do can wait until you youngsters eat and have your fill." Then, as they ate, wee Goldy said, "This was a dandy hunch."

• • •

When lunch was over, Santa Claus said, "Dotty, come with me, because I think that you can do one little job I have in mind.

"You other Tinies wait right here. I'll come back to you, never fear." And then to Dotty he said, "'Tis a job you will not mind."

The shop of fine dolls soon was found, and lots of dolls were standing 'round. "I want their faces painted," said old Santa, with a smile.

"Oh, I'll love this," wee Dotty said. "I'll make their cheeks a real nice red. Come back and see how I am doing, in a little while."

Party Enjoyed By Club Members

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 8.—Members of the None Such club enjoyed a party at the home of Miss Barbaa Campbell this week. The group formerly was known as the Boisterous Bunions club.

This was a "backward" party, guests wearing their clothing backwards. Scores in the two games which entertained were reversed for prize winners, low scores taking the prizes, with Miss Rose Basse and Miss Betty Hanline being winners. A light luncheon was served.

Those present were the Misses Rose Basse, Margaret Clinton, Virginia Turpin, Mary Eastwood, Betty Hanline and Barbara Campbell.

1934 AUTOS TO SHOW RADICAL BODY CHANGES

have been modeled into the body to minimize the resistance.

Front Seat Widest

In the chassis the back seat always has been the widest and doughest to ride in. The car tapering back from a pointed radiator. But in the 1934 models, the wide seat is in front and accommodates three with comfort. Rear seat passengers instead of bouncing and bounding over the rear axle, will be cradled between the springs like the front seat riders.

Redistribution of weight with motor over front axle—Rearrangement of mechanical parts so that weight will be more equally distributed over entire auto than heretofore, with engine moved forward to eliminate bounce.

Airflow Bodies

Two Join Staff Of Insurance Firm

H. C. Wahlberg, Santa Ana, who has been an agent for the West Coast Life of San Francisco, and John W. Powell, Orange, who has been an Orange county district agent for the same company, have taken contracts with the Lincoln Life Insurance company, under Guy J. Gilbert, Orange county district agent, it was announced today.

H. C. Wahlberg is a brother of Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, and Powell has been for several years a successful life underwriter.

CRANE'S PECK COST EYE

JONESBORO, Ark. (UP)—Pecked in the eye by a wounded crane that his brother had shot, Bernie Smith, 16, lost the sight of the optic.

DISABLED WAR VET DIES AFTER FALL

Suspicion of foul play in the death of Thomas Convey, 35, Seal Beach, was discussed by Coroner Earl Abbey today after an investigation showed that Convey probably sustained his fatal injuries Saturday night when he fell backward and struck his head on a stove in Mother's cafe, Seal Beach.

Convey died early yesterday morning in the Orange county hospital from a blood clot on the brain. Little definite information could be secured by Abbey except that the man fell. He was a disabled World war veteran and had lived in the beach city for the past four years. No inquest will be held.

HARBOR PROJECT TO BE C. OF C. TOPIC

Discussion of the proposed development of the Newport Harbor will be featured at the regular monthly meeting of Associated Chambers of Orange County next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock in the Newport Harbor Yacht club, it was announced today by G. A. Raymer, Santa Ana, secretary.

A considerable part of the business program this month will be taken up with reports to be made by chairmen or members of Associated committees, it was announced.

Chicago Bd. of Trade

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(UP) — Wheat felt the lack of outside speculative interest today and broke more than 2 cents a bushel. Coarse grains were relatively steady and dipped fractionally.

At the close wheat was 1⅝ to 2⅛c a bushel lower, corn was off ⅜ to ⅞c and oats were ⅝ to¾c lower.

Live Poultry Comment

LOS ANGELES—Live poultry prices were unchanged this morning with demand unequal to receipts in some quarters. White hens had a steady undertone, while colored were bares steady and moved very slowly in some quarters. There was no change on the other classes. Turkeys—An unsettled undertone continued to prevail on live and dressed turkeys. Local receipts of live were burdensome in some quarters with dealers buying for immediate use only. Majority of dressed were purchased at inside price and had to be prime quality before buyers were interested.

1934 AUTOS TO SHOW RADICAL BODY CHANGES

have been modeled into the body to minimize the resistance.

Front Seat Widest

In the chassis the back seat always has been the widest and doughest to ride in. The car tapering back from a pointed radiator. But in the 1934 models, the wide seat is in front and accommodates three with comfort. Rear seat passengers instead of bouncing and bounding over the rear axle, will be cradled between the springs like the front seat riders.

Knee action axles—Each wheel operating on its own individual axle with action similar to human knee.

Redistribution of weight with motor over front axle—Rearrangement of mechanical parts so that weight will be more equally distributed over entire auto than heretofore, with engine moved forward to eliminate bounce.

Airflow Bodies

Girded trussed bridge frame—Auto frames following engineering design or bridge construction to secure greatest possible strength with minimum weight.

Draft free circulation—The 1934 version of antimist ventilating system of 1933.

Two Join Staff Of Insurance Firm

H. C. Wahlberg, Santa Ana, who has been an agent for the West Coast Life of San Francisco, and John W. Powell, Orange, who has been an Orange county district agent for the same company, have taken contracts with the Lincoln Life Insurance company, under Guy J. Gilbert, Orange county district agent, it was announced today.

H. C. Wahlberg is a brother of Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, and Powell has been for several years a successful life underwriter.

CRANE'S PECK COST EYE

JONESBORO, Ark. (UP)—Pecked in the eye by a wounded crane that his brother had shot, Bernis Smith, 16, lost the sight of the optic.

DISABLED WAR VET DIES AFTER FALL

Suspicion of foul play in the death of Thomas Convey, 35, Seal Beach, was discussed by Coroner Earl Abbey today after an investigation showed that Convey probably sustained his fatal injuries Saturday night when he fell backward and struck his head on a stove in Mother's cafe, Seal Beach.

Convey died early yesterday morning in the Orange county hospital from a blood clot on the brain. Little definite information could be secured by Abbey except that the man fell. He was a disabled World war veteran and had lived in the beach city for the past four years. No inquest will be held.

HARBOR PROJECT TO BE C. OF C. TOPIC

Discussion of the proposed development of the Newport Harbor will be featured at the regular monthly meeting of Associated Chambers of Orange County next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock in the Newport Harbor Yacht club, it was announced today by G. A. Raymer, Santa Ana, secretary.

A considerable part of the business program this month will be taken up with reports to be made by chairmen or members of Associated committees, it was announced.

Chicago Bd. of Trade

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(UP) — Wheat felt the lack of outside speculative interest today and broke more than 2 cents a bushel. Coarse grains were relatively steady and dipped fractionally.

At the close wheat was 1⅝ to 2⅛c a bushel lower, corn was off ⅜ to ⅞c and oats were ⅜ to¾c lower.

Live Poultry Comment

LOS ANGELES—Live poultry prices were unchanged this morning with demand unequal to receipts in some quarters. White hens had a steady undertone, while colored were barely steady and moved very slowly in some quarters. There was no change on the other classes. Turkeys—An unsettled undertone continued to prevail on live and dressed turkeys. Local receipts of live were burdensome in some quarters with dealers buying for immediate use only. Majority of dressed were purchased at inside price and had to be prime quality before buyers were interested.

THE RIFT IN THE DEMOCRATIC RANKS

The opposition of Al Smith to the President has given rise to considerable comment, not only in the Democratic party councils, but also in the councils of the opposition. There are those who see a rift which will again make the Democratic party a minority party when the next Presidential election takes place. This may well be the case, but it is somewhat early to make predictions three years ahead. Conditions then are likely to be very different than they are today. If they are better, it will be an asset for the party in power. If they are worse, or have not improved, much will depend upon other questions than those on which the leaders are now divided. Washington is a good sounding board for the nation, and according to the best informed newspaper correspondents there, the President has not lost much support through the country.

Reference is made to the split in the party in 1896 during the Bryan campaign. To be sure, the Democratic party was in power during that campaign, but President Cleveland had practically wrecked his party through adherence to the policies which the Democratic convention had repudiated. With a President in power advocating the policies endorsed by the party, the lines will be much differently drawn from what they were in 1896. Before the next Presidential election the money controversy will have subsided, either because it has succeeded or failed.

Then, it is to be remembered that the two major political parties are divided on these matters within their own ranks. The party which has Borah, Norris, LaFollette, and other like-minded in its ranks has nothing on the party which may have Al Smith, Baruch, and other like-minded within its ranks. The one would probably balance the other. An entirely new alignment is quite possible in the next Presidential election. Mr. Roosevelt is not indifferent to the Republican support he had in the last election. With Ickes in the cabinet, Brookhart of Iowa in the Agricultural administration, Blaine on the Federal Reserve Board, and many other Republicans in lesser positions, Mr. Roosevelt is not unmindful of the factors which gave him his tremendous vote in the last election.

Moreover, a sharp wedge has been driven between the conservative and the progressive forces of the country; and if these lines hold during the next three years, Mr. Roosevelt will have the edge. There are more of the common people than there are of the group for which Professor Sprague, Al Smith and Bernard Baruch speak. And in an election it is votes that count, and the President has the advantage of having a spring board. But why speculate, when three years from now every one of us may have changed the point of view we hold today.

A tunnel will be built between the White House and the State Department building in Washington, to permit officials to dodge the rain and embarrassing questioners.

NOTRE DAME STAFF DISCARDED

The news comes out today that practically the entire coaching staff of Notre Dame University is thrown into the discard. Notre Dame, through the remarkable prowess of Knute Rockne, developed a football reputation through victories, that made it a tremendous drawing power for football games. Hence it was a source of big income to the university.

Notre Dame was in no conference. It was a "free-lance" as a football team, played with the "big ones," and for a period, defeated them all, and was the marvel of the great game. But Knute Rockne died, and it seems that those who took his place could not keep up the pace that he had established, and, in the big colleges, if the coach does not produce a winning team today, he just simply "isn't" at the close of the season. The security of many other coaches undoubtedly hangs on the thread of whether they win or lose certain games.

There is the clink of the coin about the whole football proposition, in relation to the colleges, that seems to us rather ominous. The team must win in order for it to be a drawing card. The coaches, therefore, in such institutions, are tempted to use means, that in the interest of the development of the body and health and character of the student, they would not dream of doing. The whole enterprise is getting to be on the low basis of commercialism.

The participating students are thinking of the coach and the coach's attitude rather than even the honor of the university. In fact, in some cases, the idea of "honor" is irony. The institutions that have not been led into this morass,—ones that have as the main objective of the physical directors and coaches the welfare of the student and the real honor of the college—are the ones who are serving the undergraduates to the finest and best degree. We are impressed that whether or no this intensity of interest continues with the public, the public is beginning to lose some respect and regard for these institutions. They do not challenge the thought of high idealism that they used to do.

The colleges and universities can not afford to have the public finally reach the conclusion that they are prostituting departments of their college activities and good individual men who come, or who are brought to them, for income purposes.

AMBASSADOR GOES HOUSE HUNTING IN MOSCOW

Ambassador Bullitt has gone to Moscow to find a house for his embassy, and then will return to get his family. This is a novel adventure. It has been a good many years since such a thing has happened. Usually, there are plenty of vacant palaces to be rented in European capitals. The difficulty grows out of the fact that Russia has changed its capital since the last American ambassador lived there 16 years ago. Under the Czar, Petrograd was the capital. Now Moscow is. Then, too, we are told that Moscow is under-housed. Real estate men in all our great cities wish that might be the situation in this country. We know of a dozen big estates in American cities which might house an embassy, in which the owner can no longer afford to live. It would help matters greatly if Mr. Bullitt could have taken one of them along with him.

Yet this situation in Moscow should not occasion any surprise. In his address before the Russian-American Chamber of Commerce in New York, just before his return to Europe, Commissar Litvinov stated that during the last 15 years, the population of Russia had increased from 135 million to 170 million. Child mortality under the Czar was 270 for every 1000. Today it is not half that. The standard of living has improved so greatly, he said, that more and better housing has been required. To this must be added the fact, that never before in our history has there been a cessation of diplomatic relationship for so long a period between two great nations like the United States and Russia. Turkey changed its capital, but diplomatic relations were never suspended between the United States and Turkey. Inasmuch as Angora, the present capital, was built from the ground up, the United States ambassador had ample time to build his embassy.

Still, we suspect, that Mr. Bullitt will find a few abandoned palaces in Moscow, vacated by some Russian prince or noble or favorite of the Czar killed during the Revolution or now living in other lands. Probably the realtors of Moscow will all be awaiting him when he steps off the train.

Their Claim Clearly Refuted

Napa Daily Register

Proponents of the $170,000,000 Central Valley project to be voted on at the special election in December, are loud in their claime that the great project is not to cost the state of California a single penny.

That statement so repeatedly made, and which no doubt will be iterated and reiterated during the next few weeks, cannot be true.

Watch for your pamphlet, which contains both arguments for and against the water project, and also the text of the Act, and turn to page seven. There at the beginning of Section 16 you will find these unmistakable words in the text of the Act:

"Any state agency, or the State, or any department, board, commission, bureau, division or office thereof, MAY ADVANCE OR CONTRIBUTE MONEY, rights of way, labor, materials and any other property for the construction, operation or maintenance of the said Central Valley Project or any unit thereof."

And if that is not enough read along to Section 18. You will find these plain and unmistakable words:

"And provided further that the aggregate amount of any such bonds hereby authorized shall be further reduced by such an amount as may be appropriated and made available OUT OF THE TREASURY OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA and in aid of the construction of said project or any unit thereof."

If these words don't mean that this great $170,000,000 scheme is to have the backing of the state treasury, regardless of what it may or may not receive from the federal government, we do not know the meaning of the English language.

The wording of the Act itself, regardless of all else, warrants the defeat of the measure, which certain interests, headed by Governor Rolph, seem to be attempting to press down upon the backs of the taxpayers of California.

More Local Mail Since Postal Rate Was Lowered

San Bernardino Sun

Postal receipts have been picking up lately. In 12 cities, a recent survey, showed receipts were 1.69 per cent higher than in the same week of 1932. The improvement is attributed to the local 2-cent postage. A year ago, even local mail cost the sender 3 cents an ounce. It was argued all the while the 3-cent rate was in force that it reduced the volume of mail so greatly as to prevent the desired increase in revenue from the higher rate. The recent gain suggests the argument was sound. There might be further gains if the 2-cent rate were restored on out-of-town letters Improving business may have helped, too, but probably not so much as the 2-cent rate.

An individual postage stamp costs so little that it may seem petty to complain about an increase in its cost. However, even pennies count up fast. It is true of many not-too-logical citizens that they would cheerfully spend a nickel for a packet of gum, but hate to spend 3 cents for a postage stamp which will carry a letter across the continent. Which is why lower rates may be more profitable than higher ones.

An "Impressive" Memorial

The Legionary (Official Magazine of the Canadian Legion)

A few months ago there met in Geneva a great company of disabled veterans of most of the countries that fought in the great war. Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, addressed them, and in the course of his speech told this story:

"There is a little English village—too small to get on the map. When war broke out in '14 this village had just nineteen boys of military age, and every one of them enlisted. Emotions were deep when the war ended, for every lad had been killed in action. The village was so stirred that it wished a very impressive memorial, and finally accepted a German field piece and placed it on their central green. On one side of the carriage is a tribute inscribed to the gallant nineteen who died. On the other side is engraved the name of the British company who first sold this gun to the Germans with which British youth—like the nineteen of the village—were ruthlessly mown down."

JUST A MEMORY

I always liked the movie vamps
Whose eyes were like dull glowing lamps,
Who had the hearts
And all the arts
Of wicked female Neroes,
Whose forms were lithe, whose ways were cold,
Who thought alone of gleaming gold,
And wrecked the lives
Of various wives
Of sundry movie heroes.

Though gals like that were rarely seen
Excepting on the movie screen,
I liked to watch
Them sip their Scotch,
And kid some dumb adorer,
And see them toss the window through
The rubies red and emeralds blue
That some poor lads,
Or else their dads,

No more such sirens carry on,
The film has now
Gone lofty-brow,
At least for the time being,
But I could never get enough
Of dames who did their luring stuff,
And you'll agree,
Perhaps, with me
That they were well worth seeing.

Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape

We was eating breakfist and ma said to pop, What to have for supper, that's the proverbial question. This is Friday, Willyum, shall we have fish? she said.

Well, if we happened to have fish it wouldn't necessarily follow that it was Friday, so just because it's Friday why does it necesserily follow that we must have fish? pop said, and ma said, Well my lards there's no necessity for putting the question on a plane of whys and wherefores. Shall we have fish, that's the only problem? she said.

By all means, pop said, and ma said, Well now we're getting some where. What kind? she said, and pop said, Liver and onions. Being what we ony just had the day before yestidday, and ma said, Now Willyum I'm serious, and pop said, Then in that case will you have liver and onions if I prove to you that it's fish?

I certainly will, hee hee the question is how are you going to prove it? ma said, and pop said, By geometry. The sum of the angles of a rite angle triangle is equal to the square root of its component parts, that much is clear, isn't it? he said.

No, ma said, and pop said, Good, now any peece of liver is a potential rite angle triangle, and any onion is a potential cercle, and the by section of the arc of any cercle equals the elongation of its diameter to the nth degree, children half price, therefore liver and onions is fish.

And you're a goose, I think I'll order haddock for a change, ma said, and pop said. Keep the change, sippose I prove it to you by algebra?

Now Willyum, dont push abserdity to the verge of redickulousniss, ma said, and pop said, Such a thing was never in my mind. I'll prove it by algebra in less than 5 minnits. Let X equal fish and let X plus Y equal liver and one onion and let X plus Y2 equal liver and onions, he sid, and ma said, Let there be peace and quiet and common sents for goodness sakes we'll have liver and onions and be done with it. Wich we did.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

BE CALM ABOUT INFLATION!

Readers of these articles know by now that I am profoundly skeptical of that school of presidential advisors who think our whole economic muddle can be clarified and brought under control by monetary manipulation. I am convinced that the trouble lies deeper, and that the money economists are over-simplifying the problem.

Honesty compels me to state, however, that the critics of the Roosevelt monetary policy or, more accurately, the Roosevelt threat of monetary policy are indulging in a great deal of hokum.

Here and there and yonder the presidential critics are attempting to scare the country with the fear that any manipulation of the dollar by deliberate governmental action will land us in the monetary insanity and economic ruin that followed a prodigal resort to the printing press in Russia, in Austria and in Germany. This is pure bogey making. Even if inflation is not imperative for us, there is no reason to assume that the government cannot inflate without following the downward path these other nations took when they inflated. The situation with us is radically different.

These other governments that fell into monetary chaos as a result of their ventures in inflation resorted to inflation as a last desperate means of warding off their own expulsion from power and a complete economic collapse. Serious as our difficulties are, we are in no such plight.

They were bent double under the burden of indebtedness to other countries. We have no such debts.

They had exhausted fully the possibility of taxation. Staggering as our tax burden is, we are not yet in that extremity.

They had next to no gold reserves. We are in an extremely favorable situation respecting gold reserves.

They did not proceed under any well thought out plan of reflation. I am not sure that we yet have any such plan except in terms of our objective, but it is possible to evolve such a plan and to stick to it.

I am not making an argument for inflation. I am saying only that it is a disservice to the national morale to go about beating the tom-tom of fear that even the slightest venture in inflation must mean ruin.

Never has it been so important that we keep our heads and shut our ears to the alarmists.

MINE AND THINE

"I brought you a new baseball bat, Fuzzy."

"O, thanks, Aunt Margaret, thanks a lot. I just wanted that."

"Hope it's the right size?"

"Just right. See, I can swing it easy. I'll knock them a block with that," and away he ran to try it out. In a short time he came back. There was something uncertain in his bearing now, and he came straight up to his aunt where she sat sewing on the porch.

"I found a new ball, Aunt Margaret."

"You did? M-mm. A new ball. Hardly been used. Whose do you suppose it is?"

"I don't know, for sure, but I found it on the street by Harold's gate. It was lying outside the gate, Aunt Margaret."

"Dear me. Then it must be Harold's, don't you think?"

"No. I don't think so. I found it on the street."

"Yes, I know, but some little boy must own it, and it was right by Harold's gate, wasn't it? Don't you imagine that he threw it on the lawn and it rolled outside? Did you stop in and ask him?"

"No. I was certain it wasn't his."

"I'll tell you what we'll do. I was going downtown this afternoon to get you a new ball, but I'll go right now if you can come. On our way by we'll stop in and ask him, and he'll be glad. Then we'll get one in Sam's store. How's that?"

"All right, if you think so. I wouldn't like to take Harold's ball if it was his. But I found it."

"But even if you found it, doesn't it belong to somebody else?"

"I guess so. Yes, I guess so."

So the ball went back to its owner and the new ball that was bought at Sam's was marked with Fuzzy's name. "I'll tell Harold to put his name on his ball so if I find it again I'll know it's his."

"Good idea. Wouldn't it be good to put your own private mark on all your things? Your bat and ball and glove, your sweater, your books, whatever is yours, so you'll always know which is yours and which isn't? It's so embarrassing if you make a mistake. We could make a lion for your sign. I like lions with curly pointed tails. They make fine coats of arms. They mean courage and truth and strength, all that sort of thing. I'll make a pattern lion and we'll see that he is on every single thing you own. How's that?"

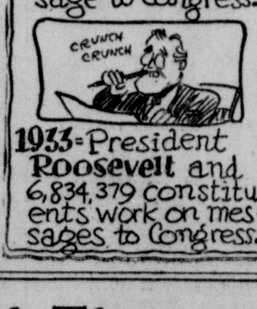

"When'll you do it? Today?"

When one is only seven the mine and thine idea is likely to become confused. Wants are so strong and inhibitions so weak. A lion on guard is a timely help, and a noble thought. They work better than a long lecture, too.

The whole enterprise is getting to be on the low basis of commercialism.

The participating students are thinking of the coach and the coach's attitude rather than even the honor of the university. In fact, in some cases, the idea of "honor" is irony. The institutions that have not been led into this morass,—ones that have as the main objective of the physical directors and coaches the welfare of the student and the real honor of the college—are the ones who are serving the undergraduates to the finest and best degree. We are impressed that whether or no this intensity of interest continues with the public, the public is beginning to lose some respect and regard for these institutions. They do not challenge the thought of high idealism that they used to do.

The colleges and universities can not afford to have the public finally reach the conclusion that they are prostituting departments of their college activities and good individual men who come, or who are brought to them, for income purposes.

AMBASSADOR GOES HOUSE HUNTING IN MOSCOW

Ambassador Bullitt has gone to Moscow to find a house for his embassy, and then will return to get his family. This is a novel adventure. It has been a good many years since such a thing has happened. Usually, there are plenty of vacant palaces to be rented in European capitals. The difficulty grows out of the fact that Russia has changed its capital since the last American ambassador lived there 16 years ago. Under the Czar, Petrograd was the capital. Now Moscow is. Then, too, we are told that Moscow is under-housed. Real estate men in all our great cities wish that might be the situation in this country. We know of a dozen big estates in American cities which might house an embassy, in which the owner can no longer afford to live. It would help matters greatly if Mr. Bullitt could have taken one of them along with him.

Yet this situation in Moscow should not occasion any surprise. In his address before the Russian-American Chamber of Commerce in New York, just before his return to Europe, Commissar Litvinov stated that during the last 15 years, the population of Russia had increased from 135 million to 170 million. Child mortality under the Czar was 270 for every 1000. Today it is not half that. The standard of living has improved so greatly, he said, that more and better housing has been required. To this must be added the fact, that never before in our history has there been a cessation of diplomatic relationship for so long a period between two great nations like the United States and Russia. Turkey changed its capital, but diplomatic relations were never suspended between the United States and Turkey. Inasmuch as Angora, the present capital, was built from the ground up, the United States ambassador had ample time to build his embassy.

Still, we suspect, that Mr. Bullitt will find a few abandoned palaces in Moscow, vacated by some Russian prince or noble or favorite of the Czar killed during the Revolution or now living in other lands. Probably the realtors of Moscow will all be awaiting him when he steps off the train.

Their Claim Clearly Refuted

Napa Daily Register

Proponents of the $170,000,000 Central Valley project to be voted on at the special election in December, are loud in their claims that the great project is not to cost the state of California a single penny.

That statement so repeatedly made, and which no doubt will be iterated and reiterated during the next few weeks, cannot be true.

It is directly and completely and emphatically refuted by the text of the Act itself—copies of which are now being mailed out to the voters.

Watch for your pamphlet, which contains both arguments for and against the water project, and also the text of the Act, and turn to page seven. There at the beginning of Section 16 you will find these unmistakable words in the text of the Act:

"Any state agency, or the State, or any department, board, commission, bureau, division or office thereof, MAY ADVANCE OR CONTRIBUTE MONEY, rights of way, labor, materials and any other property for the construction, operation or maintenance of the said Central Valley Project or any unit thereof."

And if that is not enough read along to Section 18. You will find these plain and unmistakable words:

"And provided further that the aggregate amount of any such bonds hereby authorized shall be further reduced by such an amount as may be appropriated and made available OUT OF THE TREASURY OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA and in aid of the construction of said project or any unit thereof."

If these words don't mean that this great $170,000,000 scheme is to have the backing of the state treasury, regardless of what it may or may not receive from the federal government, we do not know the meaning of the English language.

The wording of the Act itself, regardless of all else, warrants the defeat of the measure, which certain interests, headed by Governor Rolph, seem to be attempting to press down upon the backs of the taxpayers of California.

More Local Mail Since Postal Rate Was Lowered

San Bernardino Sun

Postal receipts have been picking up lately. In 12 cities, a recent survey, showed receipts were 1.69 per cent higher than in the same week of 1932. The improvement is attributed to the local 2-cent postage. A year ago, even local mail cost the sender 3 cents an ounce. It was argued all the while the 3-cent rate was in force that it reduced the volume of mail so greatly as to prevent the desired increase in revenue from the higher rate. The recent gain suggests the argument was sound. There might be further gains if the 2-cent rate were restored on out-of-town letters. Improving business may have helped, too, but probably not so much as the 2-cent rate.

An individual postage stamp costs so little that it may seem petty to complain about an increase in its cost. However, even pennies count up fast. It is true of many not-too-logical citizens that they would cheerfully spend a nickel for a packet of gum, but hate to spend 3 cents for a postage stamp which will carry a letter across the continent. Which is why lower rates may be more profitable than higher ones.

An "Impressive" Memorial

A few months ago there met in Geneva a great company of disabled veterans of most of the countries that fought in the great war. Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, addressed them, and in the course of his speech told this story:

"There is a little English village—too small to get on the map. When war broke out in '14 this village had just nineteen boys of military age, and every one of them enlisted. Emotions were deep when the war ended, for every lad had been killed in action. The village was so stirred that it wished a very impressive memorial, and finally accepted a German field piece and placed it on their central green. On one side of the carriage is a tribute inscribed to the gallant nineteen who died. On the other side is engraved the name of the British company who first sold this gun to the Germans with which British youth—like the nineteen of the village—were ruthlessly mown down."

JUST A MEMORY

I always liked the movie vamps
Whose eyes were like dull glowing lamps,
Who had the hearts
And all the arts
Of wicked female Neroes,
Whose forms were lithe, whose ways were cold,
Who thought alone of gleaming gold,
And wrecked the lives
Of various wives
Of sundry movie heroes.

Though gals like that were rarely seen
Excepting on the movie screen,
I liked to watch
Them sip their Scotch,
And kid some dumb adorer,
And see them toss the window through
The rubies red and emeralds blue
That some poor lads,
Or else their dads,
Had gladly purchased for them.

The days of vamps, alas, are gone,
No more such sirens carry on,
The film has now
Gone lofty-brow,
At least for the time being,
But I could never get enough
Of dames who did their luring stuff,
And you'll agree,
Perhaps, with me
That they were well worth seeing.

Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape

We was eating breakfist and ma said to pop, What to have for supper, that's the proverbial question. This is Friday, Willyum, shall we have fish? she said.

Well, if we happened to have fish it wouldn't necessarily follow that it was Friday, so just because it's Friday why does it necesserily follow that we must have fish? pop said, and ma said, Well my lards there's no necessity for putting the question on a plane of whys and wherefores. Shall we have fish, that's the only problem? she said.

By all means, pop said, and ma said, Well now we're getting some where. What kind? she said, and pop said, Liver and onions. Being what we ony just had the day before yestidday, and ma said, Now Willyum I'm serious, and pop said, Then in that case will you have liver and onions if I prove to you that it's fish?

I certainly will, hee hee the question is how are you going to prove it? ma said, and pop said, By geometry. The sum of the angles of a rite angle triangle is equal to the square root of its component parts, that much is clear, isn't it? he said.

No, ma said, and pop said, Good, now any peece of liver is a potential rite angle triangle, and any onion is a potential cercle, and the by section of the arc of any cercle equals the elongation of its diameter to the nth degree, children half price, therefore liver and onions is fish.

And you're a goose, I think I'll order haddock for a change, ma said, and pop said. Keep the change, sippose I prove it to you by algebra?

Now Willyum, dont push abserdity to the verge of redickulousniss, ma said, and pop said. Such a thing was never in my mind. I'll prove it by algebra in less than 5 minnits. Let X equal fish and let X plus Y equal liver and one onion and let X plus Y2 equal liver and onions, he sid, and ma said, Let there be peace and quiet and common sents for goodness sakes we'll have liver and onions and be done with it. Wich we did.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

BE CALM ABOUT INFLATION!

Readers of these articles know by now that I am profoundly skeptical of that school of presidential advisors who think our whole economic muddle can be clarified and brought under control by monetary manipulation. I am convinced that the trouble lies deeper, and that the money economists are over-simplifying the problem.

Honesty compels me to state, however, that the critics of the Roosevelt monetary policy or, more accurately, the Roosevelt threat of monetary policy are indulging in a great deal of hokum.

Here and there and yonder the presidential critics are attempting to scare the country with the fear that any manipulation of the dollar by deliberate governmental action will land us in the monetary insanity and economic ruin that followed a prodigal resort to the printing press in Russia, in Austria and in Germany. This is pure bogey making. Even if inflation is not imperative for us, there is no reason to assume that the government cannot inflate without following the downward path these other nations took when they inflated. The situation with us is radically different.

These other governments that fell into monetary chaos as a result of their ventures in inflation resorted to inflation as a last desperate means of warding off their own expulsion from power and a complete economic collapse. Serious as our difficulties are, we are in no such plight.

They were bent double under the burden of indebtedness to other countries. We have no such debts.

They had exhausted fully the possibility of taxation. Staggering as our tax burden is, we are not yet in that extremity.

They had next to no gold reserves. We are in an extremely favorable situation respecting gold reserves.

They did not proceed under any well thought out plan of reflation. I am not sure that we yet have any such plan except in terms of our objective, but it is possible to evolve such a plan and to stick to it.

I am not making an argument for inflation. I am saying only that it is a disservice to the national morale to go about beating the tom-tom of fear that even the slightest venture in inflation must mean ruin.

Never has it been so important that we keep our heads and shut our ears to the alarmists.

Our Children

MINE AND THINE

"I brought you a new baseball bat, Fuzzy."

"O, thanks, Aunt Margaret, thanks a lot. I just wanted that."

"Just right. See, I can swing it easy. I'll knock them a block with that," and away he ran to try it out. In a short time he came back. There was something uncertain in his bearing now, and he came straight up to his aunt where she sat sewing on the porch.

"I found a new ball, Aunt Margaret."

"You did? M-mm. A new ball. Hardly been used. Whose do you suppose it is?"

"I don't know, for sure, but I found it on the street by Harold's gate. It was lying outside the gate, Aunt Margaret."

"Dear me. Then it must be Harold's, don't you think?"

"No. I don't think so. I found it on the street."

"Yes, I know, but some little boy must own it, and it was right by Harold's gate, wasn't it? Don't you imagine that he threw it on the lawn and it rolled outside? Did you stop in and ask him?"

"No. I was certain it wasn't his."

"I'll tell you what we'll do. I was going downtown this afternoon to get you a new ball, but I'll go right now if you can come. On our way by we'll stop in and ask him, and he'll be glad. Then we'll get one in Sam's store. How's that?"

"All right, if you think so. I wouldn't like to take Harold's ball if it was his. But I found it."

"But even if you found it, doesn't it belong to somebody else?"

"I guess so. Yes, I guess so."

So the ball went back to its owner and the new ball that was bought at Sam's was marked with Fuzzy's name. "I'll tell Harold to put his name on his ball so if I find it again I'll know it's his."

"Good idea. Wouldn't it be good to put your own private mark on all your things? Your bat and ball and glove, your sweater, your books, whatever is yours, so you'll always know which is yours and which isn't? It's so embarrassing if you make a mistake. We could make a lion for your sign. I like lions with curly pointed tails. They make fine coats of arms. They mean courage and truth and strength, all that sort of thing. I'll make a pattern lion and we'll see that he is on every single thing you own. How's that?"

"When'll you do it? Today?"

When one is only seven the mine and thine idea is likely to become confused. Wants are so strong and inhibitions so weak. A lion on guard is a timely help, and a noble thought. They work better than a long lecture, too.
